Paris Doubts Death for Challe, Revolt Boss

Will Castroites Face U. S. Arms in End?

Force Is One Plan In Crisis

No Firm Decision Yet by President

What are the chances of the United States using military force against Fidel Castro's Cuban regime? John M. Hightower, veteran AP diplomatic affairs specialist, reports in the following dispatch that the employment of force as a last resort reportedly is one of several plans being considered for dealing with the Cuban crisis.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration is reported to be considering possible use of military force against the Castro regime in Cuba if other means eventually fail to put an end to the island's pro-Communist rule.

Employment of force as a last resort is said to be one of several plans under study here for dealing with the Cuban crisis. Others include the application of political and economic sanctions against Cuba through joint action with Latin American allies.

Others Might Step In

Some officials believe that as the situation develops following the unsuccessful rebel invasion last week, other American governments might ultimately be be willing to participate even in military operations against Castro. The United States is trying to convince them through diplomatic consultation that Cuba as a Communist base is a threat to the entire Western Hemisphere.

None of the possible lines of anti-Castro actions under consideration by President Kennedy are near firm decision.

They include:

Some of Considerations

Naval blockade—In Kennedy's view this would be an act of war and probably not a very effective move since a blockade is aimed at strangling a nation slowly.

Economic embargo—A partial embargo already is in effect. The greatest single diplomatic disadvantage of a total embargo is that it would subject the United States to propaganda charges of starving the Cuban people. Cubans still can buy foodstuffs and medicines from the United States.

Another anti-Castro operation by Cuban refugees—some authorities think such an action might still be the way out for the United States if the operation could be properly organized and supported on a large scale.

Kennedy reportedly is pleased with the success he has thus far achieved in rallying bipartisan political support for a tough and

State Damage Is Minor

Doubt Serious Flooding Despite High Streams

The prolonged rains of the past few days has caused local streams to become swollen but there appears no immediate alarm of serious flooding.

The Ashokan reservoir is full and approximately 13 inches of water was running over the spillway, presenting a sight which was viewed by many from both the South Ashokan Boulevard and the roadway below the Esopus gorge. The Shandaken tunnel has been closed for several days.

Esopus 3 Above Normal

Esopus creek was reported as running about three feet above normal for this time of the year at the New York City gauge station at Cold Brook. The height registered at Cold Brook was approximately 8½ feet today, normal for this time of year being about five feet.

Wallkill river, which rises in New Jersey and has an extremely large water-shed, was reported high and over its banks at points but the condition was not considered serious. It was reported the Wallkill and Rondout creeks had not reached flood stages today and while constant check was being kept on the streams, it was reported no serious difficulty was anticipated unless much heavier rains fell.

Rain-swollen streams across New York State receded today, and flood-stricken low-landers began mopping up, grateful that the damage was relatively minor.

Meanwhile, wind gusts up to 50 miles an hour this morning tore down tree limbs and power lines in the Syracuse area and smashed front and side windows of a business building in downtown Syracuse. The Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. reported 500 customers in East Syracuse lost service.

Virginia Man Is Held for Attack On Mrs. Schraut

Police investigation of the reported April 18 assault upon an Ashokan woman near the former O & W Railroad station off Fair Street Extension resulted in an arrest Tuesday.

Charles Linwod Trainum, 39, of 2707 Carlisle Avenue, Richmond, Va., was picked up on Wurts Street yesterday afternoon by Detective Charles McCullough and Officer Wilmont Hall and booked on charges of attempted robbery and assault. He waived examination in night court and was held for grand jury action.

Police were notified in the late afternoon of April 18 that Mrs. Johana Shraut, 46, was struck and knocked down to the ground as she was about to get into her car which had been parked in an area near the railroad station. She also said the man had attempted to hit her with a railroad tie spike, but it fell from his hand and he ran along the railroad tracks in the vicinity of the Kingston Lumber Co., property.

Mrs. Schraut, an employe of the F. W. Woolworth store, Wall Street, was on her way home at the time. She told police the man was dressed in gray and wore a shirt with a brown collar. Police said he had been seen in various areas of the city before yesterday's arrest.

Budget Is Voted 6-1, Police Out

Saugerties Tax Rate Is $17.36

The issue of police raises arose again Tuesday night as the Saugerties Village Board voted six to one in favor of a budget of $236,085, with Cornelius M. Cox, former village police commissioner, casting a negative ballot.

Cox has been in the forefront of a drive seeking raises for officers of the Saugerties Police Department.

The budget was adopted without increasing the pay of policemen.

The village must raise $175,554 in direct taxes. The tax rate will be $17.364 per thousand dollars of assessed valuation.

Reason for Higher Rate

The budget is lower than last year's $239,260 but reflects a higher tax rate duue to lower anticipated revenues. The rate for the past three years was $15.904.

Members of the police force received raises of $500 each when Mayor George P. Holmes took office six years ago. They also received a $50 increase two years ago when other village employes were not increased accordingly, Mayor Holmes has pointed out.

Voting in favor of the budget last night were Mayor Holmes; Elton L. Johnson, commissioner of fire department and fire department buildings; Frank Short, commissioner of sewers and sewage plant; Sheldon Longendyke, commissioner of the street department; Jesse N. Van Gaasbeek, commissioner of parks and playgrounds; George J. Terpening Jr., commissioner of police department. Cox is commissioner of municipal buildings and finance.

Mayor Holmes said today that the majority of village employes received a $200 increase in the current budget.

List of Police Salaries

Cox appealed to village residents earlier this month to support raises for police, calling attention to what he described as their "plight." He said the police need an increase in salary "the same as the next village employe."

Current police department salaries are as follows:

The chief, who has served for over 40 years, receives $4,550 and the two sergeants, each with over 30 years of service on the force, receive $4,200. All three receive time off for work over 40 hours.

Three Receive $4,000

Three patrolmen receive $4,000 annually for a 40-hour week and straight time for overtime. One patrolman, approaching his fifth year gets $3,900 with a $100 increment due this year. He also receives straight time for overtime over 40 hours.

The village also pays half of the retirement premiums for the police. This is a fringe benefit other village employes do not receive.

In Ellenville, a village with a population of 5,004, compared with Saugerties' 4,273, the recently retired police chief who served less than 20 years received $6,100. The acting chief, who was a sergeant in the department now receives $5,600; two other sergeants receive $5,400 and $5,300. Three patrolmen get $4,400; two others receive $4,250 and $4,050; two others, $3,650 and three others are at the starting figure of $3,450.

Operation-Survival Slated Here for Two Days by Jaycees

Kingston will be treated to a land and air demonstration over the week-end when the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsors Operation-Survival.

Arriving in Kingston at the Thruway entrance at approximately 11:30 a. m. Thursday from Orangeburg, the Nike-Ajax missile, accompanied by an officers and crew of three missilemen will be displayed at Hurcules Powder Co. plant, Port Ewen until 1:15 p. m. Then it will be taken to the Pantry Market below Port Ewen to be displayed until 9:30 p. m. Thursday.

Thursday the missile will be parked in front of the court house on Wall Street.

At 10:30 a. m Friday the display will move to the IBM plant where it will remain until 1 p. m. At 1:30 o'clock the missile will arrive at the Montgomery Ward parking lot off Fair Street Extension to remain until 9:30 p. m.

The big display will be at the parking lot in the rear of Kingston High School on Saturday. Beginning at 11:30 Operation Survival will give local people a chance to view the missile and to inspect other phases of the operation.

Abrupt End Of Mutiny Surprising

Others May Be At Legion Camp

ALGIERS (AP) — Forces loyal to President Charles de Gaulle crushed the four-day army revolt today with hardly a shot. The man who led the insurrection, Gen. Maurice Challe, surrendered to face trial and possibly a death sentence.

Three other retired generals who joined in leading the mutiny —Raoul Salan, Edmond Jouhad and Andre Zeller—were not accounted for. One unconfirmed report put them at a Foreign Legion camp at Zarelda, 25 miles from Algiers.

Others Face Same

The French Ministry of Information said Challe landed at a field near Paris. He will be brought to trial on charges of organizing an insurrection and usurping power. Similar charges have been placed against the three other generals and three colonels.

The government has not disclosed whether Challe will be tried as a soldier or as a civilian. On that issue could depend whether he faces a firing squad or the guillotine—although the possibility of a death sentence was largely discounted in Paris.

The uprising ended with the bewildering abruptness with which it began Saturday.

Thousands of Europeans gathered in the center of Algiers as rumors swept the city that loyal soldiers were preparing an attack.

But the mutinous generals could give little encouragment to the French settlers, who had hoped De Gaulle's plan of self-determination for Algeria was doomed by the insurrection.

Try to Speak, Leave

The generals attempted to speak to the crowd but found the microphones were dead. They then boarded trucks guarded by paratroopers and fled the city.

Gendarmes and loyal soldiers took control of the city and threw up roadblocks.

Sporadic shooting broke out but after daylight life in Algiers steadily returned to normal. Stores and shops opened and buses were on schedule.

In Paris, Information Minister Louis Terrenoire said a plane from Algeria had landed at British Gibraltar with certain "accomplices" of Challe but he did not know their names.

Already stripped of his rank and dismissed from the service on order of De Gaulle, Challe was to be confined in Sante Prison in Paris as a common criminal and not in a military prison.

Challe and the three other generals of his rebel junta fled from Algiers Tuesday night after the

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN

Former District Attorney to Head County CP Drive

Howard C. St. John, prominent Kingston attorney and former Ulster County district attorney, has been named county chairman for Cerebral Palsy's 1961 fund raising campaign, it was announced today by Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden Jr., president of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc.

"I can think of no other nonprofit health agency that performs such outstanding and essential services for the children of our area," Mr. St. John declared in accepting leadership of the county drive.

All Invited to Center

He invited Ulster County residents to visit the CP Treatment Center at 400 Broadway, Kingston, to see how a "dedicated" staff of therapists strives day-by-day to restore "birth rights" to 160 children afflicted with physical, speech, and hearing defects.

"By birth rights," he explained, "I mean the right to walk; the right to talk and communicate a simple want; the right to hear and be comforted by the love in a mother's voice."

St. John urged all who enjoy these "God given privileges" to work along with him in the upcoming CP campaign so that the Treatment Center will be able to continue its crucial rehabilitation programs for the physically handicapped children of the county.

Won Service Award

In assuming responsibility for the county CP campaign, St. John continues an outstanding record of community service which earned him the 1955 "Distinguish Service Award" bestowed by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he holds a BA degree from Hamilton College, and a LLB degree from Albany Law School, Union University. At Albany Law School, he became a member of the Justinian Society,

Says IUE Discredits Community

Union Critical of GE Management Operation

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric Co., toed the firing line today in a formal stockholders' review of the firm's much-debated anti-trust convictions.

Taking aim at the 61-year-old chief executive at the 69th annual meeting of GE shareowners was an arch-foe, unionist James B. Carey, and a scattering of other critics in the big GE family.

Carey, president of the International Union of Electric Workers, was among more than 2,000 of the company's 450,000 stockholders gathered for the session.

The IUE pension fund holds 25 of GE's outstanding common shares, which total 88 million.

The unioin planned to throw placard-carrying pickets around the War Memorial, site of the meeting, in support of demands for management reforms he said were needed to cure price-fixing ills.

Even before Cordiner rapped his gavel, Carey admitted probable overwhelming defeat for his four proposals.

Spotlight on Transgressors

Meanwhile, in Washington, a Senate subcommittee played its investigative spotlight on transgressions of former GE officials forced out of the company for their roles in the heavy electrical equipment conspiracy.

In remarks prepared for the annual meeting, Cordiner acknowledged "shock, and dismay" at events that culminated two months ago in fines of nearly $2 million against GE and 28 other electrical goods makers.

Besides the corporate penalties, U.S. District Judge J. Cullen Ganey assessed fines against 45 officials of the companies and sentenced seven — including three from GE—to 30 days apiece in jail.

Assumes Responsibility

Cordiner, as chief executive officer, said he assumed "ultimate responsibility" for the wrongdoing in GE, summarized internal disciplinary actions and detailed steps taken to head off any recurrences.

Without mentioning him by name, Cordiner assailed Carey for what he said was a destruc-

State's Fair Help Is To Be $50.7 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's contribution to the 1964-65 World's Fair will total $50.7 million, including highway-construction, and a state theater, Gov. Rockefeller says.

Rockefeller, in a statement issued Tuesday by his office, said the state will spend $35.6 million to build express highways needed to handle expected heavy traffic to and from the fair.

The federal government will contribute $58.6 million toward the road-building, for a total highway program of $94.2 million in the Flushing Meadow fair site area.

The state also will buy a $15 million dance and operetta theater in the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in Manhattan for use during the fair and turn the building over to New York City when the fair closes.

Another state expenditure, the Republican governor said, was $100,000 for a commission to plan state participation in the exposition, which is being run by a nonprofit corporation.

Rockefeller turned down, however, free advertising of the fair on New York motor vehicle license plates.

He vetoed a bill to require the 1964 and 65 plates bear the inscription "New York World's Fair 1964-65."

Rockefeller said the legend would take up so much room that the identification letters and numbers on the plates would have to be smaller.

Rockefeller approved bills involving the fair that:

Permit New York City to lease land at the fair site to the World's Fair Corp. and also provide for health, sanitation and building regulations.

Sanction the sale of liquor and beer on the fair grounds.

Make admission fees to the fair tax free.

Ban unauthorized use of the name, emblem or other designating marks of the fair.

Fire Board Behind Greer In Bid for School Post

Candidacy of Fireman Hugh C. Greer, 36, of 22 Staples Street for a post on the local education board was unanimously endorsed by the fire board Tuesday night and it was emphasized that if he is elected he will be permitted to attend all of the board's meetings.

The board, in a statement released today, expressed its pleasure "at this latest instance of the department members participating in and assuming the civic responsibilities that devolve upon all conscientious citizens of the community."

The statement was issued, the board noted, "to clarify questions asked of candidate Greer at recent public informational meetings" as to whether he would be able to give sufficient time to his duties as a member of the education board.

Fireman Greer, who has been a member of the department since September, 1955, has been active in P-TA affairs and is corresponding secretary of the Kingston Consolidated P-TA Council. He is active with the School No. 2 P-TA group and had served as its vice-president. He is a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War and has served as president of the Uniformed Firefighters Association, Local 461, AFL-CIO.

Greer said today he is "grateful for the confidence expressed in me by the fire board. I deeply appreciate their backing."

The fire board statement released today was signed by Edward Finch, board president, and commissioners Tibor Tomshaw and John Worf.

The board awarded a contract to The Gramwell Co., Newton Upper Falls, Mass., to complete modernization of the fire alarm system and another to Saeger-Spuck, of Albany, for standby generator equipment. The alarm system project is to cost some $16,000. The Common Council recently authorized a bond issue covering most of it.

JFK Will Spend Some Weekends at Home on Cape Cod

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to spend his vacation and some weekends at his summer home here on the edge of Nantucket Sound.

He hasn't announced specific plans yet, but some changes are being made in anticipation of his visits.

For one thing a new six-foot fence is being erected around the entire Kennedy property. It runs all the way around the property to his private road entrance.

Remodeled Bank to Be Open To Public Saturday 10 to 5

The new and enlarged Kingston Savings Bank building, 273 Wall Street, will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., with a diversified program planned, it was announced today by Lloyd R. LeFever, president.

Opening day ceremonies of the 87-year-old uptown banking institution will include gifts for adults and children visiting the refurbished structure, and a special cartoon movie program presented periodically throughout the day for the youngsters.

Every visitor to the bank, parent and child alike, will receive a free souvenir gift.

Parents during their inspection tour of the new bank, handsomely appointed and the ultimate in bank architecture, are invited to bring the youngsters, for whom free movies will be provided.

Under reconstruction since June, 1960, the "new" bank will provide an area of some 5,103 square feet, compared to 3,651 in the former facility.

Cornerstone-laying ceremonies for the new addition were held Dec. 5, 1960, marking another "progressive step" in the history of the uptown bank, which has been remodeled and enlarged several times.

W. Va. Area Becomes Test for Food Stamps

WELCH, W.Va. (AP) — McDowell County, a rough and rugged section of southernmost West Virginia which has become the symbolic depressed area, today becomes the first guinea pig in President Kennedy's emergency food stamp program.

Penny-pinched adults march past Gov. W. W. Barron to sign their names and tell what they're earning — if anything. Then government agencies will decide how much free food each family head receives.

It's part of an experimental program Kennedy launched to try to give needy persons a better balanced diet.

Here's the way it works:

Those taking part in the program will be required to buy stamps in the amount they normally spend on food. Then they get additional stamps free.

Someone in the plan who makes a fair living will get only a few free stamps. Someone earning a pittance gets more stamps.

Someone without any income gets enough stamps free to permit him to feed his family a nutritional diet.

The federal government will buy back the stamps from the grocer.

The food stamp experiment also will be tried in seven other hard-pressed communities — Franklin County, Ill.; Floyd County, Ky.; Detroit, Mich.; the Virginia-Hibbing-Nashwauk communities in northern Minnesota; Silver Bow County, Mont.; San Miguel County, N.M., and Fayette County, Pa.

The actual distribution of food stamps gets under way in June.

The eight-county trial, affecting 300,000 to 350,000 persons, is calculated to cost the government $50 million the first year. If it proves successful and is put to use in most states, it probably will add $400 million to the annual costs.

Already stripped of his rank and dismissed from the service on order of De Gaulle, Challe was to be confined in Sante Prison in Paris as a common criminal and not in a military prison.

Challe and the three other generals of his rebel junta fled from Algiers Tuesday night after the

HOWARD C. ST. JOHN

Former District Attorney to Head County CP Drive

Howard C. St. John, prominent Kingston attorney and former Ulster County district attorney, has been named county chairman for Cerebral Palsy's 1961 fund raising campaign, it was announced today by Dr. Elbert F. MacFadden Jr., president of United Cerebral Palsy of Ulster County, Inc.

"I can think of no other nonprofit health agency that performs such outstanding and essential services for the children of our area," Mr. St. John declared in accepting leadership of the county drive.

All Invited to Center

He invited Ulster County residents to visit the CP Treatment Center at 400 Broadway, Kingston, to see how a "dedicated" staff of therapists strives day-by-day to restore "birth rights" to 160 children afflicted with physical, speech, and hearing defects.

"By birth rights," he explained, "I mean the right to walk; the right to talk and communicate a simple want; the right to hear and be comforted by the love in a mother's voice."

St. John urged all who enjoy these "God given privileges" to work along with him in the upcoming CP campaign so that the Treatment Center will be able to continue its crucial rehabilitation programs for the physically handicapped children of the county.

Won Service Award

In assuming responsibility for the county CP campaign, St. John continues an outstanding record of community service which earned him the 1955 "Distinguish Service Award" bestowed by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he holds a BA degree from Hamilton College, and a LLB degree from Albany Law School, Union University. At Albany Law School, he became a member of the Justinian Society,

Says IUE Discredits Community

Union Critical of GE Management Operation

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of General Electric Co., toed the firing line today in a formal stockholders' review of the firm's much-debated anti-trust convictions.

Taking aim at the 61-year-old chief executive at the 69th annual meeting of GE shareowners was an arch-foe, unionist James B. Carey, and a scattering of other critics in the big GE family.

Carey, president of the International Union of Electric Workers, was among more than 2,000 of the company's 450,000 stockholders gathered for the session.

The IUE pension fund holds 25 of GE's outstanding common shares, which total 88 million.

The unioin planned to throw placard-carrying pickets around the War Memorial, site of the meeting, in support of demands for management reforms he said were needed to cure price-fixing ills.

Even before Cordiner rapped his gavel, Carey admitted probable overwhelming defeat for his four proposals.

Spotlight on Transgressors

Meanwhile, in Washington, a Senate subcommittee played its investigative spotlight on transgressions of former GE officials forced out of the company for their roles in the heavy electrical equipment conspiracy.

In remarks prepared for the annual meeting, Cordiner acknowledged "shock, and dismay" at events that culminated two months ago in fines of nearly $2 million against GE and 28 other electrical goods makers.

Besides the corporate penalties, U.S. District Judge J. Cullen Ganey assessed fines against 45 officials of the companies and sentenced seven — including three from GE—to 30 days apiece in jail.

Assumes Responsibility

Cordiner, as chief executive officer, said he assumed "ultimate responsibility" for the wrongdoing in GE, summarized internal disciplinary actions and detailed steps taken to head off any recurrences.

Without mentioning him by name, Cordiner assailed Carey for what he said was a destruc-

IBM to Continue Option on Stock, Rocky for Plan

YORKTOWN HEIGHTS, N. Y. (AP)—International Business Machines Corp. stockholders have voted to continue an executive stock option plan against the urgings of Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and with the blessings of Gov. Rockefeller.

Rockefeller, chief speaker at the dedication of a new IBM research center here in conjunction with the annual meeting Tuesday, told the stockholders that a "certain southern senator. . .is in-

State's Fair Help Is To Be $50.7 Million

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York State's contribution to the 1964-65 World's Fair will total $50.7 million, including highway-construction, and a state theater, Gov. Rockefeller says.

Rockefeller, in a statement issued Tuesday by his office, said the state will spend $35.6 million to build express highways needed to handle expected heavy traffic to and from the fair.

The federal government will contribute $58.6 million toward the road-building, for a total highway program of $94.2 million in the Flushing Meadow fair site area.

The state also will buy a $15 million dance and operetta theater in the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts in Manhattan for use during the fair and turn the building over to New York City when the fair closes.

Another state expenditure, the Republican governor said, was $100,000 for a commission to plan state participation in the exposition, which is being run by a nonprofit corporation.

Rockefeller turned down, however, free advertising of the fair on New York motor vehicle license plates.

He vetoed a bill to require the 1964 and 65 plates bear the inscription "New York World's Fair 1964-65."

Rockefeller said the legend would take up so much room that the identification letters and numbers on the plates would have to be smaller.

Rockefeller approved bills involving the fair that:

Permit New York City to lease land at the fair site to the World's Fair Corp. and also provide for health, sanitation and building regulations.

Sanction the sale of liquor and beer on the fair grounds.

Make admission fees to the fair tax free.

Ban unauthorized use of the name, emblem or other designating marks of the fair.

Fire Board Behind Greer In Bid for School Post

Candidacy of Fireman Hugh C. Greer, 36, of 22 Staples Street for a post on the local education board was unanimously endorsed by the fire board Tuesday night and it was emphasized that if he is elected he will be permitted to attend all of the board's meetings.

The board, in a statement released today, expressed its pleasure "at this latest instance of the department members participating in and assuming the civic responsibilities that devolve upon all conscientious citizens of the community."

The statement was issued, the board noted, "to clarify questions asked of candidate Greer at recent public informational meetings" as to whether he would be able to give sufficient time to his duties as a member of the education board.

Fireman Greer, who has been a member of the department since September, 1955, has been active in P-TA affairs and is corresponding secretary of the Kingston Consolidated P-TA Council. He is active with the School No. 2 P-TA group and had served as its vice-president. He is a veteran of World War 2 and the Korean War and has served as president of the Uniformed Firefighters Association, Local 461, AFL-CIO.

Greer said today he is "grateful for the confidence expressed in me by the fire board. I deeply appreciate their backing."

The fire board statement released today was signed by Edward Finch, board president, and commissioners Tibor Tomshaw and John Worf.

The board awarded a contract to The Gramwell Co., Newton Upper Falls, Mass., to complete modernization of the fire alarm system and another to Saeger-Spuck, of Albany, for standby generator equipment. The alarm system project is to cost some $16,000. The Common Council recently authorized a bond issue covering most of it.

JFK Will Spend Some Weekends at Home on Cape Cod

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President Kennedy is expected to spend his vacation and some weekends at his summer home here on the edge of Nantucket Sound.

He hasn't announced specific plans yet, but some changes are being made in anticipation of his visits.

For one thing a new six-foot fence is being erected around the entire Kennedy property. It runs all the way around the property to his private road entrance.

Remodeled Bank to Be Open To Public Saturday 10 to 5

The new and enlarged Kingston Savings Bank building, 273 Wall Street, will be open to the public Saturday from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m., with a diversified program planned, it was announced today by Lloyd R. LeFever, president.

Opening day ceremonies of the 87-year-old uptown banking institution will include gifts for adults and children visiting the refurbished structure, and a special cartoon movie program presented periodically throughout the day for the youngsters.

Every visitor to the bank, parent and child alike, will receive a free souvenir gift.

Parents during their inspection tour of the new bank, handsomely appointed and the ultimate in bank architecture, are invited to bring the youngsters, for whom free movies will be provided.

Under reconstruction since June, 1960, the "new" bank will provide an area of some 5,103 square feet, compared to 3,651 in the former facility.

Cornerstone-laying ceremonies for the new addition were held Dec. 5, 1960, marking another "progressive step" in the history of the uptown bank, which has been remodeled and enlarged several times.

Featuring 10 teller stations; a sidewalk-teller window, and automatic self-opening doors, among its other innovations to

W. Va. Area Becomes Test for Food Stamps

WELCH, W.Va. (AP) — McDowell County, a rough and rugged section of southernmost West Virginia which has become the symbolic depressed area, today becomes the first guinea pig in President Kennedy's emergency food stamp program.

Penny-pinched adults march past Gov. W. W. Barron to sign their names and tell what they're earning — if anything. Then government agencies will decide how much free food each family head receives.

It's part of an experimental program Kennedy launched to try to give needy persons a better balanced diet.

Here's the way it works:

Those taking part in the program will be required to buy stamps in the amount they normally spend on food. Then they get additional stamps free.

Someone in the plan who makes a fair living will get only a few free stamps. Someone earning a pittance gets more stamps.

Someone without any income gets enough stamps free to permit him to feed his family a nutritional diet.

The federal government will buy back the stamps from the grocer.

The food stamp experiment also will be tried in seven other hard-pressed communities — Franklin County, Ill.; Floyd County, Ky.; Detroit, Mich.; the Virginia-Hibbing-Nashwauk communities in northern Minnesota; Silver Bow County, Mont.; San Miguel County, N.M., and Fayette County, Pa.

The actual distribution of food stamps gets under way in June.

The eight-county trial, affecting 300,000 to 350,000 persons, is calculated to cost the government $50 million the first year. If it proves successful and is put to use in most states, it probably will add $400 million to the annual costs.

GIANT'S PATCHES FOR TRAFFIC ARTERY—Huge tunnel sections, above, each nearly the length of a football field, will help overcome final water barrier to the "outside" Maine-to-Florida traffic artery of U.S. routes 17 and 13. Under construction at Orange, Tex., each is 286 feet, 6 inches long and 34 feet in diameter. They'll be sealed with steel, ballasted with concrete and towed some 1,700 miles to Norfolk, Va. A total 19 sections will be fitted with roadway, pipelines and communication equipment before being lowered into trenches in Chesapeake Bay. They'll become a 5,738-foot tunnel unit of a 17½-mile-long bridge-tunnel, the world's longest, running from Cape Henry, to Cape Charles, Va. An additional 18 sections will eventually complete a second tunnel. Completion date: Fall, 1963. Tunnel sections are being built by American Bridge Division, U.S. Steel Corp.

New Yorkers Continue Gifts To 2 Parties After Election

WASHINGTON (AP) —New Yorkers continued to contribute thousands of dollars to the Democratic and Republican national committees, even though the presidential election is past.

Gifts to the Democrats far outstripped those to the Republican Party during January and February, records on file with the House clerk show.

The Democratic list is studded with such New York names as former Gov. W. Averell Harriman, now a roving ambassador; fashion designer Oleg Cassini; band leader Guy Lombardo; and television personality Jack Paar.

James A. Farley, former postmaster general and Democratic national chairman, gave $100. So did Thomas K. Finletter, a leader of reform Democrats in New York City.

Dr. Janet Travell of Pelham, N. Y., President Kennedy's personal physician, was listed for a $200 Democratic gift.

New York Democrats gave a total of $107,793 in 293 gifts of $100 or more to their national party headquarters during the two months, compared with 17 Republican gifts from $2 up and totaling less than $6,000.

The top Democratic gift from New York was $10,000 from Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Katz of New York City.

This compared with a $3,500 gift to the GOP by the Women's National Republican Campaign Committee, New York City.

Harriman's $5,000 donation to the Democratic Party was matched by equal amounts from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Watson and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Watson Jr., who gave their addresses as New York City.

Paar gave $600, and Cassini and Lombardo $100 each.

Gifts of $100 or more contributed to the Democratic Party by Upstate New Yorkers included:

Louis A. Wehle, Rochester, $600; John S. Stillman, Cornwall - on-Hudson, $300; Mrs. William Zeck, Suffern, $300; Dr. John F. Burden, Oswego, 200.

Herbert J. O'Brien, Rome, $100; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cerullo, Depew, $200; Timothy Sullivan, Comstock, $100.

The only Upstate gifts of $100 or more to the Republican National Committee were from George R. Cooley, Albany, $200, and the Rerinton Republican Club, Rochester, $100.

GIANT'S PATCHES FOR TRAFFIC ARTERY—Huge tunnel sections, above, each nearly the length of a football field, will help overcome final water barrier to the "outside" Maine-to-Florida traffic artery of U.S. routes 17 and 13. Under construction at Orange, Tex., each is 286 feet, 6 inches long and 34 feet in diameter. They'll be sealed with steel, ballasted with concrete and towed some 1,700 miles to Norfolk, Va. A total 19 sections will be fitted with roadway, pipelines and communication equipment before being lowered into trenches in Chesapeake Bay. They'll become a 5,738-foot tunnel unit of a 17½-mile-long bridge-tunnel, the world's longest, running from Cape Henry, to Cape Charles, Va. An additional 18 sections will eventually complete a second tunnel. Completion date: Fall, 1963. Tunnel sections are being built by American Bridge Division, U.S. Steel Corp.

NO CONTROL IN SPACE

In some minds, the Soviet Union's recently proved ability to orbit a manned vehicle foreshadows a time when it will threaten the globe with satellites bearing nuclear bombs. Some members of Congress have expressed fears that the Russians contemplate such a weapons system, in which the earth would be continually circled by satellites ready to release nuclear destruction at Moscow's command.

This apocalyptic vision is not very likely to be realized. That is not because the Kremlin would hesitate to use such a weapon of relentless terror, but because there is little need for it. Russia's intercontinental ballistic missiles are capable of delivering nuclear warheads virtually anywhere on the globe. Having a battery of such missiles on the alert is much less complicated, and potentially quite as effective, as maintaining a covey of armed satellites in orbit.

The horrible idea of globe-circling nuclear satellites does serve a useful purpose, however. It calls renewed attention to the urgent need for international agreement on launching and control of space vehicles.

What we have now is anarchy. It is not yet very dangerous anarchy, since only a relative handful of space vehicles have been sent aloft. But the number is steadily increasing. As other countries gain missile-launching capability, the upper atmosphere is going to become increasingly populated with hardware whizzing up and around at speeds of 18,000 miles per hour and more. Not the least of the resultant dangers would be the chance of nuclear war breaking out because some object had been falsely identified as a hostile missile,

It seems not impossible to work out regulations which would minimize the dangers without inhibiting progress. The nations ought to get at the job promptly.

Throngs of Senegalese cheered the U. S. vice president but not Russia's official representative. That figures, since it was an independence celebration.

GIFTS WITH STRINGS

The White House has let it be known that hereafter gifts intended for the President and his family will be returned if their value is more than about $15. The announcement will have beneficial effects.

The more or less arbitrary limit on the value of presidential gifts will forestall the sort of criticism that always arises when expensive presents are received by a man in high office. This is true even though no one suggests that most, or even many, of the gifts sent to the Kennedys are given with the idea of gaining any influence.

The President's action also will set the tone for his administration. Perhaps most important of all, the limit on White House gifts may act as a damper on the growth of an undesirable custom. It has become apparent that gift-giving meant to "ease the way" plays no small role in U. S. business and government life.

It is up to business leaders to call a halt to this practice in their own companies and industries. They must take the lead in getting rid of the notion that greasing someone's palm—or, by extension, bestowing lavish gifts and entertainment—is an acceptable way of helping along a business transaction.

As to government, this debilitating practice is curbed by numerous laws. Unfortunately, subtle circumventions that are hard to pin down as illegal continue without much hinderance. In this latter area, great need has existed for example and guidance on a high level. It is good that President Kennedy is filling this need.

The Cuban gunboat which almost clashed with the U. S. Navy hurriedly decided it would be unfair to pick on an adversary caught unawares.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE INCOME TAX

Now it is the National Committee for Economic Freedom that comes along with a proposal to abolish the Income Tax. This has to do with the proposed 23rd Amendment which has passed the Legislatures of Wyoming, Texas, Nevada and Louisiana. This proposed Amendment reads:

"Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Section 2. The constitutions or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

"Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

"Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the sixteenth article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and/or gifts."

Unfortunately Section 1 is utterly impossible if we are ever to defend this country. The manufacture of the atom and hydrogen bombs or the atomic submarine involves our government in considerable business enterprise. If we are forced to go to Cuba alone these costs will be greater.

Those who favor this Amendment say:

"The 'Proposed 23rd Amendment', would force the sale of the land and facilities of federal corporate activities back to the American people from whom they were taken, and thus cut the National Debt more than $65,000,000,000. . . ."

This program ignores the fact that we are engaged in war with Soviet Russia and that it is necessary to have allies, to have bases abroad, to purchase land in this country. It is difficult to understand the mathematics of their proposal in view of President Kennedy's statement that the United States will not abandon Cuba to Communism. That statement involves the United States in costly expenditures and in continued military preparations.

The Income Tax is not a wise tax in a capitalist country and it is collected with brutality in this country. Also, there is obvious waste in the cost of Government. Let us say, without figuring too closely, that the waste is as high as $10,000,000,000, which is twice the amount estimated by the Hoover Commission. We still have to find about $80,000,000,000, to meet essential expenditures, about $40,000,000,000 of which goes to war and defense.

Surely those who favor abolishing the Income Tax do not propose to make us defenseless and to turn us over to the kindly ministrations of Khrushchev or Castro. True, the Income Tax takes a great deal of our income, but these devils will take all of our capital.

That being so, their problem obviously is not so much to abolish the Income Tax as to propose another form of taxation that might be more equable and just. Certainly, one thing that can be done is to make it a felony to move funds abroad with the object of avoiding or evading, choose your own term, taxes. It should also be law that funds deposited abroad to evade or avoid taxes are not inheritable by Americans and may be totally confiscated if brought back in any form. This might help a bit and put some crooks where they belong.

But that still would not solve the problem. There would nevertheless have to be taxes for the manufacture of rockets and missiles and submarines, to say nothing of other purposes. If we are not to have the Income Tax, we might use a Transaction Tax, but the amount needed would be about the same.

As our economy stands today "duties and excises" will not bring in enough to take care of an $80,000,000,000 budget or even a $70,000,000,000 dollar budget. One of the arguments used by the anti-Income Tax advocates is that Section 8 of Article 1 of the Constitution is sufficient and all else should be repealed. But that article calls for the provision for "common defense and general welfare of the United States." The common defense is a very costly business and although I hate the Income Tax, I do not see how we can get the money we need except by this tax or a Transactions Tax.

Do Your Own Sleuthing On Skin Sensitivities

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A recent column on eyelid eruptions resulting from nail polish has led to several useful suggestions from correspondents and a flood of inquiries about other "eczemas."

The useful suggestions included at least one to which I should have drawn attention. And that is sensitivity to the metal, usually nickel, that's used in eyeglass frames and/or the screws in frames. One correspondent relates in detail how she made the discovery after all sorts of investigations into her rash.

She finally solved the problem herself when she observed other eruptions in other places exposed to metal.. On the wrist, from a watch or the watchband. On the feet, from the eyelets of the shoes. On the ear from contact with a reading lamp, attached to the bed.

Now the same sort of Sherlock Holmes investigation has to be undertaken in seeking the solution of many cases of eczema. In actuality, the word eczema simply means that the eruption looks as if it had been boiled.

If I had my way, I'd make it a crime to use the word at all. The label of an eczema adds nothing to our knowledge of the condition. And there's a great tendency to use the label as a cloak for ignorance. In consequence, most enlightened skin specialists refer to an eczematous eruption as a contact dermatitis, if it's from a contactual substance. Or as an atopic dermatitis if it's from something taken internally.

For example, poison ivy is a contact dermatitis. But what used to be called "infantile eczema," on the baby's face, is termed an atopic dermatitis because it's often a response to taking cow's milk.

Now whether the eczema is a contact dermatitis or an atopic dermatitis, you can see how useless it is to try to cure it by the application of lotions, ointments, lamp treatments, X-rays or what have you. You might just as well try to dry yourself while you're standing in the shower with the water turned on.

What you've got to do, of course, is find out the cause. That's not always easy, as the lady with the metal glass frames found out. And especially today when almost everything you touch or that touches you contains synthetic fiber or a newly invented dye product or a waterproofing material or insecticide. Take a look in your drug cabinet; the line of cosmetics on your dressing table; the shelf of household cleansers, insecticides, powders, soaps, detergents, polishers, floor waxes, etc., in the kitchen closet. And the mixture of chemicals used by even the amateur gardener or guardian of the lawn.

Better be your own "private eye." It'll mean a lot of work. You'll have to write down everything you touched, wore, ate, drank or came in contact with on the job. Then you'll have to avoid suspicious things. Then you'll have to reproduce the eruption by deliberate exposure. I don't guarantee success. But you've nothing to lose.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The best advice being given to the Peace Corps now being set up in the Kennedy administration under the President's brother-in-law, R. Sargent Shriver, is to go slow the first two years, feeling the way until successful working methods are established.

Young volunteer workers must be picked with the greatest care. On top of that, supervisors must have the necessary experience to give the right kind of leadership for overseas operations.

THIS ADVICE COMES FROM the real daddy of the Peace Corps idea. If this advice is not accepted, it is predicted that the program will run into difficulties or even fail.

Just a year ago, a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee, reporting on U. S. foreign aid projects, made brief mention of the exceptional work being done in the hills of Viet Nam by several young American agricultural college graduates, resettling war refugees.

"It is to such projects that the study missions gives its heartiest approval," said the report. "The American youth referred to are selected, trained and assigned by International Voluntary Services, under contract to International Cooperation Administration. They receive $60 a month, plus food, clothing and simple quarters at the site of their work. The entire project has not cost as much as one mile of superhighway."

WITHIN A WEEK AFTER this report came out, Rep. Henry Reuss (D.-Wis.) had an assistant in the Washington office of Dr. J. S. Noffsinger, executive director of IVS, studying his operation. A short time later Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D.-Minn.) had a man there. The legislation which these two congressmen introduced, proposing establishment of a Peace Corps by the U. S. government, was the real start of this program.

Kennedy made a campaign speech in San Francisco, supporting the idea, but he is really a Johnny-come-lately in this field. IVS has been in it for eight years.

In 1953 Noffsinger and a small group of Americans who had wide experience in foreign missions and education came to the conclusion that, while the U. S. foreign aid programs were good, they were necessarily limited to a government-to-government approach. What was needed as a supplement or complement was something that would have direct people -to-people contacts

IN ITS FIRST SIX YEARS, IVS sent only 250 hand-picked people abroad for 11 projects in nine foreign countries. Having thus found out the hard way how to do this job, they are now stepping up their operations.

This year they will send out 150 more volunteers. Their contracts with the U. S. International Cooperative Administration foreign aid programs now run $3.5 million a year.

But IVS finds it can send a man abroad for an average of $5,000 a year. It costs the government four times that, operating on standards that don't work as well.

When an AFL-CIO representative recently said the labor organization wasn't interested in the Peace Corps unless it could send 10,000 volunteer workers abroad the first year, he was talking big, but not necessarily talking sense.

Shriver, the new Peace Corps administrator, has talked of sending from 500 to 1,000 volunteers abroad by the end of 1961. This is a more reasonable goal, but still a big undertaking.

CONTRARY TO SOME assumptions, the peace corpsmen aren't going to be welcomed everywhere. They will have to be sent only where they are wanted, to work on specific projects for which they have been specially trained.

Public Called Bewildered By Kennedy 'Task Forces'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — What's the hurry — or isn't there hurry enough? The first three months of the Kennedy Administration give an impression of hustle and bustle, if not helter-skelter. Much has been promised and much has been talked about on television and in the press, but very little in the way of concrete accomplishment toward the building of a sound economy is as yet in sight.

While the public-opinion polls show that the President has gained in popularity since the election, members of Congress who have taken soundings back home say that the Kennedy legislative program hasn't achieved the support that a new Administration would naturally expect.

But there is a reason for this paradox. The truth is the people are bewildered by the tens of thousands of words from "task forces" and academicians. Twenty-nine messages totaling about 58,000 words have been sent to Congress by President Kennedy as contrasted with a third of that many words in fifteen messages in the first ninety days of the Eisenhower Administration in 1953. The members of Congress are baffled, too. When the committees in both houses begin seriously to study the numerous legislative proposals of the President, it is likely that there'll be more support for the main points of his program.

Tax Program Cited

Messages with carefully balanced phrases are not, of course, a substitute for laws to be written by Congress. The country still doesn't know, for example, just what kind of tax program it can expect. Nothing is more important than the tax rates which corporations and individuals are expected to pay.

The chief trouble with the administration's proposals on tax changes is that they have been drawn by experienced men who are more theoretical than practical. The President's message on tax reform was drafted by persons who are apparently versed in theories of taxation but know little about what really makes business grow.

Temporary expedients may be important, but long-range planning is even more so. A tax plan that's temporary isn't likely to be taken as seriously as one that will cover a fixed period within which expenditures for modernization or replacement are made. Expansion of business is not an overnight affair or confined to a single year. Take the matter of tax - depreciation allowances. The general public for the most part probably didn't read the President's message — it was necessarily technical. But it was doubtless read carefully by corporation executives, including the treasurers and the finance committees of various companies. Here are some typical sentences from Mr. Kennedy's message, however, that spell uncertainty:

"It may be that, on examination, some of the existing depreciation rules wil be found to be outmoded and inequitable; but that is a question that should be separated from investment incentives. A review of these rules and methods is under way in the Treasury Department as a part of its overall tax reform study to determine whether changes are appropriate and, if so, what form they should take. Adoption of the proposed incentive credit would in no way foreclose later action on these aspects of depreciation."

Called Sop to Business

One would think from this statement that the subject of tax-depreciation allowances is something new and hasn't been studied before. The new tax incentive plan is really a sop to business — an attempt to quiet the growing clamor for a sensible policy on depreciation allowances. What kind of planning can be done for the next five years upon reading the President's message? Here is one paragraph in it which is an example of how to confuse business:

"I believe this investment tax credit will become a useful and continuous part of our tax structure. But it will be a new venture and remain in need of review. Moreover, it may prove desirable for the Congress to modify the credit from time to time, so as to adapt it to the needs of a changing economy."

Can Upset Whole Program

Just as a business reaches the middle stage of a three or five-year program, the Congress or the Treasury by regulation can upset the whole applecart. Who wants to take risks of that kind in business? The usual argument—and it runs through the Kennedy message—is that the Treasury cannot afford the loss in revenue in this or that plan, so the sensible and logical thing cannot be done because it "may cause a loss of revenue."

It's the same old story. The Administration's adviser do not take into account apparently that a temporary reduction to accomplish a basic reform can be followed by a huge increase in Treasury tax receipts over a long period. The tendency, unfortunately, is to urge short-term remedies, and this in turn produces short-term recoveries and recurring recessions.

Sooner or later, the Congress will have to write a new tax law, and it is to be hoped that the actual operations of American business and the requirement for planning just a few months or a year will be given serious consideration.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

With this rainy cold weather and a half a day of sunshine sandwiched in between now and then, one may get discouraged waiting for spring after a long hard winter as we had. I have a fondness for old books with old pictures. Just such a rainy day which seems to discourage even birds from singing I opened my copy of "Robinson Crusoe" by Daniel DeFoe, published in New York in 1885. There are several hundred illustrations by Dalziel, Griset, J. D. Watson and others.

Daniel DeFoe, the author was born just 300 years ago, this year, in 1661. He was a son of James Foe, a butcher, the prefix "De" he added to his name later when he grew up. They wanted him to be a minister, but instead he tangled with wars and politics, wrote pamphlets and satirical poems beginning when he was 21. He made friends and enemies, and was imprisoned several times in Newgate. One time for nearly two years, and even there his pen was busy, for he put out a semi-weekly paper, "The Review." He also wrote "Hymn to the Pillory" in prison. Each adventure only gave vigor to his talent of writing.

We become discouraged over cold and rain and of course the turbulent news of the day, but it seems over the centuries bad news always existed, and sometimes such men as Daniel De Foe were born to produce such an imaginative gem which is able to entertain and remain popular for almost 300 years. DeFoe wrote Robinson Crusoe in 1719 and then found publishers would not touch it, except one, who was to make over 1,000 pounds as it became popular immediately. His style in his political and imaginative works is simple, clear and vigorous, and his fiction has all the appearance of truth.

This Englishman wrote some 210 books and pamphlets before he died broke at the age of around 70 in 1731, the fate of many authors whose works live on after them for centuries. In one Encyclopedia of 1877 they feel that DeFoe wrote about a Peter Serrano, a 16th century shipwrecked man who lived alone for several years on an island in the Carribbean Sea, near the mouth of the Orinoco. The publisher of the Robinson Crusoe book I have, R. Worthington feels it was a man by the name of Selcraig, which he changed to that of Selkirk when he went to sea. Selkirk was supposed to have been born at Largo, in County of Rife, in 1676, and worked in his father's shoemaker's shop. He ran away to sea and after various adventures, it is said, gave his stories to DeFoe who turned it into Robinson Crusoe.

It does not matter if it was Selkirk or Peter Serrano's life, for now only Robinson Crusoe's personality and adventure is real to us, as Daniel De Foe wrote it. De Foe was a knowledgeable man when it came to revenue, trade and taxes for he was sent on a peace mission along these lines to Scotland in 1709. De Foe was about 58 when he wrote it.

No doubt many great man have read this book on rainy days just like we have now, and before they were through the sun came up to start another day. Library Week makes me think of all the books I wish I had time to read. I never did finish reading it, but I do like looking through the old pictures. One wonders what keeps a book alive almost 300 years and no doubt will keep on living as long as books exist.

Questions and Answers

Q—What distinguishes a cathedral from a church?

A—Any building used for worship is called a church. Cathedral refers to the bishop's chair or throne. Hence a cathedral is technically the bishop's church.

NO CONTROL IN SPACE

In some minds, the Soviet Union's recently proved ability to orbit a manned vehicle foreshadows a time when it will threaten the globe with satellites bearing nuclear bombs. Some members of Congress have expressed fears that the Russians contemplate such a weapons system, in which the earth would be continually circled by satellites ready to release nuclear destruction at Moscow's command.

This apocalyptic vision is not very likely to be realized. That is not because the Kremlin would hesitate to use such a weapon of relentless terror, but because there is little need for it. Russia's intercontinental ballistic missiles are capable of delivering nuclear warheads virtually anywhere on the globe. Having a battery of such missiles on the alert is much less complicated, and potentially quite as effective, as maintaining a covey of armed satellites in orbit.

The horrible idea of globe-circling nuclear satellites does serve a useful purpose, however. It calls renewed attention to the urgent need for international agreement on launching and control of space vehicles.

What we have now is anarchy. It is not yet very dangerous anarchy, since only a relative handful of space vehicles have been sent aloft. But the number is steadily increasing. As other countries gain missile-launching capability, the upper atmosphere is going to become increasingly populated with hardware whizzing up and around at speeds of 18,000 miles per hour and more. Not the least of the resultant dangers would be the chance of nuclear war breaking out because some object had been falsely identified as a hostile missile,

It seems not impossible to work out regulations which would minimize the dangers without inhibiting progress. The nations ought to get at the job promptly.

Throngs of Senegalese cheered the U. S. vice president but not Russia's official representative. That figures, since it was an independence celebration.

GIFTS WITH STRINGS

The White House has let it be known that hereafter gifts intended for the President and his family will be returned if their value is more than about $15. The announcement will have beneficial effects.

The more or less arbitrary limit on the value of presidential gifts will forestall the sort of criticism that always arises when expensive presents are received by a man in high office. This is true even though no one suggests that most, or even many, of the gifts sent to the Kennedys are given with the idea of gaining any influence.

The President's action also will set the tone for his administration. Perhaps most important of all, the limit on White House gifts may act as a damper on the growth of an undesirable custom. It has become apparent that gift-giving meant to "ease the way" plays no small role in U. S. business and government life.

It is up to business leaders to call a halt to this practice in their own companies and industries. They must take the lead in getting rid of the notion that greasing someone's palm—or, by extension, bestowing lavish gifts and entertainment—is an acceptable way of helping along a business transaction.

As to government, this debilitating practice is curbed by numerous laws. Unfortunately, subtle circumventions that are hard to pin down as illegal continue without much hinderance. In this latter area, great need has existed for example and guidance on a high level. It is good that President Kennedy is filling this need.

The Cuban gunboat which almost clashed with the U. S. Navy hurriedly decided it would be unfair to pick on an adversary caught unawares.

THE INCOME TAX

Now it is the National Committee for Economic Freedom that comes along with a proposal to abolish the Income Tax. This has to do with the proposed 23rd Amendment which has passed the Legislatures of Wyoming, Texas, Nevada and Louisiana. This proposed Amendment reads:

"Section 1. The Government of the United States shall not engage in any business, professional, commercial or industrial enterprise except as specified in the Constitution.

"Section 2. The constitutions or laws of any state, or the laws of the United States shall not be subject to the terms of any foreign or domestic agreement which would abrogate this amendment.

"Section 3. The activities of the United States Government which violate the intent and purposes of this amendment shall, within a period of three years from the date of the ratification of this amendment, be liquidated and the properties and facilities affected shall be sold.

"Section 4. Three years after the ratification of this amendment the sixteenth article of amendments to the Constitution of the United States shall stand repealed and thereafter Congress shall not levy taxes on personal incomes, estates, and/or gifts."

Unfortunately Section 1 is utterly impossible if we are ever to defend this country. The manufacture of the atom and hydrogen bombs or the atomic submarine involves our government in considerable business enterprise. If we are forced to go to Cuba alone these costs will be greater.

Those who favor this Amendment say:

"The 'Proposed 23rd Amendment', would force the sale of the land and facilities of federal corporate activities back to the American people from whom they were taken, and thus cut the National Debt more than $65,000,000,000. . . ."

This program ignores the fact that we are engaged in war with Soviet Russia and that it is necessary to have allies, to have bases abroad, to purchase land in this country. It is difficult to understand the mathematics of their proposal in view of President Kennedy's statement that the United States will not abandon Cuba to Communism. That statement involves the United States in costly expenditures and in continued military preparations.

The Income Tax is not a wise tax in a capitalist country and it is collected with brutality in this country. Also, there is obvious waste in the cost of Government. Let us say, without figuring too closely, that the waste is as high as $10,000,000,000, which is twice the amount estimated by the Hoover Commission. We still have to find about $80,000,000,000, to meet essential expenditures, about $40,000,000,000 of which goes to war and defense.

Surely those who favor abolishing the Income Tax do not propose to make us defenseless and to turn us over to the kindly ministrations of Khrushchev or Castro. True, the Income Tax takes a great deal of our income, but these devils will take all of our capital.

That being so, their problem obviously is not so much to abolish the Income Tax as to propose another form of taxation that might be more equable and just. Certainly, one thing that can be done is to make it a felony to move funds abroad with the object of avoiding or evading, choose your own term, taxes. It should also be law that funds deposited abroad to evade or avoid taxes are not inheritable by Americans and may be totally confiscated if brought back in any form. This might help a bit and put some crooks where they belong.

But that still would not solve the problem. There would nevertheless have to be taxes for the manufacture of rockets and missiles and submarines, to say nothing of other purposes. If we are not to have the Income Tax, we might use a Transaction Tax, but the amount needed would be about the same.

As our economy stands today "duties and excises" will not bring in enough to take care of an $80,000,000,000 budget or even a $70,000,000,000 dollar budget. One of the arguments used by the anti-Income Tax advocates is that Section 8 of Article 1 of the Constitution is sufficient and all else should be repealed. But that article calls for the provision for "common defense and general welfare of the United States." The common defense is a very costly business and although I hate the Income Tax, I do not see how we can get the money we need except by this tax or a Transactions Tax.

Do Your Own Sleuthing On Skin Sensitivities

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

A recent column on eyelid eruptions resulting from nail polish has led to several useful suggestions from correspondents and a flood of inquiries about other "eczemas."

The useful suggestions included at least one to which I should have drawn attention. And that is sensitivity to the metal, usually nickel, that's used in eyeglass frames and/or the screws in frames. One correspondent relates in detail how she made the discovery after all sorts of investigations into her rash.

She finally solved the problem herself when she observed other eruptions in other places exposed to metal.. On the wrist, from a watch or the watchband. On the feet, from the eyelets of the shoes. On the ear from contact with a reading lamp, attached to the bed.

Now the same sort of Sherlock Holmes investigation has to be undertaken in seeking the solution of many cases of eczema. In actuality, the word eczema simply means that the eruption looks as if it had been boiled.

If I had my way, I'd make it a crime to use the word at all. The label of an eczema adds nothing to our knowledge of the condition. And there's a great tendency to use the label as a cloak for ignorance. In consequence, most enlightened skin specialists refer to an eczematous eruption as a contact dermatitis, if it's from a contactual substance. Or as an atopic dermatitis if it's from something taken internally.

For example, poison ivy is a contact dermatitis. But what used to be called "infantile eczema," on the baby's face, is termed an atopic dermatitis because it's often a response to taking cow's milk.

Now whether the eczema is a contact dermatitis or an atopic dermatitis, you can see how useless it is to try to cure it by the application of lotions, ointments, lamp treatments, X-rays or what have you. You might just as well try to dry yourself while you're standing in the shower with the water turned on.

What you've got to do, of course, is find out the cause. That's not always easy, as the lady with the metal glass frames found out. And especially today when almost everything you touch or that touches you contains synthetic fiber or a newly invented dye product or a waterproofing material or insecticide. Take a look in your drug cabinet; the line of cosmetics on your dressing table; the shelf of household cleansers, insecticides, powders, soaps, detergents, polishers, floor waxes, etc., in the kitchen closet. And the mixture of chemicals used by even the amateur gardener or guardian of the lawn.

Better be your own "private eye." It'll mean a lot of work. You'll have to write down everything you touched, wore, ate, drank or came in contact with on the job. Then you'll have to avoid suspicious things. Then you'll have to reproduce the eruption by deliberate exposure. I don't guarantee success. But you've nothing to lose.

Just as a business reaches the middle stage of a three or five-year program, the Congress or the Treasury by regulation can upset the whole applecart. Who wants to take risks of that kind in business? The usual argument—and it runs through the Kennedy message—is that the Treasury cannot afford the loss in revenue in this or that plan, so the sensible and logical thing cannot be done because it "may cause a loss of revenue."

It's the same old story. The Administration's adviser do not take into account apparently that a temporary reduction to accomplish a basic reform can be followed by a huge increase in Treasury tax receipts over a long period. The tendency, unfortunately, is to urge short-term remedies, and this in turn produces short-term recoveries and recurring recessions.

Sooner or later, the Congress will have to write a new tax law, and it is to be hoped that the actual operations of American business and the requirement for planning just a few months or a year will be given serious consideration.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

With this rainy cold weather and a half a day of sunshine sandwiched in between now and then, one may get discouraged waiting for spring after a long hard winter as we had. I have a fondness for old books with old pictures. Just such a rainy day which seems to discourage even birds from singing I opened my copy of "Robinson Crusoe" by Daniel DeFoe, published in New York in 1885. There are several hundred illustrations by Dalziel, Griset, J. D. Watson and others.

Daniel DeFoe, the author was born just 300 years ago, this year, in 1661. He was a son of James Foe, a butcher, the prefix "De" he added to his name later when he grew up. They wanted him to be a minister, but instead he tangled with wars and politics, wrote pamphlets and satirical poems beginning when he was 21. He made friends and enemies, and was imprisoned several times in Newgate. One time for nearly two years, and even there his pen was busy, for he put out a semi-weekly paper, "The Review." He also wrote "Hymn to the Pillory" in prison. Each adventure only gave vigor to his talent of writing.

We become discouraged over cold and rain and of course the turbulent news of the day, but it seems over the centuries bad news always existed, and sometimes such men as Daniel De Foe were born to produce such an imaginative gem which is able to entertain and remain popular for almost 300 years. DeFoe wrote Robinson Crusoe in 1719 and then found publishers would not touch it, except one, who was to make over 1,000 pounds as it became popular immediately. His style in his political and imaginative works is simple, clear and vigorous, and his fiction has all the appearance of truth.

This Englishman wrote some 210 books and pamphlets before he died broke at the age of around 70 in 1731, the fate of many authors whose works live on after them for centuries. In one Encyclopedia of 1877 they feel that DeFoe wrote about a Peter Serrano, a 16th century shipwrecked man who lived alone for several years on an island in the Carribean Sea, near the mouth of the Orinoco. The publisher of the Robinson Crusoe book I have, R. Worthington feels it was a man by the name of Selcraig, which he changed to that of Selkirk when he went to sea. Selkirk was supposed to have been born at Largo, in County of Rife, in 1676, and worked in his father's shoemaker's shop. He ran away to sea and after various adventures, it is said, gave his stories to DeFoe who turned it into Robinson Crusoe.

It does not matter if it was Selkirk or Peter Serrano's life, for now only Robinson Crusoe's personality and adventure is real to us, as Daniel De Foe wrote it. De Foe was a knowledgeable man when it came to revenue, trade and taxes for he was sent on a peace mission along these lines to Scotland in 1709. De Foe was about 58 when he wrote it.

No doubt many great man have read this book on rainy days just like we have now, and before they were through the sun came up to start another day. Library Week makes me think of all the books I wish I had time to read. I never did finish reading it, but I do like looking through the old pictures. One wonders what keeps a book alive almost 300 years and no doubt will keep on living as long as books exist.

State to Limit Shorter School Class Requests

The State Department of Education reported today that a total of 1,796 pupils attended curtailed sessions at schools in Ulster County in 1960-61 and announced that all superintendents and supervising principals in the State have been notified of the Department's position in respect to approval of curtailing school sessions.

Dr. Walter Crewson, associate commissioner, warned the public school administrators that requests to operate curtailed sessions beyond a three-year period will be targets for very careful scrutiny during the coming school year.

In 12 counties in which curtailed sessions were authorized, including Ulster and Dutchess counties, 90 per cent of the total students, or 75,595 attended school. A total of 3,145 pupils attended curtailed sessions in Dutchess schools.

The Department of Education reported that 783 Catskill pupils out of a total of 8,052 students in 13 Upstate counties on curtailed sessions returned to full sessions during the school year 1960-61.

In his letter to public school administrators, Dr. Crewson again restated the official policy of the Education Department in relation to approving curtailed sessions, as follows:

"The Department advocates a full five-hour day for elementary schools (except that half-day sessions will be approved for kindergartens) and a full five and one-half hour day for secondary schools. Anything less than these minumum schedules will result in serious curtailment of educational services to the children and youth of the State."

Dr. Crewson added, "There are, however, instances in which local school authorities are forced to seek temporary relief pending the construction of new building facilities. In these instances I suggest that every effort be made to relieve the situation by the use of temporary housing which may be found in the community."

6 Drivers Fined $60

Six drivers, charged with speeding, paid $60 in fines Tuesday night in city court.

John Cole, of 58 Meadow Street, charged with lack of an operator's license, was given the choice of paying a fine of $25 or spending 15 days in jail. The fine was not paid.

Fined $10 each were Jerry Miller, 25, of Box 468, East Chester Street Bypass; William N. Bartlett, 53, RD 160; Alice M. Donaby, 26, Stone Ridge; R. R. Henion, Stone Ridge; Esther Carter, Route 5, Box 62, Kingston, and Nina Kirtson, 38, Route 1, Box 386, Kingston.

May 3 Listed By Chamber as NewMemberDay

Final plans for the 1961 membership drive were completed at a breakfast meeting this morning at the Governor Clinton Hotel. May 3 was set as new-member day.

Eight team captains met with Sam Pepper and John W. Egbert, co-chairmen of the drive, to make the plans. Team captains attending were Donald Briggs, Sully Fleming, Paul Jordan, Arthur W. Patterson, Wilbur Peters, Tom Reynolds, W. J. Robertson and William R. Stall.

New-member day was set for Wednesday, May 3. All the captains and workers will meet at a breakfast meeting on this date and visit prospective members during the day.

A goal of 75 new members was established for the 1961-62 fiscal year of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce which starts on May 1.

Aldermen to Meet Merchants About Parking Tonight

Plans for solution of uptown parking problems will be aired tonight by a Common Council committee and the Uptown Business Men's Association in the office of Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye at an April 18 council meeting named the council's finance committee plus two other aldermen to study off-street and other parking problems in all city areas. Because of preliminary progress made, to date, uptown, plans for that area will be discussed first.

Several plans will be presented by Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, council majority leader, who heads the committee.

Mayor Radel said he has been in contact during the past several months with concerns dealing with parking lot equipment and has discussed plans with the city engineer's department. He noted that the "Automobile Club of New York is also carrying on surveys for the city to determine what the parking needs of the community are."

JFK to Expand Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proposed an expanded program of help for needy college and university students. Kennedy also asked that the loan program be put on a permanent basis instead of allowing it to expire June 30, 1962.

In identical letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as president of the Senate and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Kennedy said the National Defense Education Act "has served the nation well" but the "need today to improve and strengthen our education system is still great."

Two from LWV, Cay Conway Talk For Lions Club

Guest speakers at the Lions Club this week were Mrs. Gifford Beal, president and Mrs. Jerry Sachs, vice-president, of the League of Women Voters and Mrs. Louis DiDonna, professionally known as Cay Conway.

Mrs. Beal and Mrs. Sachs spoke on the job which the League of Women Voters is doing in the community. The purpose of the League is to promote political responsibility to the voters.

Also explained by the speakers was the three types of registration in New York State, permanent personal registration which is used by 70 per cent of the state; annual registration which is used in Kingston and the non-personal registration which is used in many of the surrounding communities.

A project for the League this year is to display the City of Kingston charter where everyone may see it.

Mrs. DiDonna gave a general discussioin of radio and of Mary Margaret McBride with whom she is associated. Mrs. DiDonna also covers the Catskill mountain region for NBC monitor.

Masons to Hold Breakfast Sunday

Masonic lodges of Ulster county will hold their annual communion service and breakfast Sunday morning, April 30, at Old Dutch Church at 7 o'clock, daylight saving time.

Immediately after the church service breakfast will be served in Bethany Hall by the Ladies Guild of the church.

Stanley Wakefield of Hastings-on-Hudson will be the speaker at the breakfast, presided over by Frank J. Strobel, past district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

Wakefield is well-known in Masonic circles having been potentate of Mecca Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine of New York City, and Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, of the State of New York, as well as having held many other important offices. At present he is Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York.

Ulster Auxiliary Police Prepare For Friday Alert

Helmets and armbands were issued to auxiliary police of the Town of Ulster Civil Defense Council Tuesday evening at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Constable Joseph Lamphere mapped out locations of auxiliary police during the nation-wide public-participation alert from 4 to 4:10 p. m. Friday.

Dominick Brugnolotti, director, said that the town will also have the use of two Civil Air Patrol planes in an air survey during the alert, with their reports on the progress of the alert relayed by radio to Civil Defense headquarters.

All traffic will be stopped and pedestrians must take shelter during the 10-minute period.

Teamsters Announce New Dental Coverage

It was announced today by Theodore G. Daley, secretary treasurer of Local Union 445 that a new dental coverage has been negotiated for more than 1,000 members and their families residing in Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Rockland, Orange and Sullivan Counties.

The new Dental Coverage will apply to employes of employers who are contributing equal amounts to that being contributed by employers under the Freight Agreement.

Daley, who is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Welfare Fund, said that this new plan which will take care of the every day needs of the members and their families has been obtained through the Dental Insurance Plan, Inc.

These new dental benefits, which are in addition to already existing broad benefits which include life insurance, loss of time, hospitalization, surgical, medical, X-ray and major medical benefits, are another great step in the progress made in this local union through the unity of the ranks and the cooperation of the employers.

Ulster Hose Sets Fair Aug. 10-12

Plans are under way for the 14th annual fair sponsored by Ulster Hose Company No. 5 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 10-12, at the firehouse on Albany Avenue Extension.

Paul Werner is general chairman of the fair, Orville Klomps, treasurer, and Ernest Peterson, chairman of the distribution of fair books.

Peterson said approximately 3,000 books have been distributed to members of the company for sale.

Werner told The Freeman today that the annual event looks "very promising."

He said other plans are under consideration, including a fine selection of games, prizes, children's rides and other features.

Turnpike Driving Tips—

Authorities operating high speed turnpikes and thruways stress that observance of a few basic rules by motorists brings safety as its reward. Alternative is death or injury. Speed and fatigue are the great killers. "Do" illustrations above are common sense precautions. The "Don'ts" cite potential perils. Important: Never cut back into line while passing until left headlamp of car behind is visible in your inside mirror.

Seminar to Hear AboutGovernment At Paltz College

DR. JOHN SHERWIG

Dr. John M. Sherwig, professor of political sciences at the College of Education in New Paltz, will address the senior seminar students this Saturday. The lecture session will take place in the main building of the college starting at 10 a. m.

Professor Sherwig's topic for the seminar will be "Government by Law vs Government by Man."

Dr. Sherwig graduated from the University of Michigan, and received his doctor's degree from Harvard University in 1948. During his doctoral work, he was a teaching fellow for two years at Harvard. In September, 1948, he joined the New Paltz staff. In 1954 he went abroad to study in Great Britain and do private research. Dr. Sherwig is an ardent students of British history.

During the lecture, Dr. Sherwig will briefly develop the evaluation of constitutional governments. Part of his talk will include examples of specific origins and interpretations which have produced some of our present day concepts of the constitution and government. He will also describe some of the problems of a constitutional government in our present 20th century society.

The seminar program is a joint project of the central schools of the county and the State University of New York College of Education at New Paltz. The Secondary Principal's Council of the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster county has planned and directed the program.

Near Wage Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees today were reported near agreement on a minimum wage that will be acceptable to President Kennedy.

Leaders of the two delegations refused to go into details. It was learned from other sources, however, that the House side has agreed to many provisions of the much broader version of the bill passed by the Senate.

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the conference, said agreement had been reached on about three-fourths of the measure. He said final agreement probably will be announced later this week. The conference meets again today.

The world produced 1.970 trillion cigarettes during 1958.

Restaurant Owner Held for Assault

An 85-year-old Poughkeepsie Chinese restaurant proprietor was arrested early today on a second degree assault charge, accused of cutting another man with a meat cleaver during an argument.

Police said Mark Sing, operator of the New China Restaurant, 235 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, reportedly cut John A. Rinaldi, 47, of 52 South Bridge Street, that city, on the left hand.

Authorities said the incident took place about 3 a. m. The dispute, police said, developed after a quarter dropped to the floor of the restaurant.

Rinaldi was taken to Vassar Hospital, where five sutures were taken to close a laceration. Police said Sing was taken to St. Francis' Hospital and treated for lacerations.

Tree Spraying Is Advised Now for Tent Caterpillar

Now is the time to spray trees for the Eastern tent caterpillar, it was announced today by William Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent.

Palmer said that the "over-wintering egg masses" are now hatching and should be attacked while the nests are forming. He cautioned against waiting until the nests become large.

The caterpillar attacks almost any shade or fruit tree, with a special fondness for the wild cherry. Last year the elm trees on the Boulevard on the way to the TB Hospital were laden with nests, the caterpillars soon migrating to shade and fruit trees throughout the area.

Palmer suggested that area residents who have the problem should contact a tree expert. If they desire, they can use DDT or lead arsenic, Palmer said, two pounds or 50 per cent wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. If small quantities are desired, mix two tablespoonsfuls in a gallon of water.

Palmer cautioned that insecticides are poisonous and should be stored and handled with care. Those interested in obtaining further information can get bulletins at the extension office, 74 John Street.

Former Resident Reported Missing

A 13-state missing person alarm was sent out Tuesday by Poughkeepsie police in an effort to learn the whereabouts of a former Ulster County man.

Police Chief John L. Martin said Mrs. James Short, Phoenicia, reported her brother, Vernon Grant, 29, missing to Kingston troopers, who notified Poughkeepsie authorities. Grant had been residing in Poughkeepsie.

Martin said Grant is five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, has blue eyes and a ruddy complexion. He is of medium build, has brown hair and numerous scars on his upper arms and shoulder and tattoos on his body.

State to Limit Shorter School Class Requests

The State Department of Education reported today that a total of 1,796 pupils attended curtailed sessions at schools in Ulster County in 1960-61 and announced that all superintendents and supervising principals in the State have been notified of the Department's position in respect to approval of curtailing school sessions.

Dr. Walter Crewson, associate commissioner, warned the public school administrators that requests to operate curtailed sessions beyond a three-year period will be targets for very careful scrutiny during the coming school year.

In 12 counties in which curtailed sessions were authorized, including Ulster and Dutchess counties, 90 per cent of the total students, or 75,595 attended school. A total of 3,145 pupils attended curtailed sessions in Dutchess schools.

The Department of Education reported that 783 Catskill pupils out of a total of 8,052 students in 13 Upstate counties on curtailed sessions returned to full sessions during the school year 1960-61.

In his letter to public school administrators, Dr. Crewson again restated the official policy of the Education Department in relation to approving curtailed sessions, as follows:

"The Department advocates a full five-hour day for elementary schools (except that half-day sessions will be approved for kindergartens) and a full five and one-half hour day for secondary schools. Anything less than these minumum schedules will result in serious curtailment of educational services to the children and youth of the State."

Dr. Crewson added, "There are, however, instances in which local school authorities are forced to seek temporary relief pending the construction of new building facilities. In these instances I suggest that every effort be made to relieve the situation by the use of temporary housing which may be found in the community."

6 Drivers Fined $60

Six drivers, charged with speeding, paid $60 in fines Tuesday night in city court.

John Cole, of 58 Meadow Street, charged with lack of an operator's license, was given the choice of paying a fine of $25 or spending 15 days in jail. The fine was not paid.

Fined $10 each were Jerry Miller, 25, of Box 468, East Chester Street Bypass; William N. Bartlett, 53, RD 160; Alice M. Donaby, 26, Stone Ridge; R. R. Henion, Stone Ridge; Esther Carter, Route 5, Box 62, Kingston, and Nina Kirtson, 38, Route 1, Box 386, Kingston.

May 3 Listed By Chamber as NewMemberDay

Final plans for the 1961 membership drive were completed at a breakfast meeting this morning at the Governor Clinton Hotel. May 3 was set as new-member day.

Eight team captains met with Sam Pepper and John W. Egbert, co-chairmen of the drive, to make the plans. Team captains attending were Donald Briggs, Sully Fleming, Paul Jordan, Arthur W. Patterson, Wilbur Peters, Tom Reynolds, W. J. Robertson and William R. Stall.

New-member day was set for Wednesday, May 3. All the captains and workers will meet at a breakfast meeting on this date and visit prospective members during the day.

A goal of 75 new members was established for the 1961-62 fiscal year of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce which starts on May 1.

Aldermen to Meet Merchants About Parking Tonight

Plans for solution of uptown parking problems will be aired tonight by a Common Council committee and the Uptown Business Men's Association in the office of Mayor Edwin F. Radel.

Alderman-at-Large Harold L. Kaye at an April 18 council meeting named the council's finance committee plus two other aldermen to study off-street and other parking problems in all city areas. Because of preliminary progress made, to date, uptown, plans for that area will be discussed first.

Several plans will be presented by Alderman James K. Ryan (D) 10th Ward, council majority leader, who heads the committee.

Mayor Radel said he has been in contact during the past several months with concerns dealing with parking lot equipment and has discussed plans with the city engineer's department. He noted that the "Automobile Club of New York is also carrying on surveys for the city to determine what the parking needs of the community are."

JFK to Expand Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today proposed an expanded program of help for needy college and university students. Kennedy also asked that the loan program be put on a permanent basis instead of allowing it to expire June 30, 1962.

In identical letters to Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson as president of the Senate and House Speaker Sam Rayburn, Kennedy said the National Defense Education Act "has served the nation well" but the "need today to improve and strengthen our education system is still great."

Two from LWV, Cay Conway Talk For Lions Club

Guest speakers at the Lions Club this week were Mrs. Gifford Beal, president and Mrs. Jerry Sachs, vice-president, of the League of Women Voters and Mrs. Louis DiDonna, professionally known as Cay Conway.

Mrs. Beal and Mrs. Sachs spoke on the job which the League of Women Voters is doing in the community. The purpose of the League is to promote political responsibility to the voters.

Also explained by the speakers was the three types of registration in New York State, permanent personal registration which is used by 70 per cent of the state; annual registration which is used in Kingston and the non-personal registration which is used in many of the surrounding communities.

A project for the League this year is to display the City of Kingston charter where everyone may see it.

Mrs. DiDonna gave a general discussioin of radio and of Mary Margaret McBride with whom she is associated. Mrs. DiDonna also covers the Catskill mountain region for NBC monitor.

Masons to Hold Breakfast Sunday

Masonic lodges of Ulster county will hold their annual communion service and breakfast Sunday morning, April 30, at Old Dutch Church at 7 o'clock, daylight saving time.

Immediately after the church service breakfast will be served in Bethany Hall by the Ladies Guild of the church.

Stanley Wakefield of Hastings-on-Hudson will be the speaker at the breakfast, presided over by Frank J. Strobel, past district deputy grand master of the Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

Wakefield is well-known in Masonic circles having been potentate of Mecca Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine of New York City, and Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar, of the State of New York, as well as having held many other important offices. At present he is Grand Master of the Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters of the State of New York.

Ulster Auxiliary Police Prepare For Friday Alert

Helmets and armbands were issued to auxiliary police of the Town of Ulster Civil Defense Council Tuesday evening at the Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

Constable Joseph Lamphere mapped out locations of auxiliary police during the nation-wide public-participation alert from 4 to 4:10 p. m. Friday.

Dominick Brugnolotti, director, said that the town will also have the use of two Civil Air Patrol planes in an air survey during the alert, with their reports on the progress of the alert relayed by radio to Civil Defense headquarters.

All traffic will be stopped and pedestrians must take shelter during the 10-minute period.

Teamsters Announce New Dental Coverage

It was announced today by Theodore G. Daley, secretary treasurer of Local Union 445 that a new dental coverage has been negotiated for more than 1,000 members and their families residing in Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Ulster, Rockland, Orange and Sullivan Counties.

The new Dental Coverage will apply to employes of employers who are contributing equal amounts to that being contributed by employers under the Freight Agreement.

Daley, who is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Welfare Fund, said that this new plan which will take care of the every day needs of the members and their families has been obtained through the Dental Insurance Plan, Inc.

These new dental benefits, which are in addition to already existing broad benefits which include life insurance, loss of time, hospitalization, surgical, medical, X-ray and major medical benefits, are another great step in the progress made in this local union through the unity of the ranks and the cooperation of the employers.

Ulster Hose Sets Fair Aug. 10-12

Plans are under way for the 14th annual fair sponsored by Ulster Hose Company No. 5 on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 10-12, at the firehouse on Albany Avenue Extension.

Paul Werner is general chairman of the fair, Orville Klomps, treasurer, and Ernest Peterson, chairman of the distribution of fair books.

Peterson said approximately 3,000 books have been distributed to members of the company for sale.

Werner told The Freeman today that the annual event looks "very promising."

He said other plans are under consideration, including a fine selection of games, prizes, children's rides and other features.

DR. JOHN SHERWIG

Dr. John M. Sherwig, professor of political sciences at the College of Education in New Paltz, will address the senior seminar students this Saturday. The lecture session will take place in the main building of the college starting at 10 a. m.

Professor Sherwig's topic for the seminar will be "Government by Law vs Government by Man."

Dr. Sherwig graduated from the University of Michigan, and received his doctor's degree from Harvard University in 1948. During his doctoral work, he was a teaching fellow for two years at Harvard. In September, 1948, he joined the New Paltz staff. In 1954 he went abroad to study in Great Britain and do private research. Dr. Sherwig is an ardent students of British history.

During the lecture, Dr. Sherwig will briefly develop the evaluation of constitutional governments. Part of his talk will include examples of specific origins and interpretations which have produced some of our present day concepts of the constitution and government. He will also describe some of the problems of a constitutional government in our present 20th century society.

The seminar program is a joint project of the central schools of the county and the State University of New York College of Education at New Paltz. The Secondary Principal's Council of the Board of Cooperative Educational Services of Ulster county has planned and directed the program.

Near Wage Accord

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees today were reported near agreement on a minimum wage that will be acceptable to President Kennedy.

Leaders of the two delegations refused to go into details. It was learned from other sources, however, that the House side has agreed to many provisions of the much broader version of the bill passed by the Senate.

Rep. Adam C. Powell, D-N.Y., chairman of the conference, said agreement had been reached on about three-fourths of the measure. He said final agreement probably will be announced later this week. The conference meets again today.

The world produced 1,970 trillion cigarettes during 1958.

Restaurant Owner Held for Assault

An 85-year-old Poughkeepsie Chinese restaurant proprietor was arrested early today on a second degree assault charge, accused of cutting another man with a meat cleaver during an argument.

Police said Mark Sing, operator of the New China Restaurant, 235 Main Street, Poughkeepsie, reportedly cut John A. Rinaldi, 47, of 52 South Bridge Street, that city, on the left hand.

Authorities said the incident took place about 3 a. m. The dispute, police said, developed after a quarter dropped to the floor of the restaurant.

Rinaldi was taken to Vassar Hospital, where five sutures were taken to close a laceration. Police said Sing was taken to St. Francis' Hospital and treated for lacerations.

Tree Spraying Is Advised Now for Tent Caterpillar

Now is the time to spray trees for the Eastern tent caterpillar, it was announced today by William Palmer, Ulster County agricultural agent.

Palmer said that the "over-wintering egg masses" are now hatching and should be attacked while the nests are forming. He cautioned against waiting until the nests become large.

The caterpillar attacks almost any shade or fruit tree, with a special fondness for the wild cherry. Last year the elm trees on the Boulevard on the way to the TB Hospital were laden with nests, the caterpillars soon migrating to shade and fruit trees throughout the area.

Palmer suggested that area residents who have the problem should contact a tree expert. If they desire, they can use DDT or lead arsenic, Palmer said, two pounds or 50 per cent wettable powder in 100 gallons of water. If small quantities are desired, mix two tablespoonsfuls in a gallon of water.

Palmer cautioned that insecticides are poisonous and should be stored and handled with care. Those interested in obtaining further information can get bulletins at the extension office, 74 John Street.

Former Resident Reported Missing

A 13-state missing person alarm was sent out Tuesday by Poughkeepsie police in an effort to learn the whereabouts of a former Ulster County man.

Police Chief John L. Martin said Mrs. James Short, Phoenicia, reported her brother, Vernon Grant, 29, missing to Kingston troopers, who notified Poughkeepsie authorities. Grant had been residing in Poughkeepsie.

Martin said Grant is five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, has blue eyes and a ruddy complexion. He is of medium build, has brown hair and numerous scars on his upper arms and shoulder and tattoos on his body.

Israeli Court Hears Words of a Dead Man

Eichmann Couldn't Rest, Obsessed With His Task of Destroying Jews

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was obsessed with his task of destroying Jews and drove himself furiously from country to country in pursuit of it, evidence introduced today in his trial alleged.

"Eichmann was always active. He couldn't rest. He traveled constantly. He said the 'final solution' must be decisive because nobody knows how the war will end."

These were the words of a former colleague of Eichmann, a man now dead.

Notes in Record

They were written by Rudolf Hoess, wartme commander of the great extermination camp at Auschwitz. He was executed in Poland in 1947.

The prosecution succeeded today in putting Hoess' notes into the record. It also introduced as evidence further details about Eichmann from S.S. Maj. Dieter Wisliceny, one of his former aides. Wisliceny also was executed after World War II.

In other developments today—

Arguments broke out over the question of bringing a living witness to the trial—Dr. William Hoettl, former S.S. major, now living in Austria. He is liable to prosecution under an Israeli law that makes membership in the S.S., and other such Nazi organizations, a criminal offense. The question arose as to whether he could be granted safe conduct in Israel.

May Have Spread

Testimony in an affidavit indicated that the "final solution of the Jewish problem"—total extermination—might have been attempted in Palestine as well as Europe, if Germany had won the war. The affidavit, from Wisliceny, described a meeting between Eichmann and the grand mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin el Husseini.

The name of another potential living witness, former S.S. Lt. Col. Walter Huppenkothen, also came into the hearing. The prosecution offered an affidavit from him and Dr. Robert Servatius, chief defense attorney, objected on the ground that Huppenkothen is alive. While the argument continued, Eichmann passed a note to Servatius and the attorney said, "The accused just tells me that Huppenkothen is in West Germany."

Wins Disputed Point

Servatius won a hotly dsputed point regarding a signed photograph of Eichmann. The prosecution had attempted to put it in evidence two days ago. Beside the signature are the words, "S.S. Lt. Col. Adolf Eichmann, retired." Attorney General Gideon Hausner told the court investigation showed the photograph was a copy of one that had appeared in a German pictorial weekly.

Slowly over repeated objections by the defense—and some sharp questioning by the three Israeli judges—Hausner went on filling in the picture of Eichmann through written testimony of his former associates, Wisliceny and Hoess.

Wisliceny listed five primary reasons for what he called Eichmann's "success" in killing millions of Jews.

1. He had the "full confidence" of his superiors, Gestapo chieftains Heinrich Himmler, Reinhard Heydrich and Gen. Heinrich Mueller.

2. He had the power to overrule German authorities in localities where the Jews were rounded up for deportation.

3. He was not hampered by the German Foreign Office. The affidavit said "the Foreign Office always obeyed."

4. The Nazi Transport Ministry always gave Eichmann priority in providing trains.

5. Aides of Eichmann were trained to obey his orders "blindly."

Servatius, objecting to the Wisliceny document, asked the permission of the court to read 10 lines from the statement which Hausner had not read.

In these, Wisliceny wrote:

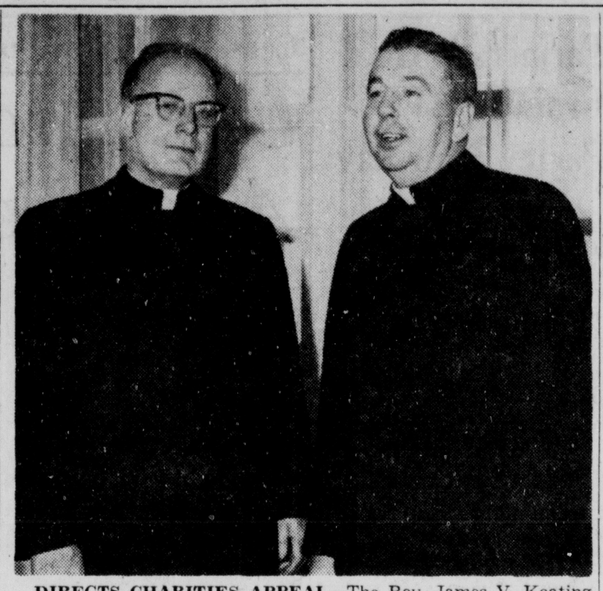
"I am ready and I wish to take part in the search for Eichmann. I would know him in any disguise. I am convinced I could trace him in a few weeks. Therefore, I propose that I be attached to an American Army unit with the special task of tracking him down."

Servatius has argued before that there was bad blood between Eichmann and Wisliceny and that Wisliceny's assessment of Eichmann was made "to save his own skin."

Rarely in Berlin

The attorney asked the judges to take these arguments into consideration in evaluating Wisliceny's words.

But Hoess' notes ran along pretty much the same line. He said Eichmann always had "new plans" and "improvements" for the murder machine. He pictured the former S.S. officer as constantly on the move, and added "he was rarely in Berlin."



DIRECTS CHARITIES APPEAL—The Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, right, district manager for Ulster County who is supervising the 42nd annual fund appeal of New York Catholic Charities, discusses the house-to-house canvass of Catholic families lasting through May 3, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George H. Guilfoyle, executive director of Catholic Charities. The goal of the Catholic Charities appeal this year is $3,325,740 to be raised by the 401 parishes in the archdiocese and by the Special Gifts Division of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity.

Bingo Groups Say False Data Is Given

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Investigation Commission has heard admissions by representatives of three bingo-sponsoring groups that they filed false financial statements about operations of the game.

The admissions were made Tuesday at a public hearing by representatives of the Fiorello H. LaGuardia post of the Disabled American Veterans, Garrison 94 of the Army and Navy Union, and Temple B'nai Israel, all of Manhattan.

The session was the first of five in which the commission says it hopes to prove that gamblers have gotten a foothold in many veterans, civic and religious groups to achieve "ill-gotten ends."

Witnesses testified they had been involved with games run by a convicted swindler and professional gambler, William P. Buckner, who they said had urged them to falsify reports.

They said they paid excessive rents and employes' salaries, under-estimated the gambling receipts and paid to transport players to the bingo games—all violations of the regulations of the State Lottery Control Commission and the city Department of Licenses.

Morgan Trust Co. Holding Company Bill Is Signed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Morgan Guarantee Trust Co. of New York had legislative permission today to form a statewide holding company by merging with six other banks.

The holding-company proposal, similar in structure to the Marine Midland Trust Co., still must be approved or rejected by the State Banking Department, State Banking Board, Federal Reserve Board and the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency.

Gov. Rockefeller signed legislation that cleared the way for the formation of the holding company.

Morgan Guarantee would be the largest unit of the proposed Morgan-New York State Corp., which would have total resources of more than $6 billion.

The institution, would be the fourth largest bank in the nation and third largest in the state and would absorb these other banks: Manufacturers and Traders of Buffalo, Lincoln-Rochester of Rochester, National Commercial Bank and Trust of Albany, First Trust and Deposit of Syracuse, Oneida National of Utica and First-City National of Binghamton.

The proposed holding company would have headquarters in Albany and 149 branches throughout the state.

The merger plans call for completion of the holding company this year.

The legislation approved by Rockefeller was separate from the omnibus banking bill, which also provides for the formation of bank holding companies.

The amendment was needed to allow a statewide merger. The omnibus bill sanctioned a district-by-district procedure.

Backers of the legislation said that the procedure under the omnibus bill was time-consuming and would involve the setting up of a banking corporation in each banking district of the state and a step-by-step merger of them to form the proposed Morgan-New York State Corp.

To Open Bids on Bonds

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The New York State Electric & Gas Corp. expects to open bids May 16 on $25 million in first-mortgage bonds.

The Public Service Commission Tuesday authorized the issuance of the bonds by the utility, which serves all or part of 43 Upstate counties. The bond proceeds will be used for expansion, the company said.

Israeli Court Hears Words of a Dead Man

Eichmann Couldn't Rest, Obsessed With His Task of Destroying Jews

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann was obsessed with his task of destroying Jews and drove himself furiously from country to country in pursuit of it, evidence introduced today in his trial alleged.

"Eichmann was always active. He couldn't rest. He traveled constantly. He said the 'final solution' must be decisive because nobody knows how the war will end."

These were the words of a former colleague of Eichmann, a man now dead.

Notes in Record

They were written by Rudolf Hoess, wartme commander of the great extermination camp at Auschwitz. He was executed in Poland in 1947.

The prosecution succeeded today in putting Hoess' notes into the record. It also introduced as evidence further details about Eichmann from S.S. Maj. Dieter Wisliceny, one of his former aides. Wisliceny also was executed after World War II.

In other developments today—

Arguments broke out over the question of bringing a living witness to the trial—Dr. William Hoettl, former S.S. major, now living in Austria. He is liable to prosecution under an Israeli law that makes membership in the S.S., and other such Nazi organizations, a criminal offense. The question arose as to whether he could be granted safe conduct in Israel.

May Have Spread

Testimony in an affidavit indicated that the "final solution of the Jewish problem"—total extermination—might have been attempted in Palestine as well as Europe, if Germany had won the war. The affidavit, from Wisliceny, described a meeting between Eichmann and the grand mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin el Husseini.

The name of another potential living witness, former S.S. Lt. Col. Walter Huppenkothen, also came into the hearing. The prosecution offered an affidavit from him and Dr. Robert Servatius, chief defense attorney, objected on the ground that Huppenkothen is alive. While the argument continued, Eichmann passed a note to Servatius and the attorney said, "The accused just tells me that Huppenkothen is in West Germany."

Wins Disputed Point

Servatius won a hotly dsputed point regarding a signed photograph of Eichmann. The prosecution had attempted to put it in evidence two days ago. Beside the signature are the words, "S.S. Lt. Col. Adolf Eichmann, retired." Attorney General Gideon Hausner told the court investigation showed the photograph was a copy of one that had appeared in a German pictorial weekly.

Slowly over repeated objections by the defense—and some sharp questioning by the three Israeli judges—Hausner went on filling in the picture of Eichmann through written testimony of his former associates, Wisliceny and Hoess.

Wisliceny listed five primary reasons for what he called Eichmann's "success" in killing millions of Jews.

1. He had the "full confidence" of his superiors, Gestapo chieftains Heinrich Himmler, Reinhard Heydrich and Gen. Heinrich Mueller.

2. He had the power to overrule German authorities in localities where the Jews were rounded up for deportation.

3. He was not hampered by the German Foreign Office. The affidavit said "the Foreign Office always obeyed."

4. The Nazi Transport Ministry always gave Eichmann priority in providing trains.

5. Aides of Eichmann were trained to obey his orders "blindly."

Servatius, objecting to the Wisliceny document, asked the permission of the court to read 10 lines from the statement which Hausner had not read.

In these, Wisliceny wrote:

"I am ready and I wish to take part in the search for Eichmann. I would know him in any disguise. I am convinced I could trace him in a few weeks. Therefore, I propose that I be attached to an American Army unit with the special task of tracking him down."

Servatius has argued before that there was bad blood between Eichmann and Wisliceny and that Wisliceny's assessment of Eichmann was made "to save his own skin."

Rarely in Berlin

The attorney asked the judges to take these arguments into consideration in evaluating Wisliceny's words.

But Hoess' notes ran along pretty much the same line. He said Eichmann always had "new plans" and "improvements" for the murder machine. He pictured the former S.S. officer as constantly on the move, and added "he was rarely in Berlin."

DIRECTS CHARITIES APPEAL—The Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, right, district manager for Ulster County who is supervising the 42nd annual fund appeal of New York Catholic Charities, discusses the house-to-house canvass of Catholic families lasting through May 3, with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. George H. Guilfoyle, executive director of Catholic Charities. The goal of the Catholic Charities appeal this year is $3,325,740 to be raised by the 401 parishes in the archdiocese and by the Special Gifts Division of the Cardinal's Committee of the Laity.

Bingo Groups Say False Data Is Given

NEW YORK (AP) — The State Investigation Commission has heard admissions by representatives of three bingo-sponsoring groups that they filed false financial statements about operations of the game.

The admissions were made Tuesday at a public hearing by representatives of the Fiorello H. LaGuardia post of the Disabled American Veterans, Garrison 94 of the Army and Navy Union, and Temple B'nai Israel, all of Manhattan.

The session was the first of five in which the commission says it hopes to prove that gamblers have gotten a foothold in many veterans, civic and religious groups to achieve "ill-gotten ends."

Witnesses testified they had been involved with games run by a convicted swindler and professional gambler, William P. Buckner, who they said had urged them to falsify reports.

They said they paid excessive rents and employes' salaries, under-estimated the gambling receipts and paid to transport players to the bingo games—all violations of the regulations of the State Lottery Control Commission and the city Department of Licenses.

Tshombe Seized By Congo Troops

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was arrested here today by soldiers of the Congolese central government as he was on his way to his plane to leave Coquilhatville for home.

Tshombe had walked out on a conference Tuesday of anti-Communist Congolese leaders in this capital of Equator Province, charging President Joseph Kasavubu of the central government had sold out to the United Nations.

20 Surround Party

Today 20 Congolese soldiers surrounded Tshombe's party in the Coquilhatville terminal building. A Leopoldville security officer prevented all civilians from entering the building and ordered passengers waiting at the airport to return to town.

Small groups of solders were stopping all cars and rounding up Congolese and European members of Tshombe's party.

Tshombe, his foreign minister, Evariste Kimba, and two other civilians were surrounded by soldiers when they started to leave the terminal building to board their plane.

Others in the Tshombe motorcade were turned back from the airport.

The conference that Tshombe left was a meeting of all Congo factions except that headed by Antoine Gizenga.

May Doom Confederation

Tshombe's chief complaint was an agreement Kasavubu reached with the U.N. Command calling for immediate withdrawal from the Congo of all foreign advisers not under the central government's authority.

Belgian advisers are prominent in Katanga's government and Belgian and other white mercenaries serve in Tshombe's Katanga army.

Last month Tshombe and the Congo's other anti-Communist leaders agreed in principle to a confederation of Congolese states. But Tshombe's walkout appeared to doom such a confederation.

Paltz Motorist To Face Charge

A 40-year-old New Paltz woman is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace George Harrington, Town of Rhinebeck, Friday on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal as the result of a collision which occurred Tuesday at Routes 9 and 9G, Rhinebeck.

State police said a car operated by Norma Virginia Eill, of 58 Main Street, New Paltz, was involved in a collision with a 1956 van truck operated by Earl Roy Decker Sr., 33, of 82 Academy Street, Poughkeepsie.

Decker's son, Earl Roy, 3, a passenger in the truck was admitted to Northern Dutchess Health Center, with a fractured collarbone and a head injury, authorities said.

Badges Awarded 3 Den 2 Scouts

Cub Scout Pack 4 held a regular monthly meeting on Monday, April 24, at the Fair Street Refomed Church. The opening ceremony, the Salute to the Flag and the Cub Scout Promise, was presented by Cub Scout John Ellis, Cubmaster John F. Burns, III, then presented the following awards:

John Walker, Gold Arrow on Wolf badge, in the presence of his mother, Mrs. John Walker. Wayne Leedecke received Bear badge in the presence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Leedecke. David Miller received Lion badge in presence of his mother, Mrs. Leroy Miller. Walter Witowski, who was not present, earned his Webelos badge. These boys are from Den 2, Mrs. William Boyle, Den Mother.

Cubmaster Burns led the group in singing Cub Scout songs. Following this Mrs. Boyle and her Cub Scouts presented a most entertaining puppet show entitled, "Destination Moon."

On Saturday, April 29 from 2 to 5 p. m. the Kingston Jay-Cees are putting on an exhibition and show concerning missiles. This will be held in back of the Kingston high school. All Cub Scouts are invited. On Saturday, May 13, The Bronx House Museum, 10 mies north of Catskill, is having open house to all Scouts from 10 a. m. throughout the day. Scouts can bring their luncheon and hunt for arrowheads.

On Monday May 15, there will be a round table meeting at the Tillson Firehouse. On Wednesday May 17, the committee will meet at Cubmaster Burns' home, 148 Henry Street. Next meeting of Pack 4 will be on Monday May 22 at Lawton Park. In case of rain it will be at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Lion-Webelos-Dad night will be held July 1 and 2 at Camp Tri-Mount. Cub Day at camp is on August 12. Trips for June, July and August are being planned for the group.

In conjunction with the theme for this month "Airplanes," the boys displayed their collections of airplanes, pictures that they drew themselves and books of pictures they collected. The closing ceremony, the Law of the Pack, was presented by Alan DeForest and Peter Boyle.

Regional C of C Elects Officers

GOSHEN, N. Y. (AP)—A Regional Chamber of Commerce Council has been formed to handle mutual problems and planning in a seven-county area in three states.

Charles E. Wolfe, president of the Middletown Chamber of Commerce, was chosen as chairman of the regional group at the organization meeting here Tuesday night.

The counties embraced are Orange, Sullivan, Ulster and Rockland in New York; Passaic and Sussex in New Jersey, and Pike in Pennsylvania.

Ralph Fredericks, general manager of the Port Jervis Union-Gazette and a director of the Port Jervis Chamber of Commerce, was named secretary.

The next council meeting will be held in Goshen May 16.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A continued stock market rally early this afternoon more than erased the remainder of the losses taken in the sharp Monday setback. Trading was heavy.

The Associated Press average of 6 0stocks at noon was up 1.30 at 243.50 with industrials up 1.70, rails up .70 and utilities up .90.

Key stocks throughout the list rose from fractions to well over a point. More volatile issues among electronics and other speculative fields ran up several points.

High-priced International Business Machines was a 10-point gainer.

Polaroid was up about half a dozen points, Varian Associates more than 3.

Gains of 2 points or better were made by Lionel, Magnavox, Zenith, Philadelphia & Reading, Brunswick, American Machine & Foundry and Tractor Supply.

American Tobacco fell around a point. DuPont and Goodyear were fractional losers.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.66 at 684.75.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds advanced.

Farmers to Hold Grain Sign-Up Parley Thursday

The sign-up of farmers in the 1961 feed grain program is expected to begin this week in Ulster County, it has been announced by Edward M. Wood, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

An informational sign-up meeting will be held at the Accord Grange Hall, Accord, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, it was reported. Corn producers who are interested in taking part in the feed grain program are asked to attend the meeting or get in touch with the County ASC office, 54 John Street.

The program is voluntary and provides payments to husking and silage corn producers who divert a portion of the acreage, formerly planted to these crops, to an approved conservation use.

The average county rate is $35.90 per acre for reducing such acreage, a minimum of 20 per cent below the base 1959-60 average. Individual farm rates may be higher or lower depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average, he said. A higher rate will apply for reducing corn acreage from 20 to 40 per cent below the base.

Wood said that corn producers must cooperate in the 1961 feed grain program in order to be eligible for price support on the normal production of this year's corn acreage as well as for support on any of their other 1961 feed crops—barley, oats and rye.

Acreage diverted under the feed grain program must be put to an approved conservation use and it must represent an additional amount over the farm's average acreage devoted to a conservation use in 1959 and 1960. The diverted acres may not be grazed and a crop must not be harvested from them.

In addition, weeds, rodents and insects must be controlled on the acreage, as directed by the county committee. Where applications are made in advance and program funds are still available farmers my receive ACP cost-sharing in installing the conservation-use practice on the land.

O'Connor Feted Monday Night by Rosendale Grange

Joseph E. O'Connor, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. O'Connor, were honored Monday night by the Rosendale Grange, of which O'Connor has been a member for the past 30 years.

A cake marked "Congratulations, Joe," was presented to O'Connor by Henry Mollenhauer of the Grange.

O'Connor was honored for his many years of service to the Grange, and his recent election as president of the Kingston Chamber.

O'Connor addressed the meeting of Grange members, describing opportunities in Ulster County and its recent and anticipated growth and invited members of the Grange to visit the Chamber offices in the Governor Clinton Hotel which, he said, was always available to be of any assistance it could.

Special guests Monday night were Joseph Bianco, Mrs. John Stanton, Miss Katherine Huben, Mrs. Frank Murphy, Mrs. Stephen Huben, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brodsky and Attorney Curran.

Cease-Fire Plan Doubted Before May 12

U.S. Increases Laos Airlift As Rebels Launch New Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — The United States stepped up its airlift of arms and supplies to pro-Western Laotian government troops today as pro-Communist rebels reportedly launched fresh attacks despite agreement to negotiate a cease-fire.

A government communique said the situation was "grave with enemy attacks on all fronts."

More Supplies Rushed

Six huge American C130 turboprop transports were rushing more supplies here from the Philippines in a new airlift labeled "Operation Hot shot."

Informed sources said two dozen service personnel were flown in Tuesday to handle the transports, which carry four times the load of the chartered C46s that have been ferrying U.S. aid to the pro-Western army.

Western sources in Vientiane doubt that a cease-fire can be arranged and a coalition Laotian government formed before the May 12 target date for the opening of the Geneva conference to chart the Southeast Asian kingdom's future.

The three-nation commission assigned to supervise the truce—India, Canada and Poland—is to hold its first meeting in New Delhi Friday.

The British, who with the Soviets are making the arrangements for the Geneva talks, say no Laotian delegation will be seated until the country's warring factions reach an agreement on a government acceptable to all sides. The United States says it will not attend the conference until a cease-fire is operating.

Calls Self Premier

Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist Laotian leader in self-imposed exile, is challenging pro-Western Premier Boun Oum for the government leadership. Souvanna Phouma, backed by the Communist bloc, called himself premier in a statement Tuesday welcoming the joint British-Soviet cease-fire proposal.

Capt. Kong Le, whose military coup last summer made Souvanna Phouma premier for a tme, called himself "commander in chief of the armed forces of the kingdom of Laos" in a statement Tuesday. Kong Le and forces loyal to him now are with the Pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

The Boun Oum government's commander is Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, one of Laos' most determined right-wing anti-Communists.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, also must be considered in setting up a coalition regime.

Souvanna Phouma has suggested cease-fire talks begin April 28 in Xieng Khouang, the headquarters of the rebel government set up after he fled into exile.

Boun Oum's government wants the talks held in the royal capital, Luang Prabang, or some other place controlled by Vientiane forces.

Paris Doubts

collapse of their revolt. A convoy of trucks and autos, guarded by some of the paratroopers who had spearheaded the rebellion, took them and some 35 of their top followers to an unknown destination.

Roadblocks Set Up

While civilian and military authorities made prisoners by the insurgents in their predawn coup last Saturday resumed control of their offices in Algiers, gendarmes and troops set up roadblocks on main highways. Search planes roared into the Algerian skies at dawn.

The fleeing generals left behind them despairing and bewildered French settlers of the North African metropolis who had supported their effort to overthrow De Gaulle and keep Algeria forever French.

In addition to trials of the generals and four colonels charged with key roles in the revolt, military courts presumably will also judge the soldiers who joined in the revolt, particularly the paratroopers who were the rebellious officers' strongest arm.

It was not known if any action was planned against their civilian supporters.

The rebellion, second such defiance of De Gaulle in Algeria in 15 months, collapsed with spectacular suddenness late Tuesday night. One moment the military junta was urging the anti-Gaullist French of Algiers to fight to the death. Soon after they were driving off into the darkness in trucks loaded with paratroopers.

The climactic scene of the short-lived rising occurred in the vast forum in the heart of the city.

Knew Game Was Up

A crowd of 50,000 French settlers gathered there as rumors spread through the city that forces loyal to De Gaulle were preparing to retake Algiers.

Inside government headquarters Challe, Salan, Zeller and Jouhaud listened with sullen despair as the bad news poured in.

Mobile gendarmes, loyal to De Gaulle and supported by tanks, were approaching the city. Oran and Constantine, once in insurgent hands, had surrendered to government forces earlier in the day.

The game was up and the generals, professional soldiers, knew it.

Challe and Salan attempted one last gesture. They went to a balcony overlooking the forum, the same balcony from which Challe Monday told a cheering crowd of 100,000 his forces would fight to the death to keep Algeria French.

Challe looked down on the angry mob and tried to speak as the first shots rang out from clashes between mutinous paratroopers and loyal gendarmes. But the microphone was dead and his words were lost in the tumult of wild shouting from the crowd.

Challe, Salan and Jouhaud left the government building and climbed into trucks loaded with their paratroop followers. Zeller left in an auto. All but Challe were broken men. Challe laughed and puffed his pipe.

Newsmen asked if he planned to surrender. Challe chuckled and said "no." It was his only comment.

Challe Changes Mind

Earlier in the day Challe had sent a letter of surrender to De Gaulle placing himself "at the disposal of the government." Apparently he changed his mind.

The gendarmes mopped up the few pockets of resistance in Algiers, herded the population indoors and took away the arms of civilians they met on the streets.

In Paris, the lights went out at 2 a.m. in the Elysee Palace. The 70-year-old president of France had gone to bed, once more the victor in a situation that threatened France with civil war.

De Gaulle, who assumed extraordinary powers to crush the uprising, issued orders to the loyal troops in Algeria to shoot if necessary to restore government control.

But little fighting was necessary. The navy and air force already had rejected the rebellion.

Remodeled Bank

provide complete and convenient service, the new building climaxes an almost century-old series of progressive achievements designed to keep pace with the area in which it is located.

Chartered as a mutual savings bank April 23, 1874, the bank opened June 29 that year in the Cordts buildings, 293 Wall Street. It was moved in 1885 to the lower floor of the Argus building, adjoining the court house on the south, and moved to its own facility in 1900, designed specifically for banking purposes.

Early to Predict Stocks To Benefit From Pay-TV

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I strongly believe that eventually we will get Pay-TV. I want to buy stock in this field, so could you tell me which company in your estimation will wind up with the plum" D. I.

A) I agree with you that Pay-TV is beginning to shape up as a field to watch closely in 1961.

A show-down struggle between the rival Pay-TV systems is building up rapidly. As I see it, the two principal advocates of wired Pay-TV are Paramount (NYSE) through its subsidiary International Telemeter — and Telepromprter (ASE). These wired systems plan to tie in with the Bell Telephone lines.

Broadcast Pay-TV, which uses no lines in its subscription telecasts, is being promoted by Zenith (NYSE). The latter system will be tested this spring in Hartford, Conn., by RKO General.

There seems to be little doubt that the whole field of Pay-TV is approaching a breakthrough point. Some industry people I have talked with are optimistic and feel that the turning point will come by the end of the year. When it does, some stocks will benefit. At this date I can't guess which stock will get the plum. There may be several. I suggest you buy Zenith, which is an excellent stock to own—wholly regardless of the Pay-TV outcome.

Q) "Will you advise me what to do with Charles Pfizer, bought at 26? Should I take my profit and re-invest in Interstate Power?" B. D.

A) I would hold Pfizer. The shares have acted extremely well in a so-so pharmaceutical group, and I believe they can break through their previous all-time high of 45¼ set in 1959. Back of the rise have been better earnings and considerable interest in the new oral polio vaccine. Interstate Power is a secure stock, which I like mainly for income. If income is important to you, I would switch; otherwise, keep your Pfizer.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Will Castroites

determined U. S. anti-Castro policy.

Talk With Rockefeller

The latest evidence of this support came Tuesday from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican party leader, who had just conferred with Kennedy for an hour.

"I think it is time for all Americans to stand united behind the President in support of whatever action becomes necessary to defend freedom," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller expressed the view that in the presence of Castro in Cuba, considered in the light of world developments generally, has threatened the security of the United States.

Strengthens Statement

His view appeared to give fresh meaning to a statement which Kennedy made in a speech last Thursday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He said then that if the inter-American doctrine of non-interference in the internal affairs of another country became merely an excuse for lack of action, the United States government "will not hesitate" to protect the security "of our own nation."

Prior to his meeting with Rockefeller, Kennedy had conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Eisenhower said the country should support the President, who has the responsibility for determining policy. Nixon, in advance of his White House call last week, also had spoken of supporting the President.

Words of backing also were relayed from former President Harry S. Truman, Eisenhower's Democratic predecessor, by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. After meeting with Truman in Kansas City Tuesday Johnson said Truman supports a "course of courage" in the handling of world crises.

IBM to Continue

terested in attracting industry away from New York State."

Obvious Reference

He was obviously referring to Gore, member of the Senate Finance Committee, who had called on IBM shareholders to vote down the scheme. Gore charged it was "a tax avoidance device."

Gore said stock options, which permit executives of a company to buy stock at a fixed price despite any increase in value and to pay only a 25 per cent capital gains tax when they sell, allow the executives "to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpaying public and particularly at the expense of their own stockholders."

The stockholders' reply was to approve continuance of the stock option plan by a vote of 15,671,209 to 225,556.

4,700 in Attendance

About 4,700 stockholders heard the company's president, Thomas J. Watson Jr., defend the stock option plan as having done "great good" for the company by keeping key executives "despite attractive competitive offers."

Gore, who recently introduced a bill aimed at curbing stock options, said that with tax savings a similar plan approved in 1956 could mean a profit of $4.5 millions for Watson himself.

GE Gets Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Electric Co. today was awarded an $8,007,798 Reclamation Bureau contract for manufacture in its Schenectady, N. Y., plant of eight generators for the Glen Canyon powerplant in Arizona.

Union Critical

tive campaign to discredit the whole business community by "villifying" GE and to "soften up our position on bargaining."

It was hard to see, Cordiner said, how gain could come to anybody from the IUE effort, least of all to those dependant on the company's prosperity for jobs.

At a news conference Tuesday night, Carey accused Cordiner of "mismanagement" and defended the union's resolve to focus its fire on GE rather than all the convicted companies.

Carey wrote off Westinghouse Electric Corp., second to GE in manufacture of electrical goods, as a "willing junior partner."

"If we could stop this practice in GE, we'd stop it in the industry," he said.

The IUE struck GE last fall in a dispute mainly over wages, but the walkout collapsed after three weeks.

Other clouds overhung the company gathering, including a slide in first-quarter earnings. Profits dropped to $42,476,000 from $52,614,000 in the January-March period of 1960.

Carey Asks Outside Probe

Multi-million dollar damage suits growing out of the anti-trust case were piling up and others threatened. The government claimed overcharges to the Tennessee Valley Authority and other federal agencies.

A quarterly survey disclosed a first-quarter selloff by leading mutual funds of GE shares, which traded yesterday on the New York Stock Exchange at just under $62, compared with $90-plus a few months ago.

Formally put to stockholders by Carey was a proposal for an outside investigation of top management's role in the price-fixing case.

The union leader also called for firing of any GE officers convicted of anti-trust infractions, civil damage suits against culpable individuals and recapture of incentive compensation paid them.

Operation . . .

5 p. m. there will be a program at the high school lot which will include a union band concert under the direction of Marlin E. Morrette; a Civil Air Patrol exhibition; an active amateur radio station in operation, a model fallout shelter. A self-propelled gun from the local National Guard unit will be on display.

During the afternoon there will be a continuous showing of movies by use of a sheltered screen, "Radiation and Its Effects," and "Fallout Shelter."

The program Operation Survival is sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

On its movements through Kingston a police escort has been arranged to move the big 65-foot missile.

At 2 p. m. Saturday the Air Force will fly several planes over the city. The flight will include three T-33 Jet Trainers, three jet Fighters, three C-119 cargo planes and three B-57 supersonic bombers.

After the display Saturday the missile will be returned to its base at Orangeburg.

The Nike-Ajax was the nation's first combat-ready surface-to-air guided missile. This supersonic missile has a range of 25 miles and can destroy targets at altitudes which surpass the ceiling of today's bomber aircraft.

With its booster, Nike-Ajax weighs slightly more than a ton and is 33 feet long. The Ajax missile itself is 20 feet long and a foot in diameter. Missiles are kept ready for use in underground concerete storage boxes and can be elevated into firing positions quickly. The missile finds its target in seconds and if by chance the first missile misses its target a second can be launched immediately.

Tshombe Seized By Congo Troops

COQUILHATVILLE, the Congo (AP) — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was arrested here today by soldiers of the Congolese central government as he was on his way to his plane to leave Coquilhatville for home.

Tshombe had walked out on a conference Tuesday of anti-Communist Congolese leaders in this capital of Equator Province, charging President Joseph Kasavubu of the central government had sold out to the United Nations.

20 Surround Party

Today 20 Congolese soldiers surrounded Tshombe's party in the Coquilhatville terminal building. A Leopoldville security officer prevented all civilians from entering the building and ordered passengers waiting at the airport to return to town.

Small groups of solders were stopping all cars and rounding up Congolese and European members of Tshombe's party.

Tshombe, his foreign minister, Evariste Kimba, and two other civilians were surrounded by soldiers when they started to leave the terminal building to board their plane.

Others in the Tshombe motorcade were turned back from the airport.

The conference that Tshombe left was a meeting of all Congo factions except that headed by Antoine Gizenga.

May Doom Confederation

Tshombe's chief complaint was an agreement Kasavubu reached with the U.N. Command calling for immediate withdrawal from the Congo of all foreign advisers not under the central government's authority.

Belgian advisers are prominent in Katanga's government and Belgian and other white mercenaries serve in Tshombe's Katanga army.

Last month Tshombe and the Congo's other anti-Communist leaders agreed in principle to a confederation of Congolese states. But Tshombe's walkout appeared to doom such a confederation.

Paltz Motorist To Face Charge

A 40-year-old New Paltz woman is scheduled to appear before Justice of the Peace George Harrington, Town of Rhinebeck, Friday on a charge of disobeying a traffic signal as the result of a collision which occurred Tuesday at Routes 9 and 9G, Rhinebeck.

State police said a car operated by Norma Virginia Eill, of 58 Main Street, New Paltz, was involved in a collision with a 1956 van truck operated by Earl Roy Decker Sr., 33, of 82 Academy Street, Poughkeepsie.

Decker's son, Earl Roy, 3, a passenger in the truck was admitted to Northern Dutchess Health Center, with a fractured collarbone and a head injury, authorities said.

Badges Awarded 3 Den 2 Scouts

Cub Scout Pack 4 held a regular monthly meeting on Monday, April 24, at the Fair Street Reformed Church. The opening ceremony, the Salute to the Flag and the Cub Scout Promise, was presented by Cub Scout John Ellis, Cubmaster John F. Burns, III, then presented the following awards:

John Walker, Gold Arrow on Wolf badge, in the presence of his mother, Mrs. John Walker. Wayne Leedecke received Bear badge in the presence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Leedecke. David Miller received Lion badge in presence of his mother, Mrs. Leroy Miller. Walter Witowski, who was not present, earned his Webelos badge. These boys are from Den 2, Mrs. William Boyle, Den Mother.

Cubmaster Burns led the group in singing Cub Scout songs. Following this Mrs. Boyle and her Cub Scouts presented a most entertaining puppet show entitled, "Destination Moon."

On Saturday, April 29 from 2 to 5 p. m. the Kingston Jay-Cees are putting on an exhibition and show concerning missiles. This will be held in back of the Kingston high school. All Cub Scouts are invited. On Saturday, May 13, The Bronx House Museum, 10 mies north of Catskill, is having open house to all Scouts from 10 a. m. throughout the day. Scouts can bring their luncheon and hunt for arrowheads.

On Monday May 15, there will be a round table meeting at the Tillson Firehouse. On Wednesday May 17, the committee will meet at Cubmaster Burns' home, 148 Henry Street. Next meeting of Pack 4 will be on Monday May 22 at Lawton Park. In case of rain it will be at the Fair Street Reformed Church. Lion-Webelos-Dad night will be held July 1 and 2 at Camp Tri-Mount. Cub Day at camp is on August 12. Trips for June, July and August are being planned for the group.

In conjunction with the theme for this month "Airplanes," the boys displayed their collections of airplanes, pictures that they drew themselves and books of pictures they collected. The closing ceremony, the Law of the Pack, was presented by Alan DeForest and Peter Boyle.

Farmers to Hold Grain Sign-Up Parley Thursday

The sign-up of farmers in the 1961 feed grain program is expected to begin this week in Ulster County, it has been announced by Edward M. Wood, chairman of the Ulster County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

An informational sign-up meeting will be held at the Accord Grange Hall, Accord, at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, it was reported. Corn producers who are interested in taking part in the feed grain program are asked to attend the meeting or get in touch with the County ASC office, 54 John Street.

The program is voluntary and provides payments to husking and silage corn producers who divert a portion of the acreage, formerly planted to these crops, to an approved conservation use.

The average county rate is $35.90 per acre for reducing such acreage, a minimum of 20 per cent below the base 1959-60 average. Individual farm rates may be higher or lower depending on the farm's productivity in relation to the county average, he said. A higher rate will apply for reducing corn acreage from 20 to 40 per cent below the base.

Wood said that corn producers must cooperate in the 1961 feed grain program in order to be eligible for price support on the normal production of this year's corn acreage as well as for support on any of their other 1961 feed crops—barley, oats and rye.

Acreage diverted under the feed grain program must be put to an approved conservation use and it must represent an additional amount over the farm's average acreage devoted to a conservation use in 1959 and 1960. The diverted acres may not be grazed and a crop must not be harvested from them.

In addition, weeds, rodents and insects must be controlled on the acreage, as directed by the county committee. Where applications are made in advance and program funds are still available farmers my receive ACP cost-sharing in installing the conservation-use practice on the land.

O'Connor Feted Monday Night by Rosendale Grange

Joseph E. O'Connor, president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce and Mrs. O'Connor, were honored Monday night by the Rosendale Grange, of which O'Connor has been a member for the past 30 years.

A cake marked "Congratulations, Joe," was presented to O'Connor by Henry Mollenhauer of the Grange.

O'Connor was honored for his many years of service to the Grange, and his recent election as president of the Kingston Chamber.

O'Connor addressed the meeting of Grange members, describing opportunities in Ulster County and its recent and anticipated growth and invited members of the Grange to visit the Chamber offices in the Governor Clinton Hotel which, he said, was always available to be of any assistance it could.

Special guests Monday night were Joseph Bianco, Mrs. John Stanton, Miss Katherine Huben, Mrs. Frank Murphy, Mrs. Stephen Huben, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brodsky and Attorney Curran.

Cease-Fire Plan Doubted Before May 12

U.S. Increases Laos Airlift As Rebels Launch New Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — The United States stepped up its airlift of arms and supplies to pro-Western Laotian government troops today as pro-Communist rebels reportedly launched fresh attacks despite agreement to negotiate a cease-fire.

A government communique said the situation was "grave with enemy attacks on all fronts."

More Supplies Rushed

Six huge American C130 turboprop transports were rushing more supplies here from the Philippines in a new airlift labeled "Operation Hot shot."

Informed sources said two dozen service personnel were flown in Tuesday to handle the transports, which carry four times the load of the chartered C46s that have been ferrying U.S. aid to the pro-Western army.

Western sources in Vientiane doubt that a cease-fire can be arranged and a coalition Laotian government formed before the May 12 target date for the opening of the Geneva conference to chart the Southeast Asian kingdom's future.

The three-nation commission assigned to supervise the truce—India, Canada and Poland—is to hold its first meeting in New Delhi Friday.

The British, who with the Soviets are making the arrangements for the Geneva talks, say no Laotian delegation will be seated until the country's warring factions reach an agreement on a government acceptable to all sides. The United States says it will not attend the conference until a cease-fire is operating.

Calls Self Premier

Prince Souvanna Phouma, neutralist Laotian leader in self-imposed exile, is challenging pro-Western Premier Boun Oum for the government leadership. Souvanna Phouma, backed by the Communist bloc, called himself premier in a statement Tuesday welcoming the joint British-Soviet cease-fire proposal.

Capt. Kong Le, whose military coup last summer made Souvanna Phouma premier for a tme, called himself "commander in chief of the armed forces of the kingdom of Laos" in a statement Tuesday. Kong Le and forces loyal to him now are with the Pro-Communist Pathet Lao rebels.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, also must be considered in setting up a coalition regime.

Souvanna Phouma has suggested cease-fire talks begin April 28 in Xieng Khouang, the headquarters of the rebel government set up after he fled into exile.

Boun Oum's government wants the talks held in the royal capital, Luang Prabang, or some other place controlled by Vientiane forces.

Paris Doubts

collapse of their revolt. A convoy of trucks and autos, guarded by some of the paratroopers who had spearheaded the rebellion, took them and some 35 of their top followers to an unknown destination.

Roadblocks Set Up

While civilian and military authorities made prisoners by the insurgents in their predawn coup last Saturday resumed control of their offices in Algiers, gendarmes and troops set up roadblocks on main highways. Search planes roared into the Algerian skies at dawn.

The fleeing generals left behind them despairing and bewildered French settlers of the North African metropolis who had supported their effort to overthrow De Gaulle and keep Algeria forever French.

In addition to trials of the generals and four colonels charged with key roles in the revolt, military courts presumably will also judge the soldiers who joined in the revolt, particularly the paratroopers who were the rebellious officers' strongest arm.

It was not known if any action was planned against their civilian supporters.

The rebellion, second such defiance of De Gaulle in Algeria in 15 months, collapsed with spectacular suddenness late Tuesday night. One moment the military junta was urging the anti-Gaullist French of Algiers to fight to the death. Soon after they were driving off into the darkness in trucks loaded with paratroopers.

The climactic scene of the short-lived rising occurred in the vast forum in the heart of the city.

Knew Game Was Up

A crowd of 50,000 French settlers gathered there as rumors spread through the city that forces loyal to De Gaulle were preparing to retake Algiers.

Inside government headquarters Challe, Salan, Zeller and Jouhaud listened with sullen despair as the bad news poured in.

Mobile gendarmes, loyal to De Gaulle and supported by tanks, were approaching the city. Oran and Constantine, once in insurgent hands, had surrendered to government forces earlier in the day.

The game was up and the generals, professional soldiers, knew it.

Challe and Salan attempted one last gesture. They went to a balcony overlooking the forum, the same balcony from which Challe Monday told a cheering crowd of 100,000 his forces would fight to the death to keep Algeria French.

Challe looked down on the angry mob and tried to speak as the first shots rang out from clashes between mutinous paratroopers and loyal gendarmes. But the microphone was dead and his words were lost in the tumult of wild shouting from the crowd.

Challe, Salan and Jouhaud left the government building and climbed into trucks loaded with their paratroop followers. Zeller left in an auto. All but Challe were broken men. Challe laughed and puffed his pipe.

Newsmen asked if he planned to surrender. Challe chuckled and said "no." It was his only comment.

Challe Changes Mind

Earlier in the day Challe had sent a letter of surrender to De Gaulle placing himself "at the disposal of the government." Apparently he changed his mind.

The gendarmes mopped up the few pockets of resistance in Algiers, herded the population indoors and took away the arms of civilians they met on the streets.

In Paris, the lights went out at 2 a.m. in the Elysee Palace. The 70-year-old president of France had gone to bed, once more the victor in a situation that threatened France with civil war.

De Gaulle, who assumed extraordinary powers to crush the uprising, issued orders to the loyal troops in Algeria to shoot if necessary to restore government control.

But little fighting was necessary. The navy and air force already had rejected the rebellion.

Remodeled Bank

provide complete and convenient service, the new building climaxes an almost century-old series of progressive achievements designed to keep pace with the area in which it is located.

Chartered as a mutual savings bank April 23, 1874, the bank opened June 29 that year in the Cordts buildings, 293 Wall Street. It was moved in 1885 to the lower floor of the Argus building, adjoining the court house on the south, and moved to its own facility in 1900, designed specifically for banking purposes.

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "I strongly believe that eventually we will get Pay-TV. I want to buy stock in this field, so could you tell me which company in your estimation will wind up with the plum." D. I.

A) I agree with you that Pay-TV is beginning to shape up as a field to watch closely in 1961.

A show-down struggle between the rival Pay-TV systems is building up rapidly. As I see it, the two principal advocates of wired Pay-TV are Paramount (NYSE) through its subsidiary International Telemeter — and Teleprompter (ASE). These wired systems plan to tie in with the Bell Telephone lines.

Broadcast Pay-TV, which uses no lines in its subscription telecasts, is being promoted by Zenith (NYSE). The latter system will be tested this spring in Hartford, Conn., by RKO General.

There seems to be little doubt that the whole field of Pay-TV is approaching a breakthrough point. Some industry people I have talked with are optimistic and feel that the turning point will come by the end of the year. When it does, some stocks will benefit. At this date I can't guess which stock will get the plum. There may be several. I suggest you buy Zenith, which is an excellent stock to own—wholly regardless of the Pay-TV outcome.

Q) "Will you advise me what to do with Charles Pfizer, bought at 26? Should I take my profit and re-invest in Interstate Power?" B. D.

A) I would hold Pfizer. The shares have acted extremely well in a so-so pharmaceutical group, and I believe they can break through their previous all-time high of 45¼ set in 1959. Back of the rise have been better earnings and considerable interest in the new oral polio vaccine. Interstate Power is a secure stock, which I like mainly for income. If income is important to you, I would switch; otherwise, keep your Pfizer.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Will Castroites

determined U. S. anti-Castro policy.

Talk With Rockefeller

The latest evidence of this support came Tuesday from Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a Republican party leader, who had just conferred with Kennedy for an hour.

"I think it is time for all Americans to stand united behind the President in support of whatever action becomes necessary to defend freedom," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller expressed the view that in the presence of Castro in Cuba, considered in the light of world developments generally, has threatened the security of the United States.

Strengthens Statement

His view appeared to give fresh meaning to a statement which Kennedy made in a speech last Thursday to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. He said then that if the inter-American doctrine of non-interference in the internal affairs of another country became merely an excuse for lack of action, the United States government "will not hesitate" to protect the security "of our own nation."

Prior to his meeting with Rockefeller, Kennedy had conferred with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Eisenhower said the country should support the President, who has the responsibility for determining policy. Nixon, in advance of his White House call last week, also had spoken of supporting the President.

Words of backing also were relayed from former President Harry S. Truman, Eisenhower's Democratic predecessor, by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson. After meeting with Truman in Kansas City Tuesday Johnson said Truman supports a "course of courage" in the handling of world crises.

IBM to Continue

terested in attracting industry away from New York State."

Obvious Reference

He was obviously referring to Gore, member of the Senate Finance Committee, who had called on IBM shareholders to vote down the scheme. Gore charged it was "a tax avoidance device."

Gore said stock options, which permit executives of a company to buy stock at a fixed price despite any increase in value and to pay only a 25 per cent capital gains tax when they sell, allow the executives "to enrich themselves at the expense of the taxpaying public and particularly at the expense of their own stockholders."

The stockholders' reply was to approve continuance of the stock option plan by a vote of 15,671,209 to 225,556.

4,700 in Attendance

About 4,700 stockholders heard the company's president, Thomas J. Watson Jr., defend the stock option plan as having done "great good" for the company by keeping key executives "despite attractive competitive offers."

Gore, who recently introduced a bill aimed at curbing stock options, said that with tax savings a similar plan approved in 1956 could mean a profit of $4.5 millions for Watson himself.

GE Gets Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Electric Co. today was awarded an $8,007,798 Reclamation Bureau contract for manufacture in its Schenectady, N. Y., plant of eight generators for the Glen Canyon powerplant in Arizona.

Union Critical

tive campaign to discredit the whole business community by "villifying" GE and to "soften up our position on bargaining."

It was hard to see, Cordiner said, how gain could come to anybody from the IUE effort, least of all to those dependant on the company's prosperity for jobs.

At a news conference Tuesday night, Carey accused Cordiner of "mismanagement" and defended the union's resolve to focus its fire on GE rather than all the convicted companies.

Carey wrote off Westinghouse Electric Corp., second to GE in manufacture of electrical goods, as a "willing junior partner."

"If we could stop this practice in GE, we'd stop it in the industry," he said.

The IUE struck GE last fall in a dispute mainly over wages, but the walkout collapsed after three weeks.

Other clouds overhung the company gathering, including a slide in first-quarter earnings. Profits dropped to $42,476,000 from $52,614,000 in the January-March period of 1960.

Carey Asks Outside Probe

Multi-million dollar damage suits growing out of the anti-trust case were piling up and others threatened. The government claimed overcharges to the Tennessee Valley Authority and other federal agencies.

A quarterly survey disclosed a first-quarter selloff by leading mutual funds of GE shares, which traded yesterday on the New York Stock Exchange at just under $62, compared with $90-plus a few months ago.

Formally put to stockholders by Carey was a proposal for an outside investigation of top management's role in the price-fixing case.

The union leader also called for firing of any GE officers convicted of anti-trust infractions, civil damage suits against culpable individuals and recapture of incentive compensation paid them.

Operation . . .

5 p. m. there will be a program at the high school lot which will include a union band concert under the direction of Marlin E. Morrette; a Civil Air Patrol exhibition; an active amateur radio station in operation, a model fallout shelter. A self-propelled gun from the local National Guard unit will be on display.

During the afternoon there will be a continuous showing of movies by use of a sheltered screen, "Radiation and Its Effects," and "Fallout Shelter."

The program Operation Survival is sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce.

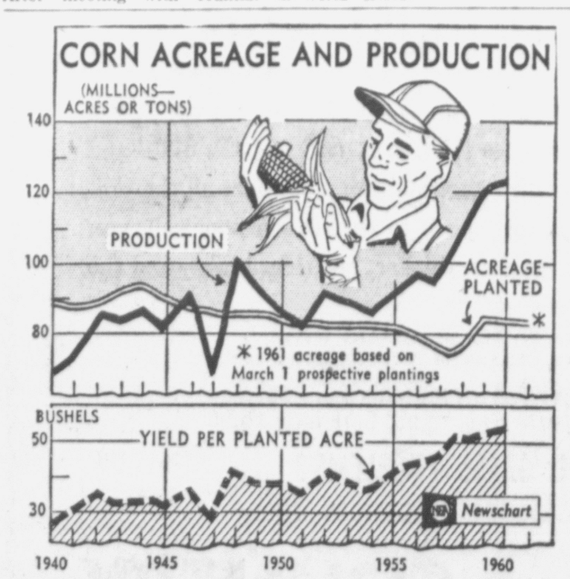
On its movements through Kingston a police escort has been arranged to move the big 65-foot missile.

At 2 p. m. Saturday the Air Force will fly several planes over the city. The flight will include three T-33 Jet Trainers, three jet Fighters, three C-119 cargo planes and three B-57 supersonic bombers.

After the display Saturday the missile will be returned to its base at Orangeburg.

The Nike-Ajax was the nation's first combat-ready surface-to-air guided missile. This supersonic missile has a range of 25 miles and can destroy targets at altitudes which surpass the ceiling of today's bomber aircraft.

With its booster, Nike-Ajax weighs slightly more than a ton and is 33 feet long. The Ajax missile itself is 20 feet long and a foot in diameter. Missiles are kept ready for use in underground concerete storage boxes and can be elevated into firing positions quickly. The missile finds its target in seconds and if by chance the first missile misses its target a second can be launched immediately.



MORE FROM LESS—Prospective corn plantings for '61 as of March 1 estimates are down slightly from 83 million acres planted in '60. A more substantial reduction could occur, depending on extent of participation under the 1961 feed grain program. Newschart shows how rising corn yields have boosted production more than 50 per cent in the last 15 years. Data from Department of Agriculture.

Clyde Still Is Candidate for School Board

NEW PALTZ—Clyde L. Still of Cherry Hill Road has announced his candidacy for member of the Board of Education of the New Paltz Central School District, created by the expiration of the term of Walter Dyer. Still filed his petition Tuesday, April 18, at the New Paltz Central School District Clerk's office.

Still is 32 years of age, married, and the father of one child. He is employed as an insurance agent for the Prudential Iusurance Company and covers the New Paltz, Modena, Gardiner and Ardonia areas. He is a member of the Dutch Reformed Church, Adonai Lodge, F&AM and White Plains Consistory.

In reference to the post he is seeking, Still said: "It is apparent that a large segment of the community do not feel properly represented; and I am offering this representation. I firmly believe that since I service over 200 homes in the New Paltz area, that I can become a liaison between the taxpayers and voters of the school district and members of the school board, thereby not presenting the opinions of a few, but the opinions of a cross-section of voters from all parts of the community."

Still is a native of Texas, and received his education in Texas public schools. He served in the American Merchant Marines as a deck engineer from 1945 to 1953, traveling from this country to England, France, Germany, Italy, India ,Japan and participated in the invasion at Enchon, Korea during the Korean Conflict.

Winners Named In School Lamp Making Contest

The Industrial Arts Department has had on display in the library 22 lamps made by the boy's in shop at New Paltz Central High School.

The lamps were judged by members of the faculty. The winning lamp will be entered in the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation at Poughkeepsie, April 27.

First place winner was Alan Van Cort; second place, Dennis Koenig; third, George Ruger; fourth, Mike Yess; fifth, Glenn Moore.

The lamps will be on display for the general public at the annual art school.

Comedy Is Slated At High School Saturday, May 6

The comedy, The Girls in 509, will be presented at the New Paltz Central School Saturday, May 6, at 8:30 p. m. for the benefit of the high school scholarship fund.

Included in the cast are Joanne Flynn , Patricia and Richard Gillette, William Esser, Neil Croswell, Virginia Stadtfeld, Joseph Flynn, Sara Donegan, Jere Donegan, Emile Leone, Joseph Flynn, Perry Bendicksen and Ted Knaflewski.

Jacqueline Van Cott is director; Sandra Longfield, assistant director; Raymond Kurdt, technical director and set designer; Arthur Curry, properties; Patricia Sullivan and David Wilcox, technical assistants.

Tickets may be obtained from the Mmes. Dietz, Gerson Robison, Ralph Buchanan, Henry Barg, Alfred Zimmerman and Jack Mountford.

ChurchSchoolWorkers Feted at Testimonial

The committee on Christian education of the New Paltz Reformed Church honored the church school teachers, superintendents and youth leaders, Friday night, with an appreciation dinner.

The Rev. Douglas M. Parrott, minister of the Presbyterian Church of Cold Spring was the guest speaker. Dr. Perry Baisler, consistory representative on Christian education committee, was master of ceremonies. Both Mrs. Harry Cornwell, chairman, and the Rev. Wullschleger expressed their appreciation to the leaders and teachers.

Those in charge of the dinner arrangements were the Mmes. Richard Wardel, Allen Lawton, John Thoben, O. Lincoln Igou.

Mrs. Parrott is the former Anne Elder, who was director of Christian education for the New Paltz Reformed Church during 1956 and 1957.

Garden Club Meets; Geraniums Are Topic

Mrs. Charles Wright will be hostess at the next meeting of the New Paltz Garden Club on April 27. The speaker will be Mrs. George Bishop. Her topic will be "Beauty in Small Packages—Geraniums."

Mrs. Bishop is an authority on flower arranging and is well known for her work in raising plants. She is past president of the Garden Club and was chosen as one of the three judges of the community flower displays in the annual civic improvement contest at Cobleskill last autumn.

Mrs. Bishop is especially interested in raising geraniums and her work with these plants has been varied and extensive.

Co-hostesses for this meeting are the Mmes. Marion Dolan, chairman; Josephine Palmer, Leon Smith, Perry Wilson, and Louis Huber.

The club recently presented four trees to the New Paltz Central School. The National Honor Society members planted the trees in the school yard with appropriate ceremonies.

Cry Beloved Country To Be Presented Here

The Bishop's Company of Santa Barbara, Calif., will present Alan Paton's drama, Cry the Beloved Country Saturday, May 6, in two performances at 7 and 9 p. m. in the chancel of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, New Paltz.

The American repertory company is now in its eighth year of touring from coast to coast and Canada presenting challenging religious fare in the dramatic form.

The company is interacial and interfaith. It is an independent organization named in honor of Bishop Gerald Kennedy of the Methodist Church. The organization today is composed of two national touring companies, a resident Santa Barbara Company, and a Bishop's Company Duo currently touring high schools of the land.

St. Joseph's Church Activities Listed

A fine attendance was reported at the mother-daughter tea at St. Joseph's Center Sunday afternoon. Tea was held under the auspices of the Mother's Guild. Movies of the training of the novices hoping to become Sisters of the Benedictine Order were shown. A question and answer period followed.

The United Societies of St. Joseph's Church held a bazaar meeting at the center Friday night, April 21. The dates selected for this year's bazaar has been set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 6, 7 and 8.

St. Joseph's Church have made plans to organize a Men's Club. Two preliminary meetings have already been held to discuss the frame work under which the club is to operate. Plans to use the lower room of the center are underway. A final meeting will be held May 3, to decide whether or not the men will support the plan.

Members of the Mother's Guild will hold their monthly meeting Wednesday evening. Nominations for new officers of the Guild will be accepted and the ways and means committee will present its program for the coming year.

Registration for St. Joseph's School will begin April 24, from 2:30 until 4 p. m. Children who have reached the age of five years and nine months will be eligible to register. This rule must be strictly enforced on orders from the Catholic School Board of the New York Archdiocese.

Forgetting

If you see a tall fellow ahead of the crowd,
A leader of men, marching fearless and proud,
And you know of a tale whose mere telling aloud
Would cause his proud head in anguish be bowed.
Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.
If you know of a skeleton hidden away
In a closet, and guarded and kept from the day
In the dark and whose showing whose sudden display
Would cause grief and sorrow and lifelong dismay.
Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.
If you know a thing that will darken the joy
Of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy,
That will wipe out the smile or the least way annoy
A fellow, or cause any gladness to cloy,
Tis a pretty good plan to forget it.

When Mr. Levy bought "Monticello," the home of Thomas Jefferson, he fell heir to one of the old family servants. After the new master returned from abroad, extensive improvements were made in the grounds, and this old darky had occasion one day to show some visitors about the garden. Calling their attention with some pride and more embarrassment to the nude statues of Venus and Ceres, he said, Them ladies is Mis' Venus an' her—her daughter. Mr. Levy knowed' em in Paris.

The examination in economic geography carried a question which read: State the tonnage of coal shipped from the United States in any given year. A struggling student knit his brows long over this one, but finally his expression cleared and he wrote in a firm hand: 1492-none.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A relaxed manner of performing is dandy. But Dean Martin is so darn relaxed, so lazy-mannered and sleepy-voiced that it sometimes is hard to understand him.

Tuesday night, during Martin's NBC special, there were moments when an interpreter would have helped.

Andy Griffith was one of Martin's guests. With Dino slurring his words, and Andy using his deepest Deep South dialect, it sometimes sounded as if they were speaking in strange, foreign tongues.

The program had one bright sketch idea—a burlesque of those old movies about the dramatic struggles for success by Tin-Pan Alley composers, complete with all the cliches, even the inevitable splitup of the successful team over a girl.

The most unusual aspect of the rather long hour show, however, was a notable omission: No one made any jokes about Martin and alcohol. Maybe it's the beginning of a new era in Dean Martin's shows.

Tony Martin contributed a few songs and Tina Louise had a couple of numbers of her own but mostly provided a 'girl for the gentlemen to sing to.

Ever since Bret Maverick, played by James Garner, departed the ABC adventure series last season, the program has been suffering hero trouble.

This season, Briton Roger Moore was brought in to play Beau Maverick, an overseas cousin. Obviously that didn't work out too well, because Beau Maverick has quietly been dropped from the series.

Now there is Brent Maverick, played by Robert Colbert, who suddenly turned up as a previously unmentioned younger brother. "Maverick" has been renewed for another season by ABC, but young brother Brent will be used only occasionally. Jack Kelly, the original Bart, will carry the major load. Why don't the producers try to lure back James Garner?

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—with singer Jane Morgan and comic Alan King; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—a dramatized documentary about civil defense.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. — (NEA) — Fireball Roberts is president of the Darlington Record Club, which is devoted to, among other things, track safety.

"The first turn of the first lap, before the cars can get strung out," says the famous stock car driver with a great deal of logic, "is filled with danger. The fellow in the middle in a three abreast start is at the mercy of the entire field.

"In case of trouble, he has nowhere to go."

Don't let crabgrass bully your lawn

Why wait till crabgrass has come up and ruined your lawn to do something about it? One application of HALTS® before crabgrass sprouts will spare your lawn a repetition of last summer's disaster. Tiny HALTS granules blanket the lawn, lie in wait, then pick off crabgrass sprout by sprout. HALTS is death to crabgrass—yet it lets good grass grow unharmed. In fact, HALTS is so compatible with grass, you can actually seed the same day. With the accurate Scotts Spreader, you protect 5000 sq ft against crabgrass in half an hour!

Ask us about the Scotts guarantee... a better lawn or your money back!

Early Return Is Asked by Jones Of Polio Reports

A plea for all town chairmen to speed up returns on the 1961 March of Dimes campaign was made today by Addison Jones, campaign chairman.

Jones reported that more than half of the county township reports are still out and urged that town leaders submit their final tabulations without further delay.

The campaign chairman pointed out that it is imperative for him to receive all reports within the next couple of days as he must submit a report for the National Headquarters before April 30.

Pageant Scenery Director Named For Third Year

CHARLES F. SEEGER

Scenery for the Miss New York State pageant at municipal auditorium in July will again be under the direction of Charles F. Seeger, it was announced today.

Seeger will serve as director of this important post for the third straight year, Frederick V. Moore, executive director of the pageant, sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, said.

This year's pageant is scheduled for July 6, 7 and 8.

As in the past, this years competition will follow closely the pattern of the Miss America Pageant to be held in Atlantic City in September. Various settings will be used during the preliminary judging held Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7 and also on Saturday, July 8, when Miss New York State will be crowned after final judgings are made in the evening gown, swim suit and talent competitions.

Seeger has been associated with various functions held in Kingston and is the designer of Santa Claus Lane, annual holiday attraction at St. James Methodist Church. A native of Kingston, he served in Germany with the U. S. Army during World War 2 and is now employed as a draftsman with Central Hudson. He and his wife, Shirley, reside at 49 Dunneman Avenue with their two sons, Fred, 10, and Jeff, 6.

Tips on sunburn, canker sores, and hair figure in medical news:

Sun Bathing

You can get a worse sunburn in May than in August.

In North America, the sun's rays reach maximum intensity June 21. So the intensity is stronger in mid-May than late August. As for sunbathing in general, experts warn that chronic over-exposure to the sun is a major factor in producing skin cancer.

Canker Sores

Canker sores can frequently be prevented, or relieved, by eliminating certain foods from the diet, a medical team finds.

They learned some victims of canker sores were sensitive to foods containing citric acid, including citrus juices and chocolate, and other persons to acetic acid contained in vinegar, pickled foods and salads. An allergy may be responsible. Sensitivity tests can spot the offending food.

Tips on Hair

Many women complain their hair is falling out at excessive rate. One reason can be too much stretching and pulling on the hair for "high" or other fashionable coiffeurs, says a medical journal report.

Jet Age Health

Modern man zips about at high speed from one climate to another in a few hours. Artificial light turns night into day. He moves through sudden changes of temperature, from air-conditioning to summer's broiling heat. A vacation can turn winter into spring.

In all this, man is far removed from the environment in which he evolved, with its regularity of time, light, temperature, and geographical location.

Maybe such changes are producing some diseases of civilization, suggests Dr. Rene Dubos, Rockefeller Institute scientist. He urges a new approach in medical research to explore the effects of new forces, new substances, and new stimuli upon humans.

GARDINER—The Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered Sunday 11 a. m. at the Gardiner Reformed Church. Sermon will be Children—Then and Now. Sunday school will be at 9:45 a. m.

The Dutch Daughters are again collecting used clothing in good condition for the Elmendorf Reformed Church, New York City. Donations may be left at the church before May 19 for shipment to the East Harlem Mission Parish in June.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Agor Wednesday, May 3, at 2 p. m. Assisting hostesses are Mrs. Bertha Wiese and Mrs. C. Adams.

Mrs. John Deyo, chairman of the American Red Cross Drive, reports a total of $353.85 collected.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A relaxed manner of performing is dandy. But Dean Martin is so darn relaxed, so lazy-mannered and sleepy-voiced that it sometimes is hard to understand him.

Tuesday night, during Martin's NBC special, there were moments when an interpreter would have helped.

Andy Griffith was one of Martin's guests. With Dino slurring his words, and Andy using his deepest Deep South dialect, it sometimes sounded as if they were speaking in strange, foreign tongues.

The program had one bright sketch idea—a burlesque of those old movies about the dramatic struggles for success by Tin-Pan Alley composers, complete with all the cliches, even the inevitable splitup of the successful team over a girl.

The most unusual aspect of the rather long hour show, however, was a notable omission: No one made any jokes about Martin and alcohol. Maybe it's the beginning of a new era in Dean Martin's shows.

Tony Martin contributed a few songs and Tina Louise had a couple of numbers of her own but mostly provided a 'girl for the gentlemen to sing to.

Ever since Bret Maverick, played by James Garner, departed the ABC adventure series last season, the program has been suffering hero trouble.

This season, Briton Roger Moore was brought in 'to play Beau Maverick, an overseas cousin. Obviously that didn't work out too well, because Beau Maverick has quietly been dropped from the series.

Now there is Brent Maverick, played by Robert Colbert, who suddenly turned up as a previously unmentioned younger brother. "Maverick" has been renewed for another season by ABC, but young brother Brent will be used only occasionally. Jack Kelly, the original Bart, will carry the major load. Why don't the producers try to lure back James Garner?

Recommended tonight: Perry Como Show, NBC, 9-10 (EST)—with singer Jane Morgan and comic Alan King; Circle Theatre, CBS, 10-11—a dramatized documentary about civil defense.

Early Return Is Asked by Jones Of Polio Reports

A plea for all town chairmen to speed up returns on the 1961 March of Dimes campaign was made today by Addison Jones, campaign chairman.

Jones reported that more than half of the county township reports are still out and urged that town leaders submit their final tabulations without further delay.

The campaign chairman pointed out that it is imperative for him to receive all reports within the next couple of days as he must submit a report for the National Headquarters before April 30.

Pageant Scenery Director Named For Third Year

CHARLES F. SEEGER

Scenery for the Miss New York State pageant at municipal auditorium in July will again be under the direction of Charles F. Seeger, it was announced today.

Seeger will serve as director of this important post for the third straight year, Frederick V. Moore, executive director of the pageant, sponsored by the Kingston Junior Chamber of Commerce, said.

This year's pageant is scheduled for July 6, 7 and 8.

As in the past, this years competition will follow closely the pattern of the Miss America Pageant to be held in Atlantic City in September. Various settings will be used during the preliminary judging held Thursday and Friday, July 6 and 7 and also on Saturday, July 8, when Miss New York State will be crowned after final judgings are made in the evening gown, swim suit and talent competitions.

Seeger has been associated with various functions held in Kingston and is the designer of Santa Claus Lane, annual holiday attraction at St. James Methodist Church. A native of Kingston, he served in Germany with the U. S. Army during World War 2 and is now employed as a draftsman with Central Hudson. He and his wife, Shirley, reside at 49 Dunneman Avenue with their two sons, Fred, 10, and Jeff, 6.

Tips on sunburn, canker sores, and hair figure in medical news:

Sun Bathing

You can get a worse sunburn in May than in August.

In North America, the sun's rays reach maximum intensity June 21. So the intensity is stronger in mid-May than late August. As for sunbathing in general, experts warn that chronic over-exposure to the sun is a major factor in producing skin cancer.

Canker Sores

Canker sores can frequently be prevented, or relieved, by eliminating certain foods from the diet, a medical team finds.

They learned some victims of canker sores were sensitive to foods containing citric acid, including citrus juices and chocolate, and other persons to acetic acid contained in vinegar, pickled foods and salads. An allergy may be responsible. Sensitivity tests can spot the offending food.

Tips on Hair

Many women complain their hair is falling out at excessive rate. One reason can be too much stretching and pulling on the hair for "high" or other fashionable coiffeurs, says a medical journal report.

Jet Age Health

Modern man zips about at high speed from one climate to another in a few hours. Artificial light turns night into day. He moves through sudden changes of temperature, from air-conditioning to summer's broiling heat. A vacation can turn winter into spring.

In all this, man is far removed from the environment in which he evolved, with its regularity of time, light, temperature, and geographical location.

Maybe such changes are producing some diseases of civilization, suggests Dr. Rene Dubos, Rockefeller Institute scientist. He urges a new approach in medical research to explore the effects of new forces, new substances, and new stimuli upon humans.

Rocky's Vetoes About Par for Course

25 PC of 1,293 Bills Turned Down Following 1961 Session

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller vetoed 25 per cent of the 1,293 bills sent him by the 1961 Legislature, an average number of vetoes compared with the records of his recent predecessors.

Rockefeller completed action by the deadline of midnight Monday but announced through Tuesday his decisions on the final measures.

These included approval of legislation that will bring the pay of legislators to $12,500 by 1963 and a veto of a bill that would have allowed the Legislature to permit television, radio and newsreel coverage of legislative hearings and committee meetings.

Signed 970, Rejected 323

During his three legislative sessions in office, the Republican governor has vetoed an average of 24.5 per cent of the bills passed by the GOP-controlled Legislature. This year, Rockefeller signed 970 bills and vetoed 323.

Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, also a Republican, vetoed an average of 28 per cent during his 12 years in office. Averell Harriman, a Democrat, had a veto average of 25 per cent in his four years.

The legislator's pay will include a $10,000 base salary and $2,500 in a blanket expense allowance, although the legislative leaders, Sen. Walter J. Mahoney and Assemblyman Joseph F. Carlino, said $1,500 would be cut from the expense allowance when the $2,500 salary increase took effect Jan. 1, 1963.

Not in Public Interests

Rockefeller, in vetoing the measure permitting radio, TV and newsreel coverage of hearings and meetings, noted objections that such coverage detracted from the objectives of hearings.

"Viewed in this light, he said, the measure "cannot be said to be in the overall public interest."

Rockefeller took this action on other bills:

Education — Approved amendments eliminating the most controversial features from the Speno school-bus law specifying the transportation school districts must provide. The amendments limit parochial school children to transportation to the nearest available school of their denomination, eliminate city school districts from the law and sets a central point for boarding busses, rather than providing door-to-door transportation.

Banks—Approved a bill clearing the way for a merger of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City and six banks in upstate cities into what would be the fourth largest bank operation in the country. Approval of state and federal banking officials still is needed.

Sprinkler Time Vetoed

Sprinklers — Vetoed a measure that would have given owners of factory buildings constructed before 1913 additional time to comply with a law mandating additional fire protection. The governor said present law provided for delays in hardships cases.

Tower—Vetoed a bill that would have authorized a Plattsburgh television station to erect a transmission tower atop Whiteface Mountain. The governor said such an installation would interfere with plans of the state university to establish an atmosphereic research center on the summit of Whiteface.

Highway—Vetoed a bill calling for a superhighway across northern New York as part of the state's building program under the interstate highway plan. The governor objected to the provisions under which the state would have surrendered part of its claim for federal compensation for the State Thruway, part of the interstate network, but not now eligible for the 90 per cent federal payment for other roads under the plan.

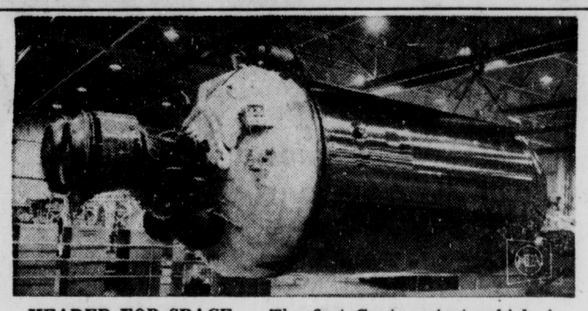
The state hopes to obtain credit, in funds or additional mileage, for the Thruway.

Hits Out at Reds

Communists—Signed a bill under which persons convicted under the Smith Act, a federal statute making it a crime to advocate overthrow of the government by force, will lose their New York State drivers' licenses.

Local Government—Approved a bill authorizing county boards of supervisors to contract with nonprofit organizations, such as Chambers of Commerce, to conduct publicity campaigns for the county or region.

Bank Accounts — Signed a bill that reduces from 15 to 10 years the period after which bank deposits abandonded by original depositors will be turned over to the state. The governor said the change, effective immediately, would give the state $5 million added revenue this year and $2.5 million in the following fiscal year.



HEADED FOR SPACE — The first Centaur test vehicle is hoisted from its dock at the San Diego, Calif., plant of Convair on its way to nearby Sycamore Canyon for static testing. Centaur is this country's first high-energy space vehicle and the first U.S. rocket to be powered by liquid hydrogen. Mounted atop an Atlas ICBM, Centaur will be able to place 4½-ton payloads in orbit. It is to power interplanetary probes in 1962 and soft landings on the moon in 1963. Its two hydrogen-oxygen engines deliver 30,000 pounds thrust.

N.Y. Employment Up 35,000 Last Month

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Total employment in New York State rose 35,000 last month to 7,140,000 and reversed a four-month decline.

Unemployment dropped to 525,000, or 6.8 per cent of the labor force. In February, unemployment totaled 7.5 per cent.

Industrial Commissioner Martin P. Catherwood said Tuesday a gradual improvement in all business activity and the normal, springtime upturn helped the employment picture.

Total employment last month, however, was 45,000 less than that of March 1960.

Although the economy of both the state and nation has lagged for the past several months, some observers now report signs of an upswing.

Gov. Rockefeller, in another development, vetoed legislation that would have given New York manufacturers in areas of high unemployment priority on state and local government contracts.

The bill would have granted these manufacturers contracts if their bids were no more than 10 per cent higher than the lowest offer.

Rockefeller said this could have been a "vehicle for substantially increased costs for state agencies and local municipalities..."

Catherwood, in reporting on employment conditions, said the number of jobless had risen from February to March only in Binghamton.

He said the number of unemployed in the Syracuse area dropped from 18,400, or 8.2 per cent of the labor force, in February to 17,000, or 7.6 per cent.

In the Utica-Rome area, 12,500, or 9.5 per cent, were unemployed in February compared with 11,600, or 8.9 per cent, in March.

Man, 92, Dies of Injuries

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Joseph Chrysler, 92, of nearby Shortsville, a patient at the Rochester State Hospital, died Tuesday of injuries suffered April 18 in a fall.

Methodists Try For Integration Of Conferences

Methodists in three local Conferences hope to push toward racial integration in the next few weeks by renewing their invitation to churches in the Delaware or Negro Conference to join them and by reimbursing that Conference for financial loss involved in the transfer of its 13 churches and three missions.

Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke announced today that two strongly-worded resolutions will be offered at the annual sessions of the New York, New York East and Newark Annual Conference in an effort to speed up the process by which churches in the Negro jurisdiction will become part of the Conferences in which they are geographically located. A third resolution will be forwarded to the Delaware Conference which urges favorable action of their churches on the proposal to unite with the "white" Conferences.

About 100 lay and ministerial representatives of the New York, New York East, Newark and Delaware Conferences have met twice to discuss the problems involved in the transfer and to consider means of effecting it. Co-chairmen of the group are the Rev. Charles Carrington, pastor of Brooks Memorial Methodist Church, Jamaica, and the Rev. Dr. Henry C. Whyman, executive secretary of New York City Society.

To Reimburse Conference

Although the General Conference of the Methodist Church deferred the complete dissolution of the Central Jurisdiction, it set up the machinery by which churches can transfer out of it after approval of both annual Conferences involved. As churches withdraw to join their geographical Conferences, the Negro Conferences will become financial improverished. Hence, the decision of the three local Conferences to reimburse the Delaware Conference for the loss of churches which accept the invitation to transfer.

Delaware Conference churches in the Newark Conference are Clair Memorial in Jersey City; St. Mark's in Montclair; St. John's and St. Matthew's in Newark; and St. John's in Orange. In the New York Conference are Shaw Chapel Mission in Manhattan; Trinity, White Plains; and St. Matthews, Ossining. In the New York East Conference are Bethel and Grace Missions in Brooklyn; John Wesley, Newman Memorial and Church of the Redeemer, also in Brooklyn; Brooks Memorial in Jamaica; St. Luke's, New Rochelle; and Butler Memorial in the Bronx.

The New York Conference will meet May 3-7 at Christ Church, Methodist, Park Avenue and 60th Street, New York City; the New York East Conference May 24-28 in Valley Stream; and the Newark Conference June 7-11 at Drew University, Madison, N. J. The Delaware Conference will be held May 24-28 at Tindely Temple, Philadelphia, Pa.

To Reimburse Conference

Although the General Conference of the Methodist Church deferred the complete dissolution of the Central Jurisdiction, it set up the machinery by which churches can transfer out of it after approval of both annual Conferences involved. As churches withdraw to join their geographical Conferences, the Negro Conferences will become financial improverished. Hence, the decision of the three local Conferences to reimburse the Delaware Conference for the loss of churches which accept the invitation to transfer.

Delaware Conference churches in the Newark Conference are Clair Memorial in Jersey City; St. Mark's in Montclair; St. John's and St. Matthew's in Newark; and St. John's in Orange. In the New York Conference are Shaw Chapel Mission in Manhattan; Trinity, White Plains; and St. Matthews, Ossining. In the New York East Conference are Bethel and Grace Missions in Brooklyn; John Wesley, Newman Memorial and Church of the Redeemer, also in Brooklyn; Brooks Memorial in Jamaica; St. Luke's, New Rochelle; and Butler Memorial in the Bronx.

The New York Conference will meet May 3-7 at Christ Church, Methodist, Park Avenue and 60th Street, New York City; the New York East Conference May 24-28 in Valley Stream; and the Newark Conference June 7-11 at Drew University, Madison, N. J. The Delaware Conference will be held May 24-28 at Tindely Temple, Philadelphia, Pa.

Witch Doctors Still Active in Jungle

More Medicos to Quit Congo in June; Health, Education Problems Increase

EDITOR'S NOTE—Beyond the Congo's political troubles are enormous problems in such fundamental matters as health and education. John A. Kennedy, publisher and editor in chief of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, and Mrs. Kennedy just concluded a stay in the country which they visited before, in 1959. This is the first of a series about conditions they found on those trips.

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) —When the Belgians pulled out of the Congo last July, there was not a single medical doctor in this vast country.

And only 50 students are now in the new medical college at Louvanium University here as the only pipeline to supply Congolese health supervision in the future.

This medical-health picture perhaps dramatically points up the problems of the Congo—and for that matter similar difficulties already present or certain to be encountered in the emerging African nations today.

Experts say the people just can't all go back to the sorcerers and witch doctors of the past—though these mysticists still prevail in a large part of the uncivilized areas of the bush and jungle.

150 Medicos Remain

On independence day, there were 761 Belgian doctors. After the uprisings, only 150 remained and those were mostly in the big cities—to care for 13,000,000 Congolese and 4,000,000 more in Belgian-administered Ruanaa and Urundi.

The departing medicos took with them the technicians, X-ray and laboratory experts, leaving only a very few to help man the hospitals and dispensaries.

Under Belgian rule, according to Dr. M. Bellerive, senior U.N. medical consultant who had visited the Congo several times before as World Health Organization expert, medical care of Africans in hospitals and dispensaries had been perhaps the best and most complete of any nation in black Africa.

Red Cross Recruits

With the aid of hurriedly recruited Red Cross teams, the U.N. chief has been able only to partially reorganize the nation's health setup.

The Belgians fortunately had medical stores which they believed adequate for 1½ years in the event the Congo was cut off by another world war. The first six months since July drew heavily on this stock but Dr. Bellerive says they are not too desperate on this score at present.

"The big problem today," the WHO chief said, "is what can we do in the future because the Red Cross doctors are planning to leave in June?"

The United Nations already has sent 61 medical assistants to France who have been accepted at schools with the understanding that in addition to the three years in these institutions, the students at the same time will make up their deficiencies in the basic sciences.

By comparative training, they could rank between an interne and a graduate nurse.

If they do not pass the French medical exams—which are tough —they will be returned to the Congo as super medical assistants. The first reports from five French universities are quite good. It is the hope of Dr. Bellerive to send 20 more medical assistants to school this year. The World Health Organization is picking up the tab. They also have worked out a full program for public health doctors with about 1,000 students.

Some Swiss medical schools also are training Africans but the small supply of medical assistants here are so badly needed to help to at least partially preserve the Congo's health that it will be difficult to let them leave the country.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

THE PROFESSOR IS BACK!

Doctor Keynes, with the same box of pills that Roosevelt used in vain, has returned to Washington, bringing his entire staff. Their specialty is everything. In 60 days, they wrote 29 long prescriptions to Congress to drive dull care away.

For example: If your building is empty, they know how to get tenants knocking at the door. "Raise the rent."

If you're a farmer, and your corn bins are full, they know how to empty them. "Raise the price."

If you're a doctor without patients or patience, they know how to fill your waiting room. "Charge more."

If you are hunting for a job, they know how to make jobs hunt you. "Work less and charge more."

If you have a "gold crisis," they know how to make foreigners buy more goods from us. "Charge more for exports."

E. F. Hutton

All through the 1930s Dr. Keynes worked real hard for us, and promised to make us filthy rich. But the war came along, and he never had time enough to cure us.

The only thing that stumps the Dr. is the farm problem. He says: "Let the farmers combine to raise prices. Let them charge the city folks anything they like. That will get money away from city folks and into the farmers' hands. Then the farmers will pay this money back to the city folks to manufacture what farmers need, and we'll all be moving again."

Approves Wing Design

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration has approved the design for an east wing of the Agriculture Research Laboratory at Cornell University.

The GSA said Tuesday a designed by Ithaca, N. Y., architects Pallman and Pallman will transform the present building into a U-shaped structure with a garden-type entrance court.

The laboratory at the Ithaca college is owned by the agriculture department. The new wing, to cost approximately $500,000 will be built this summer.

TRUCK ROUNDUP

Western star Roy Rogers spreads the good word for your local dealer! "Right now he's making it easier than ever to own America's easiest riding truck. That's Chevy — the truck that saves you plenty with its special brand of Independent Front Suspension."

Chevy's hefty Jobmaster 6, standard in Series 60 middleweights, is known far and wide for its fuel-saving performance.

Just pick the model that fits your job and you can be sure you're putting your truck dollars where they'll do the most good. You'll get a super-efficient power to capacity ratio, a truck that's Sturdi-Bilt clear through, a king-size cab to keep your driver happy. And savings that just naturally go along with Chevrolet's I.F.S. ride.

You save on maintenance costs. I.F.S. lengthens truck life and protects cargoes by soaking up as much as 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration. Your truck keeps working for extra thousands of miles! How in the world can you go wrong! Especially now—during truck roundup time!

CHEVROLET I.F.S. TRUCKS

Chevy's famous Thriftmaster 6 does the saving in this Fleetside model. It's the most highly respected truck 6 ever put under a hood. It's best known for economy and dependability—for pulling more loads over the years than any other truck engine. The 135-horsepower 235-cu.-in. Thriftmaster's standard in all Chevy pickups.

matter of FACT

Housewives trying to convince their husbands they aren't squandering family savings at the market can throw this at their hubbies. An economist recently found an adequate diet can be prepared for a person at the cost of only $100 a year. The menu—370 pounds of wheat flour, 57 cans of evaporated milk, 111 pounds of cabbage, 25 pounds of spinach, and 285 pounds of navy beans. Just threaten your husband with that economy diet.

Witch Doctors Still Active in Jungle

More Medicos to Quit Congo in June; Health, Education Problems Increase

EDITOR'S NOTE—Beyond the Congo's political troubles are enormous problems in such fundamental matters as health and education. John A. Kennedy, publisher and editor in chief of the Sioux Falls Argus-Leader, and Mrs. Kennedy just concluded a stay in the country which they visited before, in 1959. This is the first of a series about conditions they found on those trips.

By JOHN A. KENNEDY

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) —When the Belgians pulled out of the Congo last July, there was not a single medical doctor in this vast country.

And only 50 students are now in the new medical college at Louvanium University here as the only pipeline to supply Congolese health supervision in the future.

This medical-health picture perhaps dramatically points up the problems of the Congo—and for that matter similar difficulties already present or certain to be encountered in the emerging African nations today.

Experts say the people just can't all go back to the sorcerers and witch doctors of the past—though these mysticists still prevail in a large part of the uncivilized areas of the bush and jungle.

150 Medicos Remain

On independence day, there were 761 Belgian doctors. After the uprisings, only 150 remained and those were mostly in the big cities—to care for 13,000,000 Congolese and 4,000,000 more in Belgian-administered Ruanaa and Urundi.

The departing medicos took with them the technicians, X-ray and laboratory experts, leaving only a very few to help man the hospitals and dispensaries.

Under Belgian rule, according to Dr. M. Bellerive, senior U.N. medical consultant who had visited the Congo several times before as World Health Organization expert, medical care of Africans in hospitals and dispensaries had been perhaps the best and most complete of any nation in black Africa.

Red Cross Recruits

With the aid of hurriedly recruited Red Cross teams, the U.N. chief has been able only to partially reorganize the nation's health setup.

The Belgians fortunately had medical stores which they believed adequate for 1½ years in the event the Congo was cut off by another world war. The first six months since July drew heavily on this stock but Dr. Bellerive says they are not too desperate on this score at present.

"The big problem today," the WHO chief said, "is what can we do in the future because the Red Cross doctors are planning to leave in June?"

The United Nations already has sent 61 medical assistants to France who have been accepted at schools with the understanding that in addition to the three years in these institutions, the students at the same time will make up their deficiencies in the basic sciences.

By comparative training, they could rank between an interne and a graduate nurse.

If they do not pass the French medical exams—which are tough —they will be returned to the Congo as super medical assistants. The first reports from five French universities are quite good. It is the hope of Dr. Bellerive to send 20 more medical assistants to school this year. The World Health Organization is picking up the tab. They also have worked out a full program for public health doctors with about 1,000 students.

Some Swiss medical schools also are training Africans but the small supply of medical assistants here are so badly needed to help to at least partially preserve the Congo's health that it will be diffieult to let them leave the country.

matter of FACT

Housewives trying to convince their husbands they aren't squandering family savings at the market can throw this at their hubbies. An economist recently found an adequate diet can be prepared for a person at the cost of only $100 a year. The menu—370 pounds of wheat flour, 57 cans of evaporated milk, 111 pounds of cabbage, 25 pounds of spinach, and 285 pounds of navy beans. Just threaten your husband with that economy diet.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

THE PROFESSOR IS BACK!

Doctor Keynes, with the same box of pills that Roosevelt used in vain, has returned to Washington, bringing his entire staff. Their specialty is everything. In 60 days, they wrote 29 long prescriptions to Congress to drive dull care away.

For example: If your building is empty, they know how to get tenants knocking at the door. "Raise the rent."

E. F. Hutton

If you're a farmer, and your corn bins are full, they know how to empty them. "Raise the price."

If you're a doctor without patients or patience, they know how to fill your waiting room. "Charge more."

If you are hunting for a job, they know how to make jobs hunt you. "Work less and charge more."

If you have a "gold crisis," they know how to make foreigners buy more goods from us. "Charge more for exports."

All through the 1930s Dr. Keynes worked real hard for us, and promised to make us filthy rich. But the war came along, and he never had time enough to cure us.

The only thing that stumps the Dr. is the farm problem. He says: "Let the farmers combine to raise prices. Let them charge the city folks anything they like. That will get money away from city folks and into the farmers' hands. Then the farmers will pay this money back to the city folks to manufacture what farmers need, and we'll all be moving again."

Approves Wing Design

WASHINGTON (AP)—The General Services Administration has approved the design for an east wing of the Agriculture Research Laboratory at Cornell University.

The GSA said Tuesday a designed by Ithaca, N. Y., architects Pallman and Pallman will transform the present building into a U-shaped structure with a garden-type entrance court.

The laboratory at the Ithaca college is owned by the agriculture department. The new wing, to cost approximately $500,000 will be built this summer.

TRUCK ROUNDUP

Western star Roy Rogers spreads the good word for your local dealer! "Right now he's making it easier than ever to own America's easiest riding truck. That's Chevy — the truck that saves you plenty with its special brand of Independent Front Suspension."

Chevy's hefty Jobmaster 6, standard in Series 60 middleweights, is known far and wide for its fuel-saving performance.

Just pick the model that fits your job and you can be sure you're putting your truck dollars where they'll do the most good. You'll get a super-efficient power to capacity ratio, a truck that's Sturdi-Bilt clear through, a king-size cab to keep your driver happy. And savings that just naturally go along with Chevrolet's I.F.S. ride.

You save on maintenance costs. I.F.S. lengthens truck life and protects cargoes by soaking up as much as 78% of all objectionable road shock and vibration. Your truck keeps working for extra thousands of miles! How in the world can you go wrong! Especially now—during truck roundup time!

CHEVROLET LEADS TRUCKS

Chevy's famous Thriftmaster 6 does the saving in this Fleetside model. It's the most highly respected truck 6 ever put under a hood. It's best known for economy and dependability—for pulling more loads over the years than any other truck engine. The 135-horsepower 235-cu.-in. Thriftmaster's standard in all Chevy pickups.

Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing Has Capping Ceremonies at St. Mary's Church

Thirty-five students, class of 1963, were capped by Sister Callista and Sister Mary Charles assisted by the senior students during an impressive ceremony at St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Sunday, April 23. The Rev. Peter Gallagher, CSsR, assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Baltimore, Md., was the speaker.

In his address, Father Gallagher emphasized that character, personality and determination make the difference between a mediocre and good nurse. He said:

"Khaki never made a soldier—Roman collar never made a priest. And, girls, no cap will make a nurse! If a uniform were important why the difference between George Washington and Benedict Arnod? Both wore the ragged uniform of the Continental army. One is revered as the Father of our country—the other's name, the biggest blot on American history's pages.

"Not the uniform—but the heart beneath it, makes a nurse. The heart must pulse with faith, charity and above all understanding. This is a real nurse."

Urging the students to continue their fine work, their struggle to maintain the principles of their profession at the highest level, Father Gallagher also said:

"At Annapolis stands a bust of a man revered by all Midshipmen. Beneath this bust are the words: "Keep your uniform free from stain and spot." I admonish you also. Never sully the uniform or discredit you profession. Keep the pledge you made this afternoon. And as a result win respect of the world."

Program Given

Father Gallagher blessed the caps before they were presented.

The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., sang "Mother Beloved" for the occasion and the Rev. Everett Briggs, M. M. sang "Panis Angelicus."

The Rev. Francis X. Toner officiated during the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Chauffeured Children Miss Delights of Walk to School

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a Seattle, Wash., suburb three mothers recently picketed the modern version of the little red schoolhouse in protest against parents taxiing their children to and from school.

The picketing mothers claimed that the mom-driven "taxis" jam in front of the schoolhouse and create a traffic hazard for the children who walk to school.

Since it was designed as a walk-in school—with none of its pupils residing more than nine-tenths of a mile away—the protesting mothers figured it ought to be kept strictly walk-in.

However sensible their reasoning, these mothers probably won't win their "let 'em walk" battle. For too many mothers today feel guilty if they don't continually knock themselves out to do things for their children. They just can't bring themselves to send their children to school on foot. They don't feel they are being good mothers if they aren't being overly protective.

Yet, actually, any child whose mother drives him to and from school when he lives in easy walking distance is depriving him of a lot of fun along with denying him the chance to learn to look after himself.

Children who walk to and from school don't clip along at a fast pace. They dawdle. They stop to look at and examine things along the way. They chuck rocks. They meet up with friends. They tell secrets. They argue. Sometimes, they get in fights to settle old scores.

But it all adds up to a little adventure each day.

But kids who have always been chauffered have no way of knowing what they are missing. They are so used to being overprotected they think they like it.

She said in accepting her high office she felt very proud, yet humble realizing the responsibility. She stressed the importance of friendship and asked all to be charitable thereby insuring a happy and successful year. She then honored the outgoing leaders, Mrs. May W. Shaver and Paul Jones with a Key of Friendship Degree.

Glen L. Bohnke, son of Mrs. Irene Bohnke was soloist.

Refreshments were served in the dining room of the temple following the installation.

First colored comic strip, "The Yellow Kid," was created by Richard F. Outcalt of Lancaster, Ohio.

STUDENTS IN CAPPING CEREMONY — The first male student ever enrolled at the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing participated in capping ceremnies on Sunday, April 23, at St. Mary's Church. He is Brother Arthur of Mary, pictured here in the last row. Brother Arthur, who received an armband, is from the Christian Brothers Seminary in Barrytown. He is also president of the Benedictine class. Pictured with him are, first row (l-r) Sheila Hughes, Anne Spencer, Theresa Spada, Louise Paladino, Carole Oskay; secnd row (l-r) Dolores Carroll, Felicia L'Africain, Mary Ann Piscitelli, Dona Rowell, Frances Hanselman, Carol Benson, Heyen Marnes, Joyce Casella; third row (l-r) Judith Judge, Helene Henderson, Kathleen Kennoch, Margaret Ramsell, Catherine Pierson, Patricia Smalley, Collette McCullough, Maureen Morris, Nancy Chase, Pamela Shiels, Maria Rea; fourth row (l-r) Kathleen Kane, Elizabeth Collins, Dorothy King, Kathryn Cirillo, Brother Arthur, Patricia Sanok, Barbara Vitarius, Roberta Bartlett, Bernice Ziegler, and Mary Tozzi.

Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing Has Capping Ceremonies at St. Mary's Church

Thirty-five students, class of 1963, were capped by Sister Callista and Sister Mary Charles assisted by the senior students during an impressive ceremony at St. Mary's Church, Kingston, Sunday, April 23. The Rev. Peter Gallagher, CSsR, assistant pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Baltimore, Md., was the speaker.

In his address, Father Gallagher emphasized that character, personality and determination make the difference between a mediocre and good nurse. He said:

"Khaki never made a soldier—Roman collar never made a priest. And, girls, no cap will make a nurse! If a uniform were important why the difference between George Washington and Benedict Arnod? Both wore the ragged uniform of the Continental army. One is revered as the Father of our country—the other's name, the biggest blot on American history's pages.

"Not the uniform—but the heart beneath it, makes a nurse. The heart must pulse with faith, charity and above all understanding. This is a real nurse."

Urging the students to continue their fine work, their struggle to maintain the principles of their profession at the highest level, Father Gallagher also said:

"At Annapolis stands a bust of a man revered by all Midshipmen. Beneath this bust are the words: "Keep your uniform free from stain and spot." I admonish you also, Never sully the uniform or discredit you profession. Keep the pledge you made this afternoon. And as a result win respect of the world."

Program Given

Father Gallagher blessed the caps before they were presented.

The Rev. Daniel A. Lord, S. J., sang "Mother Beloved" for the occasion and the Rev. Everett Briggs, M. M. sang "Panis Angelicus."

The Rev. Francis X. Toner officiated during the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Chauffeured Children Miss Delights of Walk to School

RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In a Seattle, Wash., suburb three mothers recently picketed the modern version of the little red schoolhouse in protest against parents taxiing their children to and from school.

The picketing mothers claimed that the mom-driven "taxis" jam in front of the schoolhouse and create a traffic hazard for the children who walk to school.

Since it was designed as a walk-in school—with none of its pupils residing more than nine-tenths of a mile away—the protesting mothers figured it ought to be kept strictly walk-in.

However sensible their reasoning, these mothers probably won't win their "let 'em walk" battle. For too many mothers today feel guilty if they don't continually knock themselves out to do things for their children. They just can't bring themselves to send their children to school on foot. They don't feel they are being good mothers if they aren't being overly protective.

Yet, actually, any child whose mother drives him to and from school when he lives in easy walking distance is depriving him of a lot of fun along with denying him the chance to learn to look after himself.

Children who walk to and from school don't clip along at a fast pace. They dawdle. They stop to look at and examine things along the way. They chuck rocks. They meet up with friends. They tell secrets. They argue. Sometimes, they get in fights to settle old scores.

But it all adds up to a little adventure each day.

But kids who have always been chauffered have no way of knowing what they are missing. They are so used to being over-protected they think they like it.

Last winter's snow is benefiting shoppers who seek fresh asparagus this spring.

Winter lingered longer in New Jersey than usual this year, causing the abundance of snow to thaw slowly. When snow thaws slowly, the soil has a chance to hold the moisture, and thus asparagus plants can grow quickly once warm weather arrives.

In contrast to many fresh vegetables, fresh asparagus has but one season. Its arrival on the market coincides with the start of spring; its disappearance, with the end of spring.

Shoppers will find asparagus spears available in varied sizes. The jumbo size, 1 inch or more in diameter, costs more than the smaller sizes. Jumbos bring premium prices because many shoppers seek the extra-large size. But asparagus experts often suggest buying the medium sizes —these have relatively high quality as well as lower price. Avoid spindly spears or pencil size; these are sometimes stringy.

Choose spears of uniform size, whether you buy by the bunch or from bulk displays. Uniformity will assist you in cooking asparagus, since mixed sizes cook at different rates.

When you buy asparagus by the bunch, check for uniformity of size by up-ending the bunch and examining the diameter of the cut bases.

Look for asparagus spears green in color for most of their length. The green part is the tender part.

Choose firm asparagus with close, compact tips.

Buy straight, clean spears.

Buy only the amount you plan to use within a few days. The fresher the asapargus, the better its flavor.

At the Markets

Meat — Beef prices are lowest from February through the spring. And this spring prices have been edging downward as record supplies move to market. Beef prices can be expected to climb seasonally in the next month or two. The next few weeks will be the best time to buy and store beef in the home freezer. In buying beef for the freezer, compare costs at retail and wholesale.

The maximum suggested freezer storage life for ground beef is 4 to 6 months; for liver, 3 months; and for steaks and roasts, 9 to 12 months.

Fish—The post-holiday slump in demand coupled with the seasonal increase in fishing operations has brought a decline in fresh fish prices.

Try These Seasonings

The French use pepper, nutmeg thyme and onion to season their famous Sauce Bechamel. You might like to try adding this group of seasonings to a white sauce.

Talented Coach and Athletic Director Wins Page One Award in Sports; Ball Is May 13

William F. Straub, athletic director of the Saugerties Central School, has been named winner of the Kingston Newspaper Guild's sixth annual Page One Award in sports, Henry P. Eighmey, chairman of the Guild's Page One Awards committee, has announced.

Straub will receive the Page One citation at the Guild's sixth annual Page One Ball on Saturday, May 13, at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Previous winners of the sports award include Harry Markson, of the International Boxing Club; Coaches G. Warren Kias and Willard A. Burke of Kingston High School; Mary Leach of the Kingston High women's athletic department and Andrew Murphy III, superintendent of Recreation in Kingston.

Widely known for his aggressive, smartly drilled and well disciplined teams, Straub has been athletic director at Saugerties High since 1951. He coached three sports for four years and continues as baseball coach for the Sawyers.

Straub has coached several championship squads in the Ulster County Athletic League and Dutchess County Scholastic League. Since coming to Saugerties, he started varsity track, introduced 11-man football and had undefeated seasons in 1956 and 1960.

Saugerties High started junior varsity football and baseball after Straub expanded the intramural and junior varsity athletic program. He also greatly expanded the Junior High athletic setup and introduced school credit for physical education.

On the community level, Straub introduced Little League, and Babe Ruth League baseball and Biddy Basketball. He was president of the Saugerties Biddy Basketball League for seven years and is now in his seventh term as president of the Saugerties Babe Ruth League.

Straub introduced varsity wrestling at Saugerties in 1959 and coached the team to its first DCSL championship this past season. He owns and operates Bill Straub's Day Camp during the summer and was recently appointed District 9 director of Babe Ruth League.

Varsity Winners

A graduate of Catskill High in 1944, Straub won varsity letters in baseball, basketball and soccer. Following two years in the Army Air Corps, Straub entered Ithaca College in September, 1947, as a physical education major. He won varsity letters in soccer and baseball and also participated in junior varsity basketball.

As a baseball player, Straub was good enough to be signed by the St. Louis Cardinals immediately after graduation from Ithaca and was assigned to their Lebanon, Pa. farm team of the North Atlantic League. Lebanon won the pennant that year but Straub, a hard hitting catcher, suffered a serious finger injury during the latter part of the year. He went to spring training the next season at Albany, Ga., but the finger did not respond to treatment and affected his throwing and hitting.

Straub graduated cum laude from Ithaca College in 1950 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education. He was a member of Delta Kappa Fraternity, Oracle, senior honorary society and was voted to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1950. He obtained a Master of Science Degree from Albany State Teachers College in school administration in 1958. He is now working for the physical education director's certificate at an Ithaca College extension course held at Poughkeepsie High school.

He joined the United States Air Corps Aviation Cadet program in July, 1944, and was sent to Niagara University for nine months. He served as Cadet

WILLIAM F. STRAUB

Major of the Corps for one semester. While at Niagara, he participated on the Cadet basketball squad. He spent two years in the Air Corps at Sheppard Field, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. and Roswell Army Air Field, Roswell, New Mexico. He was discharged from service in December 1946. He participated in baseball and football at Sheppard Field.

Active in Baseball

The Saugerties athletic director is a member of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 of the American Legion, the Directors Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation; the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials, the DCSL Coaches Association and the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is a member of the Saugerties Methodist Church and serves as a Red Cross swimming instructor.

Straub has remained active as a baseball player and played with the Saugerties Dutchmen for seven years. He managed the team in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League and during the past season in the Catskill Mountain League.

He has continued his coaching education by attending coaching schools at the University of Maryland, the National Football Clinic at Atlantic City, Spaulding Clinic at Kutsher's in Monticello; New York State coaching schools at RPI, Hamilton College, Colgate University and the University of Rochester. He is a member of the coaches book club.

Straub married the former Natalia McWilliams of Cortland, N. Y., in 1951. They have no children.

"Straub's selection for the Page One Award in Sports is in keeping with the high standards set by the Guild committee," said chairman Eighmey. "He is widely recognized as one of the finest young coaches and athletic directors in this part of the country and the Kingston Newspaper Guild is happy to extend to him the recognition he so richly deserves."

Pratt-Kiernan Nuptials Told

Miss Patricia A. Kiernan, daughter of Mrs. Evelyn Kiernan of 69 West O'Reilly Street, this city was married to Robert Pratt, 14 Smith Avenue, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pratt at St. Patrick's Cathedral, Albany, 3 p. m. Sunday, April 16.

The Rev. John Phillips performed the double ring ceremony.

Attendants were Miss Bunny Sklon and Robert Dederick, both of Kingston.

The bride attended New York State University College of Education at Buffalo and Moran Business School. She is employed in the hematology department of Albany Medical Center. Mr. Pratt is associated with Wood, Walker and Company of Kingston.

The couple will make their home in Woodstock.

Beef prices can be expected to climb seasonally in the next month or two. The next few weeks will be the best time to buy and store beef in the home freezer. In buying beef for the freezer, compare costs at retail and wholesale.

The maximum suggested freezer storage life for ground beef is 4 to 6 months; for liver, 3 months; and for steaks and roasts, 9 to 12 months.

Fish—The post-holiday slump in demand coupled with the seasonal increase in fishing operations has brought a decline in fresh fish prices.

William F. Straub, athletic director of the Saugerties Central School, has been named winner of the Kingston Newspaper Guild's sixth annual Page One Award in sports, Henry P. Eighmey, chairman of the Guild's Page One Awards committee, has announced.

Straub will receive the Page One citation at the Guild's sixth annual Page One Ball on Saturday, May 13, at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Previous winners of the sports award include Harry Markson, of the International Boxing Club; Coaches G. Warren Kias and Willard A. Burke of Kingston High School; Mary Leach of the Kingston High women's athletic department and Andrew Murphy III, superintendent of Recreation in Kingston.

Widely known for his aggressive, smartly drilled and well disciplined teams, Straub has been athletic director at Saugerties High since 1951. He coached three sports for four years and continues as baseball coach for the Sawyers.

Straub has coached several championship squads in the Ulster County Athletic League and Dutchess County Scholastic League. Since coming to Saugerties, he started varsity track, introduced 11-man football and had undefeated seasons in 1956 and 1960.

Saugerties High started junior varsity football and baseball after Straub expanded the intramural and junior varsity athletic program. He also greatly expanded the Junior High athletic setup and introduced school credit for physical education.

On the community level, Straub introduced Little League, and Babe Ruth League baseball and Biddy Basketball. He was president of the Saugerties Biddy Basketball League for seven years and is now in his seventh term as president of the Saugerties Babe Ruth League.

Straub introduced varsity wrestling at Saugerties in 1959 and coached the team to its first DCSL championship this past season. He owns and operates Bill Straub's Day Camp during the summer and was recently appointed District 9 director of Babe Ruth League.

A graduate of Catskill High in 1944, Straub won varsity letters in baseball, basketball and soccer. Following two years in the Army Air Corps, Straub entered Ithaca College in September, 1947, as a physical education major. He won varsity letters in soccer and baseball and also participated in junior varsity basketball.

As a baseball player, Straub was good enough to be signed by the St. Louis Cardinals immediately after graduation from Ithaca and was assigned to their Lebanon, Pa. farm team of the North Atlantic League. Lebanon won the pennant that year but Straub, a hard hitting catcher, suffered a serious finger injury during the latter part of the year. He went to spring training the next season at Albany, Ga., but the finger did not respond to treatment and affected his throwing and hitting.

Straub graduated cum laude from Ithaca College in 1950 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education. He was a member of Delta Kappa Fraternity, Oracle, senior honorary society and was voted to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities in 1950. He obtained a Master of Science Degree from Albany State Teachers College in school administration in 1958. He is now working for the physical education director's certificate at an Ithaca College extension course held at Poughkeepsie High school.

He joined the United States Air Corps Aviation Cadet program in July, 1944, and was sent to Niagara University for nine months. He served as Cadet Major of the Corps for one semester. While at Niagara, he participated on the Cadet basketball squad. He spent two years in the Air Corps at Sheppard Field, Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill. and Roswell Army Air Field, Roswell, New Mexico. He was discharged from service in December 1946. He participated in baseball and football at Sheppard Field.

Active in Baseball

The Saugerties athletic director is a member of Lamouree-Hackett Post 72 of the American Legion, the Directors Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation; the International Association of Approved Basketball Officials, the DCSL Coaches Association and the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is a member of the Saugerties Methodist Church and serves as a Red Cross swimming instructor.

Straub has remained active as a baseball player and played with the Saugerties Dutchmen for seven years. He managed the team in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League and during the past season in the Catskill Mountain League.

He has continued his coaching education by attending coaching schools at the University of Maryland, the National Football Clinic at Atlantic City, Spaulding Clinic at Kutsher's in Monticello; New York State coaching schools at RPI, Hamilton College, Colgate University and the University of Rochester. He is a member of the coaches book club.

Straub married the former Natalia McWilliams of Cortland, N. Y., in 1951. They have no children.

"Straub's selection for the Page One Award in Sports is in keeping with the high standards set by the Guild committee," said chairman Eighmey. "He is widely recognized as one of the finest young coaches and athletic directors in this part of the country and the Kingston Newspaper Guild is happy to extend to him the recognition he so richly deserves."

Miss Marcia Joan Dittus, Robert C. Mould Are Wed at Sacred Heart, Esopus, April 9

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT C. MOULD

Miss Marcia Joan Dittus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dittus of Main Street, Esopus, and Robert C. Mould, son of Mrs. Mary Mould of 66 Liberty Street, this city, exchanged nuptial vows at Church of the Sacred Heart, Esopus, 2 p. m. Sunday, April 9.

The Rev. Joseph A. Wall, CSsR, pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with gladioli, Shasta daisies and snapdragons. Family pews were marked with white satin bows. John J. O'Connor was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie styled with a softly molded bodice, appliqued with Chantilly lace and trimmed with tiny seed pearls. The bell shaped skirt was similarly appliqued and terminated in a chapel length train. A jeweled queen crown secured a bouffant veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, pale pink hyacinths and ivy.

Miss Joan Courselle of Rifton was maid of honor in a full length gown of pastel blue nylon organza, styled with a modified scooped neckline tiny sleeves and a bouffant skirt. The front panel of the skirt was trimmed with a self-embroidered design. She had a matching straw picture hat and carried a fireside basket of dark pink and white flowers.

Bridemaids, Donna Cea of Port Ewen and Penny Parmelee of Kingston were similarly attired in pale blue organza gowns with matching picture hats and baskets of pink and white flowers.

John LaLima of Colonial Gardens was best man. Ushers were Donald Lawatsch of Ithaca, Richard Dittus of Esopus, brother of the bride, Stephen Maidl of Kingston and Robert Osterhoudt of Moravia.

Following a reception at the Tropical Inn, Port Ewen, the couple went on a wedding trip to Florida. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Mould are both graduates of Kingston High School and are employed by International Business Machines, Kingston. Mr. Mould attended Cornell University and served two years with the U. S. Army.

Rosendale, Tillson News

The Town Board of Rosendale will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday 8 p. m. at the town clerk's office, Main Street, Rosendale.

St. Philomena's Altar-Rosary Society Plans Breakfast Here

The regular meeting of St. Philomena's Altar-Rosary Society was held April 12 in the church hall, Town of Ulster. Members of St. Ann's Altar-Rosary Society were welcomed as members of the group.

Plans were completed for the cake sale to be held Sunday, April 30. The sale of baked goods will begin after the 8 a. m. Mass at the church. Chairmen of the sale are Mrs. Lydia Golnek and Mrs. Mary Lamaro. Each member is asked to donate two baked items for the sale. Cake boxes and plates are available and may be obtained from the chairmen.

Mrs. Robert Heaney, chairman of the Communion breakfast, announced that reservations are now being made for the communion breakfast scheduled for May 7 at the Casablanca after the 9 a. m. Mass. The Society's president, Mrs. Alexander Banyo appointed Mrs. Robert Heaney as chairman and serving with her will be Mrs. John Lamaro and Mrs. N. Attanasio.

Guest speaker for the communion breakfast will be Dr. Clarence O. Peterson of Mt. Vernon. A graduate of Georgetown University, College of Medicine, Dr. Peterson is attending physician at Mt. Vernon Hospital. He was a flight surgeon in World War II with the rank of Major and was awarded the Air Medal and four Bronze Stars.

Mrs. Leo McAndrew, ways and means chairman, announced plans are being formulated for a card party to be given some time in the early fall.

Prior to the business meeting, Sister Martin Therese of Maryknoll was guest speaker. Sister Martin Therese just recently returned from her mission in Panama. With the aid of color slides, she gave an interesting talk on her work as a missionary and told of the customs and traditions of the country. She showed samples of their colth made out of several layers of material.

Sister Martin Therese is a member of the Maryknoll Community, the American religious order which has missions in Asia, Latin America, Pacific Islands and Africa. She is the former Lorraine Beinkafner of Albany and sister of Mrs. James M. Kenna of Kingston.

Refreshments were served.

Guest Experts Are Taking Part in YW Baby Sitters Course

Sixteen YWCA teenage members from the two junior high school clubs are enrolled in a baby sitting course being offered for the next six weeks at the YWCA on Monday evenings.

The course will be under the supervision of Mrs. William Reardon, a member of the teenage program committee. Guest discussion leaders will include: Mrs. E. H. Nathan, Washington School nurse teacher, Baby and Child Care; Harold Sanford, ex-fire chief, Fire Hazards in the Home; Miss Marguerite Schuetz, home economics teacher, Preparation of Food and Care of the Home; Miss Betsy Hall, kindergarten teacher, Games for Children; Mrs. Henry F. Millonig and Mrs. Samuel McCoubrey, What Parents Expect.

The YWCA does not provide a baby sitting register but the course is designed to insure that the girls will be well trained to do baby sitting in their own home and neighborhood.

Hurley Man Enters State Ranger School

Robert F. Race of Hurley, is among 60 students who began classes recently at the 2,330-acre New York State Ranger School at Wanakena. The Ranger School, a division of the State University of Forestry at Syracuse University, Syracuse, is tuition-free to qualified New York State residents.

The Ranger School trains men for foremanship. Those who successfully complete the course are qualified for positions of responsibility between those of the average woodman and the professional forester.

The 11-month training program starts in mid-March and ends in mid-February of the following year. Approximately one-half of the students' time is spent in classroom instruction and recitation. The balance is devoted to laboratory and field exercises. Formal classes are held for five an one-half days each week. During the 44-week school year, approximately 1,800 contact hours of formal instruction are given.

The New York State Ranger School at Wanakena, founded in 1912, is in the Western Adirondack Forest, approximately 70 miles north of Watertown and 35 miles south of Tupper Lake.

Of only two such schools in the United States, the one at Wanakena is the older.

'Oklahoma' Will Be Presented Here on Friday and Saturday

EDWIN BURNELL

The role of Ali Hakim in Oklahoma will be played by Edwin Burnell when the musical is presented by the Hudson Valley Music Theatre at Kingston High School Auditorium Friday and Saturday nights.

Mr. Burnell is from Fort Montgomery and has appeared as Hassi in The Desert Song and starred as Applegate in Damn Yankees.

Oklahoma, one of the great musicals of our time, is playing in Kingston under the sponsorship of the Port Ewen Colonial Cavaliers. Tickets will be available at the door. Tickets also may be purchased from members of the drum corps.

In 1959, northern Ireland grew no flax commercially for the first time in hundreds of years.

Thursday the Thimble Club members will meet 10 a. m. at St. Leo's Hall.

Cub Pack 26 will hold its monthly meeting at the Port Ewen Reformed Church Hall on Saturday 7 p. m. There will be pack inspection by scout officials and graduation of Webelos to Scouts.

CAB Asks New Cost Study of Airlines Shift

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on additional routes Mohawk Airlines wants to operate in New York and Vermont could be reopened after a new cost study by the CAB.

The board was given conflicting profit and loss pictures for the routes in testimony Tuesday at a one-day hearing on the proposed transfer of some Eastern Airlines routes to Mohawk.

Mohawk said it could operate the routes at a profit of $72,555 in 1962. The CAB's Bureau of Economic Regulation said Mohawk would lose $305,750 on the flights.

Under cross-examination, however, Lawrence D. Wasko, a bureau air transport examiner, admitted the recession may have caused a discrepancy in his cost analysis.

Francis W. Brown, the CAB's chief examiner, ordered Wasko to prepare a new study, including some figures offered in evidence by Mohawk. He said the hearing could be reopened on the basis of the study.

Mohawk and Eastern have agreed that Mohawk would take over Eastern's routes between the New York metropolitan area and Rutland and Burlington, Vt., and Albany, Glens Falls, Plattsburgh, Saranac Lake, Lake Placid, Massena and Watertown, N.Y.

The CAB's Bureau of Air Operations has endorsed the transfer of routes.

The cost controversy could affect the outcome of the route switch. The CAB would have to offset any losses Mohawk sustained on the new routes. Wasko said Mohawk's 1962 subsidy would total $3,994,500 with the transferred routes and $3,688,750 without them.

Eastern received no subsidy from the government.

John R. Carver, vice president and general counsel for Mohawk, called Wasko's figures a statistical approach to the cost problem while Mohawk used its experience to draw up its profit estimate.

Poetic Protest

AUGUSTA, ME. (NEA)—A hunter who was unsuccessful in the 1960 season registered a poetic protest.

The hunter, a woman, answered the game kill questionnaire she received:

"My feet got tired,
My pack got wet.
I hunted all over;
Oh! I'll never forget.
If there's any game
In the State of Maine,
You send the picture,
I'll buy the frame.
(Have gun, will travel.)"

Department of Inland Fisheries and Game officials say the lady's lament was not indicative of the 1960 Maine season.

Anonymity Cloak Covers Critics of Cuba Issue

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—So many key men in the Kennedy administration got under the cloak of anonymity these past few days it looked like a tent.

But it makes you punchy when an authoritative source, who won't let his name be used, is contradicted by a high official who can't be named.

It started late last week when reporters began asking why the Cuban invasion failed so miserably.

They talked to one of the most important men around Kennedy. But he didn't want to be identified. So an "authoritative source" was quoted as saying:

1. Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon encouraged President Kennedy to go ahead with plans for the invasion.

Blames Intelligence

2. United States intelligence was faulty in its reports on how much armament Fidel Castro had and the likelihood of a hoped-for Cuban uprising.

Pretty soon Andrew Hatcher, Kennedy's assistant press secretary, issued a statement which denied part, but not all, of what the "authoritative source" had said.

Hatcher denied Kennedy and Eisenhower had discussed the invasion before the inauguration. But he didn't deny U.S. intelligence fell on its face.

On Monday a top-ranking official, who said he couldn't be identified by name, told newspaper editors: U.S. intelligence was away off the beam on Cuba.

He said:

1. The Cuban underground and U.S. intelligence miscalculated the amount of arms Castro had and the degree of support Cubans would give the invasion.

2. U.S. intelligence was caught short when the French generals revolted in Algeria.

This U.S. intelligence, of course, meant the Central Intelligence Agency, which is America's organization for overseas spying. Allen W. Dulles heads the agency.

Another Defends CIA

On Tuesday, talking to the same group of editors, another high official in the Kennedy administration, refusing to let his name be used, said:

1. The CIA correctly and accurately reported Castro's military power and the temper of the Cuban people before the invasion began.

2. The CIA also knew about the discontent of French generals in Algeria but not about the decision to revolt because that apparently was decided on suddenly.

This same high official later told reporters it was understood that the initial Cuban invasion, if to be successful, had to be sustained a while before the Cuban people could be expected to respond with an uprising.

Since it wasn't sustained and collapsed in a hurry, this anonymous official was asked who was to blame for not sustaining it.

Takes Poke at Navy

The official wouldn't say, although it would seem he was hitting at the Navy, whose chief of operations is Adm. Arleigh Burke.

President Kennedy has appointed Dulles and Burke to assist Gen. Maxwell Taylor and Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy in examining America's intelligence activities and the problems of guerrilla warfare.

Also on Monday stories appeared saying Nixon "believes" or "feels" or "thinks" various things about the Cuban invasion although the stories did not say he was doing the talking.

It didn't take much imagination to conclude that for some reason Nixon didn't want to be quoted on what he said but wanted his views presented as something he "believes" or "feels" or "thinks."

To make matters more confusing Interior Secretary Stewart Udall got mixed up in the Cuban situation. He had to be chastised gently by the White House.

Udall Apologizes

In a Sunday TV interview Udall said the plan for the Cuban invasion had been conceived during the Eisenhower administration and Kennedy carried it out. Republican senators began to cry "foul" for mixing Eisenhower up in the disaster. So Udall issued an apology Monday. He said the Kennedy administration had taken full responsibility. Udall said he hadn't intended to give any other impression.

Later on Monday one of those "high-ranking administration officials" also said Kennedy took full responsibility for the invasion and didn't want Eisenhower involved.

And still later on Monday, the White House went a little further by issuing a statement which said again Kennedy took responsibility and didn't want "anyone within or without the administration attempting to shift the responsibility."

Postpone OCS Student Play

The Onteora Central School's junior-senior student play "Always Leave Them Smiling," originally scheduled for Thursday and Friday, has been temporarily postponed.

A school spokesman said the production would be postponed until a decision is reached by Earl Proper, and the students on when to re-schedule it. The postponement was not due to teshnical difficulties, the spokesman said.

IBM Declares Dividend

YORKTOWN, April 25 — The directors of International Business Machines Corporation today declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 60 cents a share on the capital stock to be outstanding after the 50 per cent stock split authorized by the shareholders today and effective May, 5, 1966. The dividend is payable June 10, 1961, to stockholders of record May 26, 1961.

Gospel Series Is Scheduled at Nazarene Church

GUEST EVANGELISTS

Special evangelistic services will be held at the First Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf Street and Wiltwyck Avenue, April 27 through May 7.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30 except Sundays when services will begin at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Willis R. Scott, pastor, extends an invitation to the public to attend.

Conducting the complete gospel program will be Gloria Files and Dorothy Adams. Miss Files, an ordained elder, will deliver the message and Miss Adams will direct the musical portion of the service. Both will sing.

Miss Files, a native of Wiley Ford, W. Va., attended Trevecca Nazarene College, Nashville, Tenn., and Miss Adams of Ephrata, Pa., attended Allentown Bible College, Allentown, Pa. Both have had extensive experience in revival campaigns, youth revivals and Bible schools. They have also done radio work and assisted in the organization of a number of new churches.

New Talks Going Today in Move To Reopen Stores

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Management and union representatives meet today to continue talks in a labor dispute that has closed supermarkets, as another union took steps toward reopening the stores.

The negotiators for five supermarket chains and the union of meatcutters and clerks were attempting to end a dispute that began April 7 and closed approximately 275 supermarkets between Rochester and Schenectady and in northern Pennsylvania.

The Teamsters Union, however, has filed unfair labor practice charges aimed at opening the markets. The Teamsters claim that their contracts with the stores and certain trucking firms contain clauses that prohibit lockouts, which the union maintains is the present situation.

The Amalgamated Meatcutters, Butchers and Affiliated Crafts union struck 75 Loblaw stores April 7. Four other chains, A&P, Acme, Loblaw, P&C and Victory-Johnson closed in sympathy.

A federal mediator reported some progress at talks Tuesday in Syracuse.

Joe Klonowski Is Voted MVP In YMCA Basketball League

Joe Klonowski, the talented star of Miller's Raiders, was awarded the YMCA Basketball league's Most Valuable Trophy at the annual banquet, held last night at the S. R. S. Cottekill. Klonowski nipped Ronnie Scheffel, George Carpouzis, Chick Boice and Marty Kaye in the balloting, conducted by the players in the circuit. The MVP trophy was donated by Ward Dunham, sponsor of Ray's Tackle Shop.

One of the most improved players in the city, Klonowski is a tremendous rebounder and on several occasions has actually hit his elbows on the rim.

Highlight of the banquet, attended by approximately 40 players, sponsors and guests, was the awarding of individual trophies to the Texaco Chiefs, regular season champions. Receiving team trophies were Miller's Raiders, Ray's Tackle Shop and the Byrne Chevvies. The latter team won the Minor division championship and for coach Neil DuBois it marked the 14th trophy his clubs had won in YMCA basketball.

Lou Schafer, general secretary of the Kingston YMCA, was master of ceremonies. The trophies were awarded by Ed Palladino of the Freeman Sports Staff.

Rain Washes Out Many Scholastic Spring Events

The elements are still working against the scholastic spring sports. The entire card was washed away by rain yesterday.

Postponed until today were Roosevelt at Saugerties and Cairo at Onteora in baseball. The Kingston at Middletown DUSO league game was rescheduled for May 23. Saugerties and Highland will play on Wednesday, May 10. The Rondout Valley at Fallsburgh baseball game was cancelled. A tentative date of Thursday, May 4, has been set for the New Paltz at Valley Central baseball game.

Kingston High school's tennis match against Poughkeepsie was postponed for a second straight day and the two will try it again this afternoon.

Opening Card Scheduled at 3; Avery in Field

The tiny hamlet of Olive Bridge began preparations today for a mass invasion of auto racing fans for the 1961 inaugural, Sunday, April 30, at the picturesque Onteora Speedway track.

Starting time for the opening card is 3 p. m., but thereafter the weekly Sunday races will get under way at 2:30 p. m.

Two of the racing fields best known names — Larry Shurter, ex-driving star and vice president, and Ed Ryan of Hyde Park, president of the Mutual Racing Associates, will be in charge of racing operations at the Speedway this year. Many of the 1960 favorites, including Don Avery, 1960 high point winner, will be on hand for the opener.

Richard (Dick) Lane, track operator, reports that the Olive Bridge oval held up well under the heavy buffeting of one of the worst Ulster County winters in 40 years and will be in excellent condition. He also announced that the guard rail for spectators along the backstretch has been extended and reinforced.

The opening card will feature three heats, a consolation and a 25-lap feature.

Avery of West Shokan, a protege of Lary Shurter, will drive the master's famous No. 22 in which he swept to the points championship last year. Old 22 is one of the red hot favorites with the Onteora fans.

Avery will receive strong competition from a crack field which includes the redoubtable Walt Shubert of Cold Springs, a steady winner on area tracks. Doug Garrison, the Newburgh veteran, and Stretch Van Steenburgh of Saugerties are other contenders for opening day honors. Jimmy Markle, Skip Wright and Bucky Marl are other big names heading for Onteora on Sunday.

County Drivers

The county contingent includes Clyde Smith and Buddy Glass of West Hurley, Bill Stokes, Stone Ridge and Pete Keator of Kerhonkson.

Ernie Beesmer will carry the hometown banner for Olive Bridge.

Shurter and Ryan are working on several outstanding features for the 1961 season. Several major events are being lined up for the major holiday weekends and there will be one card devoted to the popular midgets.

Auto racing fans will find Onteora Speedway easily accessible from Route 28 from Kingston or Phoenicia. The easiest method is to go to Shokan on 28 thence across the Ashokan Reservoir from Route 213. Kingston patrons may turn off Route 28 to 28-A at Stony Hollow and proceed to Route 213.

Tiger Deals Are Paying Off

Relief Pitchers Fox and Donohue Were Real Grabs

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On the basis of early returns, the Detroit Tigers appear to have been the most successful in their various off-season player maneuvers.

The Tigers, off to a blazing start with eight in a row after dropping their first game, came out of winter deals with Milwaukee and others a first-string catcher in Dick Brown, a regular center fielder in Billy Bruton and two capable relief pitchers in Terry Fox and Jim Donohue.

To fill the gap left by the departure of Frank Bolling, the Tigers moved up Jake Wood, 23, a widely heralded rookie from their Denver farm. Wood is hitting .286 and has turned out to be a good leadoff man.

With Bruton hitting in the No. 2 hole and Steve Boros, another rookie, playing third base and hitting .333, the new faces are paying off in Tiger Stadium. Chuck Cottier, also acquired from the Braves, is a capable infield reserve behind Chico Fernandez.

Perhaps the most important of all was the acquisition of Brown, former Chicago White Sox and Cleveland catcher who went to Milwaukee in December and then was thrown into the Bolling deal a few days later. He hit only .163 in Chicago last year but is hitting .321 at Detroit.

Bullpen pitching was a real problem for Detroit before they picked up Fox and Donohue. Fox, a 12-game winner at Vancouver, has a 1-0 record and has appeared in three Tiger games. Donohue also has a 1-0 record after three appearances. The Tigers grabbed Donohue from the Los Angeles Dodger organization in the regular minor league draft for $25,000. He had a 5-5 record in St. Paul last year.

LowlandsRanchClubShow At Lake Katrine, June 4

The Lowlands Ranch Club and Ruby Rod and Gun Club will sponsor a horse show on Sunday, June 4, at the Lowlands Ranch Club grounds in Lake Katrine.

The show committee met last week and classes were chosen. Cash prizes and ribbons will be awarded at the show which will start at 9:30 a. m.

In case of rain, the show will be postponed to Sunday, June 11.

Completing the classes will be: 12. Pony Class; 13. Junior Musical Chairs, riders 15 years and under; 14. Senior Western pleasure horse; 15. Junior Western pleasure horse, riders 15 years and under; 16. Clover Leaf barrel event; 17. Riders over 40, to be worked at judges' discretion; 18. Three-gaited horse, English only; 19. Senior musical chairs; 20. Junior trail class; 21. Senior Trail Class; 22. Break the Gate and Out; 23. Open Stock horse; 24. Relay contest.

Persons desiring information are asked to write to the Lowlands Ranch Club, Box 113, Katrine Lane, Lake Katrine.

Edgewood Averill Winner Of Yonkers Feature Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Driver James Dennis moved Edgewood Averill up from third at the top of the stretch to win the $3,000 Somers Pace at Yonkers Raceway by a head.

The 6-year-old son of Averill covered the mile in 2:02 2-5 over a fast track Tuesday night and returned $11.80.

Devon Goose, driven by Australian Bert Alley, was second but was disqualified for interference, and placed eighth. Albert Gene was listed in second place and Febricator third.

Alley was given a five-day suspension but is slated to drive Apmst May 4 in the International Pace.

At Buffalo Raceway, Lou Rapone drove pacer Jimmie Norman to a 2½ length victory in the $1,500 Class AS-1 handicap mile, returning $5.40. Baldwin Hanover was second and the favorite, Junior Goose, was third. Time for the mile, paced in a downpour over a heavy track, was 2:27.4.

Bye Bye Byrd, the harness horse of the year in 1959, drew the No. 1 post for his first 1961 start on Friday night at Yonkers Raceway.

Bye Bye, now a 6-year-old, will compete in a $16,000 tuneup pace for next week's start of Yonkers' International Pace series. Opposing him in the tuneup will be Caduceus, Speedy Pick, Mr. Budlong, Tar Boy, O'Brien Hanover and Keen's Victorwin.

There will be an important meeting of parents with sons in the Jaycee Little league tonight at the County Court House supervisor's room starting at 7:30 p. m. President John Bach requests all parents interested in the welfare of the league to be present.

Ken Sears Joins New Cage League

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two stars of the National Basketball Association have jumped to the rival American Basketball League, signing with the San Francisco Comets. There are indications of more league-leaping to come.

Kenny Sears, six years with the New York Knickerbockers of the NBA, signed Tuesday with the Comets.

Last week Mike Farmer, with the NBA Cincinnati Royals last season, signed with the Comets, and Bill Sharman left the Boston Celtics to become general manager and coach of the Los Angeles Jets of the new ABL.

The jumping may bring about a court test of the NBA option clause. NBA contracts, like those of the National Football League, carry a one-year option beyond the contract date, giving the NBA club the option to sign the player the succeeding year. The player is free to deal for himself only if his club fails to exercise the option.

Ned Irish, president of Madison Square Garden which owns the Knickerbockers, refused to comment on whether the Knicks would fight Sears' action in court.

But Sharman said when he signed to coach the Jets that several NBA players are interested in the new league and he believed a court test would be necessary to clear up the situation.

Kingston Umpires Schedule Meeting

Members of the Kingston Umpires' Association will hold a rules interpretation meeting tonight, 8 p. m., at the Kingston Post No. 150 American Legion home on West O'Reilly St. President Andrew J. Murphy, III, will preside.

Derby Eligibles Ready to Start In Blue Grass Race

By JIM HAMPTON

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A standout field of Kentucky Derby eligibles was being assembled at Keeneland today for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes.

Among the 9 or 10 thoroughbreds expected to start Thursday are the winners of the Louisiana and California derbies, the Chesapeake Stakes and Santa Anita's San Felipe Handicap.

The field is regarded as one of the finest ever put together for this race, which has produced three derby winners — the last one Tomy Lee in 1959.

At a mile and an eighth the Blue Grass is one furlong shorter than the run for the roses May 6 at Churchill Downs.

Alberta Ranches' Flutterby and Kerr Stables' twin threat of Mr. Consistency and Gay Landing shaped up as the early betting favorites.

Flutterby won the San Felipe Handicap and has finished in the money in four other stakes this season.

His stablemate derby co-favorite Four-and-Twenty, last week gained Keeneland's Forerunner purse—three of whose last four winners have gone on to win the derby—but is not eligible for the Blue Grass.

Mr. Consistency, Flutterby and Gay Landing finished 1-2-3 in the California Derby.

Other top expected starters include Vera Smith's Bass Clef, Louisiana Derby winner; Chesapeake Stakes winner Orleans Doge, owned by Ben Weinert and William Resseguet; and Eastwood Stable's Loyal Son, second in the California and Arkansas derbies.

Calumet Farm, whose devil red and blue silks have been in the Kentucky Derby winner's circles seven times since 1941, has Sho Lea to test its mettle in the Blue Grass.

Toldeo Bowler Hits 656 in ABC Action

DETROIT (AP)—John Powell Jr., of Toledo is off to a flying 656 start in his quest of the classic division all-events crown of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Powell rolled a series of 230-192-234 as he paced the Ansberg-West Club of Toledo to a 2,874 total in its classic debut Tuesday night. He sees action in doubles and singles today before returning to the lanes tonight for the team's second classic appearance.

Bob Brayman of Detroit leads the classic division all-events with 1,963.

H. Murphy Slams 617

Hilda Murphy was consistently good in the Bowlerama Quads league with games of 201-195-221—617, her umpteenth triple above 600 this season.

Other high hitters in the circuit included Liz Smith 482, Anne Hinkley 480, Lorraine Ferraro 452, Kathy Schmitt 233-555, Rosemary Pillsworth 221-542, Flo Shaw 438, Arlene Raible 471, Ada Dubost 221-552, Martha Petersen 438, Betty Egan 427, Rose Schatzel 200-557, June Van Kleeck 462, Vi Pechloff 416, Nell Alverson 524, Ella Lowe 415, Kay Roosa 458 and Evelyn Nitsch 477. Results: Bernal Sales 2, Rett Williams Texaco 1; Jake's Grill 3, Vinnie Lu Manufacturing Co. 0; Pine Hill Bus Corp. 2, Trailways Cafeteria 1.

Edgewood Averill Winner Of Yonkers Feature Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Driver James Dennis moved Edgewood Averill up from third at the top of the stretch to win the $3,000 Somers Pace at Yonkers Raceway by a head.

The 6-year-old son of Averill covered the mile in 2:02 2-5 over a fast track Tuesday night and returned $11.80.

Devon Goose, driven by Australian Bert Alley, was second but was disqualified for interference, and placed eighth. Albert Gene was listed in second place and Febricator third.

Alley was given a five-day suspension but is slated to drive Apmst May 4 in the International Pace.

At Buffalo Raceway, Lou Rapone drove pacer Jimmie Norman to a 2½ length victory in the $1,500 Class AS-1 handicap mile, returning $5.40. Baldwin Hanover was second and the favorite, Junior Goose, was third. Time for the mile, paced in a downpour over a heavy track, was 2:27.4.

Bye Bye Byrd, the harness horse of the year in 1959, drew the No. 1 post for his first 1961 start on Friday night at Yonkers Raceway.

Bye Bye, now a 6-year-old, will compete in a $16,000 tuneup pace for next week's start of Yonkers' International Pace series. Opposing him in the tuneup will be Caduceus, Speedy Pick, Mr. Budlong, Tar Boy, O'Brien Hanover and Keen's Victorwin.

There will be an important meeting of parents with sons in the Jaycee Little league tonight at the County Court House supervisor's room starting at 7:30 p. m. President John Bach requests all parents interested in the welfare of the league to be present.

Ken Sears Joins New Cage League

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two stars of the National Basketball Association have jumped to the rival American Basketball League, signing with the San Francisco Comets. There are indications of more league-leaping to come.

Kenny Sears, six years with the New York Knickerbockers of the NBA, signed Tuesday with the Comets.

Last week Mike Farmer, with the NBA Cincinnati Royals last season, signed with the Comets, and Bill Sharman left the Boston Celtics to become general manager and coach of the Los Angeles Jets of the new ABL.

The jumping may bring about a court test of the NBA option clause. NBA contracts, like those of the National Football League, carry a one-year option beyond the contract date, giving the NBA club the option to sign the player the succeeding year. The player is free to deal for himself only if his club fails to exercise the option.

Ned Irish, president of Madison Square Garden which owns the Knickerbockers, refused to comment on whether the Knicks would fight Sears' action in court.

But Sharman said when he signed to coach the Jets that several NBA players are interested in the new league and he believed a court test would be necessary to clear up the situation.

Kingston Umpires Schedule Meeting

Derby Eligibles Ready to Start In Blue Grass Race

By JIM HAMPTON

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A standout field of Kentucky Derby eligibles was being assembled at Keeneland today for the $25,000-added Blue Grass Stakes.

Among the 9 or 10 thoroughbreds expected to start Thursday are the winners of the Louisiana and California derbies, the Chesapeake Stakes and Santa Anita's San Felipe Handicap.

The field is regarded as one of the finest ever put together for this race, which has produced three derby winners — the last one Tomy Lee in 1959.

At a mile and an eighth the Blue Grass is one furlong shorter than the run for the roses May 6 at Churchill Downs.

Alberta Ranches' Flutterby and Kerr Stables' twin threat of Mr. Consistency and Gay Landing shaped up as the early betting favorites.

Flutterby won the San Felipe Handicap and has finished in the money in four other stakes this season.

His stablemate derby co-favorite Four-and-Twenty, last week gained Keeneland's Forerunner purse—three of whose last four winners have gone on to win the derby—but is not eligible for the Blue Grass.

Mr. Consistency, Flutterby and Gay Landing finished 1-2-3 in the California Derby.

Other top expected starters include Vera Smith's Bass Clef, Louisiana Derby winner; Chesapeake Stakes winner Orleans Doge, owned by Ben Weinert and William Resseguet; and Eastwood Stable's Loyal Son, second in the California and Arkansas derbies.

Calumet Farm, whose devil red and blue silks have been in the Kentucky Derby winner's circles seven times since 1941, has Sho Lea to test its mettle in the Blue Grass.

Toldeo Bowler Hits 656 in ABC Action

DETROIT (AP)—John Powell Jr., of Toledo is off to a flying 656 start in his quest of the classic division all-events crown of the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

Powell rolled a series of 230-192-234 as he paced the Ansberg-West Club of Toledo to a 2,874 total in its classic debut Tuesday night. He sees action in doubles and singles today before returning to the lanes tonight for the team's second classic appearance.

Bob Brayman of Detroit leads the classic division all-events with 1,963.

H. Murphy Slams 617

Hilda Murphy was consistently good in the Bowlerama Quads league with games of 201-195-221—617, her umpteenth triple above 600 this season.

Other high hitters in the circuit included Liz Smith 482, Anne Hinkley 480, Lorraine Ferraro 452, Kathy Schmitt 233-555, Rosemary Pillsworth 221-542, Flo Shaw 438, Arlene Raible 471, Ada Dubost 221-552, Martha Petersen 438, Betty Egan 427, Rose Schatzel 200-557, June Van Kleeck 462, Vi Pechloff 416, Nell Alverson 524, Ella Lowe 415, Kay Roosa 458 and Evelyn Nitsch 477. Results: Bernal Sales 2, Rett Williams Texaco 1; Jake's Grill 3, Vinnie Lu Manufacturing Co. 0; Pine Hill Bus Corp. 2, Trailways Cafeteria 1.

Orioles Defeat Tribe, 5-2; Giants Advance to Top of NL

KC Explodes For 20-2 Win Over Minnesota

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles, scoring all their runs in the first five innings behind Steve Barber, defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-2, and the Kansas City A's walloped Minnesota 20-2 Tuesday night in the American League.

Boston whipped Washington 6-1 in a day game. The New York at Detroit and Los Angeles at Chicago games were rained out.

Barber, 22, left-hander, blanked the Indians without a hit until the sixth inning — when Johnny Temple extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a one-out double—but then needed ninth-inning relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Bell Loses Again

Jim Gentile drove in three Baltimore runs, two with a first-inning homer, and Jerry Adair got the other two with a double and a single. Gary Bell, the young Cleveland right-hander who had arm trouble last season, lost his third of the year and sixth in a row since last July.

The A's rapped seven Minnesota pitchers for 16 hits—half of them for extra bases—and also collected 10 walks. They scored six runs in the third off loser Ted Sadowski, then ran off with eight runs in the sixth, all charged to Paul Giel in one-third of an inning.

Haywood Sullivan hit two triples a double and a single and drove in five runs for the A's. Norm Bass, 22, was the winner in his first major league start. The right-hander gave up seven hits and walked nine.

Conley Hurls Well

Right-hander Gene Conley, making a belated start after helping the Boston Celtics win the pro basketball title, was a winner in his first AL game with the Red Sox. Conley, acquired in a trade with the Philadelphia Phillies, shut out the Senators on five hits for eight frames, then needed relief by Mike Fornieles. Pete Burnside was the loser.

Jones Dairy Hits 2878 in Tourney

Larry Petersen shot 622 but his teammates had only average triples as Jones Dairy rolled 2878 in the Jenny tournament at Rochester last weekend.

Pauline's Styles Center of Delmar pegged a three game total of 3,071 with handicap to defeat the Jenny Five of Rochester, which rolled 2998. The Delmar five will collect a $1,000 first prize in the contest, sponsored by the Genesee Brewing Co. The club had a scratch pin fall of 2528 and added a 543 pin handicap.

The only other team to beat the Jenny Five was the Van Weis club from Buffalo with 3054 and handicap. Van Weis is a men's team.

Sanford Hurls San Francisco To 3-1 Verdict

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, getting standout jobs from Stu Miller, Willie McCovey and Willie Mays, replaced Los Angeles in first place in the National League by beating the Dodgers 3-1 Tuesday night. Milwaukee came from behind for a 4-3 decision over St. Louis.

The Philadelphia at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati at Chicago games were rained out.

The Dodgers, after winning three in a row, ran into quick trouble against the Giants, who hold a .012 percentage point edge after winning the opener of a two-game series at Los Angeles. Chuck Hiller opened with a single off Dodger ace Don Drysdale (2-2) and scored on a single by McCovey. The Giants' first baseman then tagged a fourth-inning solo homer for the decisive run.

Six Big Zeroes

Right-hander Jack Sanford won his first and had the Dodgers on a string for six innings, allowing just two hits. In the seventh, Junior Gilliam drew one of Sanford's six walks and scored on singles by Maury Wills and Charlie Neal. That's when Miller hustled in for a perfect, three-inning relief job.

Miller first retired Tommy Davis on a foul pop and then got Wally Moon on a liner to Mays in center. Willie's rifle shot to catcher Tom Haller nailed Wills trying to score.

Moon, the Dodgers' hero with a NL record-tying total of eight home runs for April, was hitless for the first time in 14 games this season.

A single by Henry Aaron drove in the tying run for the Braves and an error by Red Schoendienst brought in the clincher as Milwaukee came from behind with three runs in the eighth against loser Curt Simmons (1-1) and reliever Lindy McDaniel. Lew Burdette won his first, on the third try, giving up six hits, one a ninth-inning home run by Stan Musial.

Probation Will Be Lifted Today At Auburn School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association today is expected to end probation and permit Auburn University once again to take part in NCAA-sponsored championships and bowl games.

A top NCAA source said the decision would come when the council acted on a report by the committee on infractions, which has been reviewing the athletic "policies and practices" of the Alabama school. The council ends a three-day meeting today.

Auburn has been on probation for player recruiting rule violations since 1956. It is the longest penalty handed any NCAA member since 1952, when the NCAA began enforcement of its code on recruiting of athletes.

The council Tuesday banned organized summer basketball competition. Players taking part in such summer basketball could not play college basketball under the proposal by the NCAA council.

Most organized summer basketball is played either in the Los Angeles area or in the Eastern United States. New York's Catskill Mountain resorts, the so-called "Borscht Circuit," is a hot bed of summer basketball.

NCAA Executive Secretary Walter Byers said the council refused to delay by one year a new ban on participation of high school football players in all-star football games.

The 1961 NCAA convention adopted the new rule. Some promoters of all-star games had asked that it be eased for some games this year.

$2650 Guaranteed For High Gross And Net Winners

Plans for the third annual Rip Van Winkle 100 per cent handicap team tournament for men and women were announced today by Mrs. Nell Glennon, tournament secretary.

Deadline for entries is Sunday, April 30, with the tournament running from May 12 through June 4.

First place in the men's gross division pays a guaranteed $1,000, with $500 for second place. First place net is worth $250.

In the women's division there is a first place gross prize of $500, with $250 for second and $150 for first net.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association which is conducting the tournament for Ferraro's Bowlerama will share in the receipts, the money going to the 1962 New York State Women's tournament fund.

The tournament is open to all sanctioned men and women bowlers of the ABC and WIBC. Entry fee is $25 per team.

The highest known average at the end of the 1959-60 season is to be used providing the bowler has appeared in 15 games. Handicaps will be computed on 100 per cent off 1000 scratch team average, with a maximum of 250 pins per game.

Dates and squad times available are: Fridays—May 12, 19, 26 and June 2; Saturdays—May 13, 20, 27 and June 3; Sundays—May 14, 21, 28 and June 4. The squads will be at 7 p. m. and 9:15 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays. There will be four shifts on Sundays—at 1 p. m., 3:30, 7:30 and 9:15.

Checks should be made payable to John Ferraro and entries mailed to Nell Glennon, 62 Fair Street, Kingston.

St. James Cagers Receive Awards

Members of St. James Methodist Church's Senior division basketball champions of the Protestant Church Basketball League were honored at the April meeting of the St. James Methodist Men in the church hall.

The St. James swept the Senior title with the loss of only one game, and that by three points. Team personnel included John Hunter, captain; Harold Broskie, John Lewis, Richard Lewis, Roger Wells, Bob Petersen and John Bream.

Lou Schafer, executive secretary of the YMCA, spoke briefly on the changes that have taken place in the game of basketball since its inception in 1891. He said that the changes made in the game were almost directly attributed to the change in the basketball itself.

Schafer congratulated the team on winning the championship and presented them a handsome trophy, emblematic of the title.

Sharing the sports program was an address by the Rev. Merill C. Johnson, a former pastor of St. James and now at the First Methodist Church of Newburgh. The Rev. Mr. Johnson's topic: "A Man, A Mission, A Message," was of interest to all present. He explained what Methodism was, how and why it came into being and when and where it started.

Orioles Defeat Tribe, 5-2; Giants Advance to Top of NL

KC Explodes For 20-2 Win Over Minnesota

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore Orioles, scoring all their runs in the first five innings behind Steve Barber, defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-2, and the Kansas City A's walloped Minnesota 20-2 Tuesday night in the American League.

Boston whipped Washington 6-1 in a day game. The New York at Detroit and Los Angeles at Chicago games were rained out.

Barber, 22, left-hander, blanked the Indians without a hit until the sixth inning — when Johnny Temple extended his hitting streak to 11 games with a one-out double—but then needed ninth-inning relief help from Hoyt Wilhelm.

Bell Loses Again

Jim Gentile drove in three Baltimore runs, two with a first-inning homer, and Jerry Adair got the other two with a double and a single. Gary Bell, the young Cleveland right-hander who had arm trouble last season, lost his third of the year and sixth in a row since last July.

The A's rapped seven Minnesota pitchers for 15 hits—half of them for extra bases—and also collected 10 walks. They scored six runs in the third off loser Ted Sadowski, then ran off with eight runs in the sixth, all charged to Paul Giel in one-third of an inning.

Haywood Sullivan hit two triples a double and a single and drove in five runs for the A's. Norm Bass, 22, was the winner in his first major league start. The right-hander gave up seven hits and walked nine.

Conley Hurls Well

Right-hander Gene Conley, making a belated start after helping the Boston Celtics win the pro basketball title, was a winner in his first AL game with the Red Sox. Conley, acquired in a trade with the Philadelphia Phillies, shut out the Senators on five hits for eight frames, then needed relief by Mike Fornieles. Pete Burnside was the loser.

Jones Dairy Hits 2878 in Tourney

Larry Petersen shot 622 but his teammates had only average triples as Jones Dairy rolled 2878 in the Jenny tournament at Rochester last weekend.

Pauline's Styles Center of Delmar pegged a three game total of 3,071 with handicap to defeat the Jenny Five of Rochester, which rolled 2998. The Delmar five will collect a $1,000 first prize in the contest, sponsored by the Genesee Brewing Co. The club had a scratch pin fall of 2528 and added a 543 pin handicap.

The only other team to beat the Jenny Five was the Van Weis club from Buffalo with 3054 and handicap. Van Weis is a men's team.

Sanford Hurls San Francisco To 3-1 Verdict

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, getting standout jobs from Stu Miller, Willie McCovey and Willie Mays, replaced Los Angeles in first place in the National League by beating the Dodgers 3-1 Tuesday night. Milwaukee came from behind for a 4-3 decision over St. Louis.

The Philadelphia at Pittsburgh and Cincinnati at Chicago games were rained out.

The Dodgers, after winning three in a row, ran into quick trouble against the Giants, who hold a .012 percentage point edge after winning the opener of a two-game series at Los Angeles. Chuck Hiller opened with a single off Dodger ace Don Drysdale (2-2) and scored on a single by McCovey. The Giants' first baseman then tagged a fourth-inning solo homer for the decisive run.

Six Big Zeroes

Right-hander Jack Sanford won his first and had the Dodgers on a string for six innings, allowing just two hits. In the seventh, Junior Gilliam drew one of Sanford's six walks and scored on singles by Maury Wills and Charlie Neal. That's when Miller hustled in for a perfect, three-inning relief job.

Miller first retired Tommy Davis on a foul pop and then got Wally Moon on a liner to Mays in center. Willie's rifle shot to catcher Tom Haller nailed Wills trying to score.

Moon, the Dodgers' hero with a NL record-tying total of eight home runs for April, was hitless for the first time in 14 games this season.

A single by Henry Aaron drove in the tying run for the Braves and an error by Red Schoendienst brought in the clincher as Milwaukee came from behind with three runs in the eighth against loser Curt Simmons (1-1) and reliever Lindy McDaniel. Lew Burdette won his first, on the third try, giving up six hits, one a ninth-inning home run by Stan Musial.

Probation Will Be Lifted Today At Auburn School

WASHINGTON (AP) — The council of the National Collegiate Athletic Association today is expected to end probation and permit Auburn University once again to take part in NCAA-sponsored championships and bowl games.

A top NCAA source said the decision would come when the council acted on a report by the committee on infractions, which has been reviewing the athletic "policies and practices" of the Alabama school. The council ends a three-day meeting today.

Auburn has been on probation for player recruiting rule violations since 1956. It is the longest penalty handed any NCAA member since 1952, when the NCAA began enforcement of its code on recruiting of athletes.

The council Tuesday banned organized summer basketball competition. Players taking part in such summer basketball could not play college basketball under the proposal by the NCAA council.

Most organized summer basketball is played either in the Los Angeles area or in the Eastern United States. New York's Catskill Mountain resorts, the so-called "Borscht Circuit," is a hot bed of summer basketball.

NCAA Executive Secretary Walter Byers said the council refused to delay by one year a new ban on participation of high school football players in all-star football games.

The 1961 NCAA convention adopted the new rule. Some promoters of all-star games had asked that it be eased for some games this year.

$2650 Guaranteed For High Gross And Net Winners

Plans for the third annual Rip Van Winkle 100 per cent handicap team tournament for men and women were announced today by Mrs. Nell Glennon, tournament secretary.

Deadline for entries is Sunday, April 30, with the tournament running from May 12 through June 4.

First place in the men's gross division pays a guaranteed $1,000, with $500 for second place. First place net is worth $250.

In the women's division there is a first place gross prize of $500, with $250 for second and $150 for first net.

The Kingston Woman's Bowling Association which is conducting the tournament for Ferraro's Bowlerama will share in the receipts, the money going to the 1962 New York State Women's tournament fund.

The tournament is open to all sanctioned men and women bowlers of the ABC and WIBC. Entry fee is $25 per team.

The highest known average at the end of the 1959-60 season is to be used providing the bowler has appeared in 15 games. Handicaps will be computed on 100 per cent off 1000 scratch team average, with a maximum of 250 pins per game.

Dates and squad times available are: Fridays—May 12, 19, 26 and June 2; Saturdays—May 13, 20, 27 and June 3; Sundays—May 14, 21, 28 and June 4. The squads will be at 7 p. m. and 9:15 p. m. on Fridays and Saturdays. There will be four shifts on Sundays—at 1 p. m., 3:30, 7:30 and 9:15.

Checks should be made payable to John Ferraro and entries mailed to Nell Glennon, 62 Fair Street, Kingston.

St. James Cagers Receive Awards

Members of St. James Methodist Church's Senior division basketball champions of the Protestant Church Basketball League were honored at the April meeting of the St. James Methodist Men in the church hall.

The St. James swept the Senior title with the loss of only one game, and that by three points. Team personnel included John Hunter, captain; Harold Broskie, John Lewis, Richard Lewis, Roger Wells, Bob Petersen and John Bream.

Lou Schafer, executive secretary of the YMCA, spoke briefly on the changes that have taken place in the game of basketball since its inception in 1891. He said that the changes made in the game were almost directly attributed to the change in the basketball itself.

Schafer congratulated the team on winning the championship and presented them a handsome trophy, emblematic of the title.

Shotput Ace Seeks Sweep At Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa. (AP) — Baylor shotputter John Fry is shooting for a sweep of the three major Midwest relays titles in the 52nd running of the Drake Relays Friday and Saturday.

Fry, whose all-time best is a toss of 58-10, won the Texas and Kansas crowns. If he captures the Drake title he will snuff a bid by Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay to join the select list of three-time winners in the Drake meet.

Lindsay, a Briton, won here as a sophomore and junior. Only 12 athletes in the history of the meet have won the same event three times.

The shotput battle—with Georgia Tech strongman Ed Nutting also challenging — is one of many featured field events.

The pole vault matches three 15-foot vaulters, defending champion J. D. Martin of Oklahoma, George Davies of Oklahoma State and Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist.

Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I, holder of the world record in the broad jump, will attempt to better the oldest Drake mark of 26-1¾ by Jesse Owens. Boston also has announced plans to run in two spring relays for his school.

Midwest track fans will get their first look at high jumper John Thomas of Boston University, who has leaped 7-3¾. Thomas hopes to use the Drake meet as the kickoff to a successful outdoor campaign to overtake the Soviet jumpers.

Fumerelle Earns Win Over Jones

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Rocky Fumerelle smiled from below scarred and swollen eyebrows today, even in the face of an automatic suspension from the State Athletic Commission.

The 23-year-old Buffalo boxer suffered cuts above his eyes Tuesday night in belting out an unanimous 10-round decision over hard-working Ralph (Tiger) Jones of White Plains.

Jones went to the canvas twice in the fight, but both times claimed he had been pushed. He took the compulsory 8-count, however.

The victory was the most impressive in Fumerelle's 27-fight career that has been marred by one loss. It was Jones' 27th loss in 77 bouts.

Fumerelle will have to sit it out for about six weeks under the state commission rules pertaining to cuts near the eyes.

Referee Lou Scozza scored the fight for Fumerelle 5, 4 and 1 even, the same as the Associated Press. Judge Lou Goldstein saw it 6, 3 and 1 even for Fumerelle and Judge Dick Fay gave it to Fumerelle 6 and 4.

Fumerelle weighed 161, Jones 159½.

A crowd of 2,159 paid $4,904 to watch.

NFL Viewers Will See Other Action

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Television viewers will get to see more of the unscheduled action in National Football League games next fall.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle said today that while he agrees with his late predecessor, Bert Bell, that violence should not be featured on televised football games, he also believes the fans should know what's happening on the field.

"Moving the cameras to show the flag and blue skies just doesn't make much sense," Rozelle said in an interview.

Bell was adamant that player brawls should not be shown on television.

"I've talked to the network about this policy and told them to go ahead and exercise their judgment when these things occur," Rozelle said. "They really don't happen that often."

The 35-year-old commissioner is here for his league's annual meeting, which opens today.

Reading Leads Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Before the Eastern League opened play last Friday night, Dan Zerbey, general manager of the Reading Indians, made these observations:

"It should make an interesting league and at the moment I don't believe there's one club more outstanding than the others."

"We (Reading) won't be as strong offensvely as we were a year ago. But we'll be better defensively and probably will have more speed. We'll be an interesting club and one that likes to run."

Thus far, the Indians have been an interesting club, riding atop the league with a 3-1 record. They're off to a good start and could surprise many observers.

The Indians, meanwhile, were rained out at Binghamton Tuesday night.

Rain and wet grounds also forced postponement of the two other scheduled games—Williamsport at Lancaster and Springfield at Johnstown.

Player Still Leading Golf Money Winners

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) —Fourteen tournaments have been played on the professional golf tour this year and the undisputed king of the winners is Gary Player of Langhorne, Pa.

The former South African has taken home $45,385.33 so far this year. His total includes $20,000 for winning the Masters Tournament in Augusta, Ga.

Second on the list is Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., last year's top winner. Palmer has pulled in $32,925 on the tour. He won more than $80,000 last season.

Ground Broken For Shelter by Local Jaycees

Ground was broken Saturday for the first air raid shelter to be used for demonstration purposes in the Saugerties area. The local Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the project as part of its Operation Survival educational effort to inform the public of the danger of radioactive fallout in case of an air raid.

Attending the ceremonies on the property at the rear of the Amrod's Department Store, Partition Street, were Peter Williams,, Town of Saugerties supervisor, Ben Sanford, Civilian Defense director for the Town of Saugerties, Dominic Brugnolotti, commander of the Town of Ulster Civilian Defense, William House and Richard Nelson of the communications divisions group, Frank Dunn, commander of the Hudson Valley County Council of the VFW, Barbara Poleschner of the Jayncees, George Duffy, chairman of Operation Survival, Charles Rice, Jaycee president, and Jaycee members Terry Martin, Jack Fitzpatrick, James Pepperl, Robert Mann, Graham Barkhuff and Andrew Chesnick, and representatives of the press.

In addition to the donation of the property by Amrod, Frank Myer of the Jaycee organization contributed the gravel for the base of the structure and the labor for the excavation, Norman Nelson donated the ready mixed cement and the laying of the slab, and the Saugerties Coal and Lumber Company will furnish all other material for the completion of the shelter.

It is the intent of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to build another structure in the outlying area in the fall. Several of the members are now in the process of building family shelters in the basement of their homes which they will use for demonstration purposes in their effort to alert the public on the need for protecting their families if the occasion arises.

Shotput Ace Seeks Sweep At Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa. (AP) — Baylor shotputter John Fry is shooting for a sweep of the three major Midwest relays titles in the 52nd running of the Drake Relays Friday and Saturday.

Fry, whose all-time best is a toss of 58-10, won the Texas and Kansas crowns. If he captures the Drake title he will snuff a bid by Oklahoma's Mike Lindsay to join the select list of three-time winners in the Drake meet.

Lindsay, a Briton, won here as a sophomore and junior. Only 12 athletes in the history of the meet have won the same event three times.

The shotput battle—with Georgia Tech strongman Ed Nutting also challenging — is one of many featured field events.

The pole vault matches three 15-foot vaulters, defending champion J. D. Martin of Oklahoma, George Davies of Oklahoma State and Dexter Elkins of Southern Methodist.

Ralph Boston of Tennessee A&I, holder of the world record in the broad jump, will attempt to better the oldest Drake mark of 26-1¾ by Jesse Ownes. Boston also has announced plans to run in two spring relays for his school.

Area Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Staney Benham of Birchwood Drive were part of a family group who entertained in honor of Mrs. Benham's parents' 50th wedding anniversary Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bowman of Millbrook, whose anniversary was April 20, held open house all day Saturday and received the well wishes of scores of their relatives and friends.

George Kime of Hill Street is a patient in Room 135 at the Benedictine Hospital where he will be for the next few weeks.

Raph Heinrich, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Holzhauer of Partition Street, received Sacrament of Holy Baptism at the Atonement Lutheran Church Sunday, April 23. The Rev. Walter Cowen officiated.

Events Scheduled

Saturday's Jayncees sponsored story hour will feature colored slides of Loyalty Day parades of the past to acquaint the 5 to 7 year olds with the importance of the day. The patriotic theme will be carried through with the playing of marching records and group singing. Mrs. Warren Knaust, representing the Junior League of Kingston, will be in charge.

A meeting to discuss the proposed Community Chest for the Saugerties area will be held Thursday 8:15 p. m. at the Stonewall Hotel. The public may attend and hear the results of study made by several local citizens.

Cub Pack 32, sponsored by the Atonement Lutheran Church, which meets on Friday evening at the church hall, will delay it's opening until 8 p. m., to give parents and children time to visit the elementary school's open house program that evening.

Plans are advancing for the Lion's Club ladies night to be held at the Flamingo Restaurant May 6. Ben Fein, chairman, announced today that Louis Francello will act as master of ceremonies. A borbershop quartet will be an added attraction, and several dancing contests with awards will be featured during the evening. Members may contact the committee chairman for reservations.

RECEIVES HER CROWN—Miss Pamela LaPlante, Saugerties High School senior, is crowned Miss Loyalty by the president of Saugerties VFW Auxiliary, Mrs. Janice Dengler.

Saugerties Dems Schedule Dinner

The Town of Saugerties Democratic Club will hold a fund raising dinner on Thursday at 7 p. m. at the Flamingo Restaurant, Route 9W, Saugerties.

Guests will include William A. Kelly, chairman of the Ulster County Democratic Committee and William Mahoney, City Democratic chairman.

Tickets will be available at the door.

First pictures of men wearing clothes date back nearly 20,000 years.

Israeli Factions Merge

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)—Two Israeli political factions have merged into a new liberal party pledged to "save Israel's democracy from stagnation."

The party is a merger of the conservative General Zionists and the left of center Progressives.

Reds Shell Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist Chinese guns gave nationalist Quemoy its heaviest bombardment in two months Tuesday night, the Defense Ministry said. Eighty-five shells hit the offshore island during two hours.

LEGAL NOTICE

At a Special Term of the County Court, County of Ulster, held at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 24th day of April, 1961.

PRESENT:
HON. RAYMOND J. MINO
County Judge

In the Matter of the Application for the Change of Name of ROBERT JOSEPH BARANELLO An Infant By GERDA GRAY, His Mother

AMENDED ORDER

Upon reading and filing the Petition of Gerda Gray, verified the 8th day of February, 1961, praying for a change of name of the above named infant, it being requested that he be permitted to assume the name of Robert Joseph Gray, in the place and stead of his present name, and the affidavit of Hugh R. Elwyn, Esq., verified the 21st day of April, 1961, and due notice of this application having been given to Francis J. Baranello, the father of the above named Robert Joseph Baranello, an infant, by mailing a copy of the Notice of the application herein, dated February 8th, 1961 to him by registered mail addressed to him at his last known address without the State of New York as appears from the affidavit of Linda M. Smith, sworn to February 27th, 1961, and such notice having been returned by the Post Office for the reason that the said registered mail was unclaimed by the addressee, and it further appearing that Francis J. Baranello, the father of the above named infant has no other known address without the State, further Notice of this application be and hereby is dispensed with; and the Court being satisfied from the Petition and Certificate of Birth presented therewith that the Petition is true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed, and that the interests of the infant will be substantially promoted by the change; and it further appearing that the infant Robert Joseph Baranello was born on March 22, 1943 at Mitchell Field, Town of Hempstead, Nassau County, New York and that the Certificate of Birth issued by the Department of Health of the State of New York bears Number 34650;

NOW, on motion of Hugh R. Elwyn, Esq., attorney for the said petitioner, it is

ORDERED, that the said Robert Joseph Baranello, born on March 22, 1943, at Mitchell Field, Nassau County, New York, with Birth Certificate Number 34650, issued by the Department of Health of the State of New York be and he hereby is authorized to assume the name of Robert Joseph Gray in place and stead of his present name upon complying with the provisions of Article 6 of the Civil Rights Law and of this order; namely,

That this order be entered and the said petition upon which it was granted be filed within ten (10) days from the date hereof in the Office of the Clerk of this Court in the County of Ulster; that within twenty (20) days from the date of entry hereof, a copy of this order be published in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published in the County of Ulster, New York; and that within forty (40) days of the making of this order, proof of such publication by affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of this Court in the County of Ulster, and it is further,

ORDERED, that upon compliance with all of the requirements herein contained, the said infant, Robert Joseph Baranello, shall on and after the 8th day of June, 1961 be known by the name of Robert Joseph Gray, which he is hereby authorized to assume, and by no other name.

Open Meeting on Planning Slated at Town Hall, May 2

Planning and zoning for Woodstock will be the subject of an illustrated talk, sponsored by the Woodstock Town Planning Board to be held at the town hall on Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. The meeting is open to the public.

Harry A. Anthony, nationally known planning expert, will describe the advantages of establishing a Growth Plan for Woodstock and its implementation through the proper ordinances.

J. C. van Rijn, chairman of the Planning Board, says:

'This is probably the most important civic meeting of the year. In preparing and adopting a plan, Woodstock can guide its growth in the direction the citizens themselves desire and avert the threat of losing its fine identity."

Consultant to Speak

Harry A. Anthony, head of the Department of Urban Planning at Columbia University, talked to a group of businessmen on March 28. He has visited Woodstock many times and is thoroughly familiar with Woodstock and the problems facing it. He has prepared plans for the neighboring communities of Woodridge, Ellenville, Catskill and East Greenbush. Anthony is a principal in Brown and Anthony, professional planners, who are responsible for many community plans in the United States, Canada and several foreign countries.

"I urge all residents to attend this meeting," said Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux. "Everyone who has a stake in Woodstock should be keenly interested in protecting his investment through planning."

The talk will be followed by a question and answer period when everyone will have an opportunity to find out how planning and zoning could affect his personal interests.

Woodstock LWV's Local Item Will Examine Youth Problems

Because of widespread interest among its members in the problems of young people today, the Woodstock League of Women Voters has voted unanimously to take up a study of the following local item for next year: "A study and Evaluation of the Laws, Agencies and Facilities for the Youth of Woodstock."

This decision was reached at the League's annual April dinner meeting at Deanie's.

On April 20, a meeting of the outgoing and incoming board members was held at the home of Mrs. Reginald Wilson. At this time, the League's president, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, announced that the new board had appointed Mrs. James Comfort as chairman of this local study group, with Mrs. E. Ballantine as co-chairman.

The other members of the new board and their duties for the coming year are as follows: Miss Florence Hubbard, first vice-president and chairman of the Economic Diplomacy Workshop; Mrs. Lynn Wells, second vice-president, Publications; Mrs. Richard Langham, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Horsey, treasurer; Mrs. Inger Walker, membership; Mrs. Reginald Wilson, bulletin; Mrs. Michael Earnest, program; Miss Florence Harrison, finance; Mrs. Herwig Sternberg, voters service; Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz, court reorganization; Mrs. Robert Ketcham, national continuing responsibilities; Mrs. Hans Cohn, state education laws; Mrs. Lawrence Walker, town budget study; and Mrs. Gordon Frye, public relations. The chairman of the education study group will be announced at a later date. Mrs. Schwarz then bade a very regretful farewell to members of the retiring board whose terms had expired and thanked them all for their cooperation and hard work during the past year.

The May meeting of the League will be held at Deanie's on Wednesday, May 3rd, at which time the education study group will present a program on financing education. Presenting this program will be Miss Florence Harrison, Mrs. Kate Musof, and Mrs. Lawrence Walker.

Schwarz Letter Sets the Record

The following letter has been submitted for publication by Kermit Schwarz, former chairman and now a member of the Recreation Committee of the Town of Woodstock:

"I have written a letter to The Townsman to point out an error they made in quoting you at the Town Board meeting. They quoted you as saying that the chairman of the recreation committee receives $650 per year. I know that you are well aware that it is the director of the field who is paid that salary, and that committee members, as well as their chairman, volunteer their services. I would appreciate your publishing this letter to correct this misquote.

"I realize that this is an election year, but surely the politicians can find other targets for their campaigns, and leave the recreation field alone. A headline in the Press: "Town Board Holds Up Recreation Committee" was read with distaste by many of us. Mrs. Geertsema, who objected to the appointments, should be reminded that the recreation committee is composed of volunteer workers, who give considerably of their time and efforts for the good of the children in the town.

"Mrs. Geertsema has succeeded in "holding up the recreation committee," and requested that "new faces" appear on the committee, as though it were some sort of political plum. It seems to me that it makes no difference to the children who enjoy the field if the faces on the committee are new or old. The Town Board should be concerned with getting the most interested and qualified people to agree to serve in the community. It seems to me that Mrs. Geertsema and the Town Board might even go so far as to thank those people who are willing to serve, instead of badgering and insulting them. . . KERMIT SCHWARZ."

Seasonal Plans Are Announced By Garden Club

Officers of the Woodstock Garden Club have announced plans for the 1961 season, including the first meeting on Wednesday, May 3, at 2 p. m. at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. At that time members will hear a talk on the New York Federation of Garden Clubs.

At the June meeting, John Swenson will talk on horticulture. In July there will be a Garden Tour to Sterling Forest Gardens at Tuxedo.

Miss Therese Kessel will review recent garden books at the August meeting and in September, Mrs. Joan Bennett, landscape designer, will present a lecture, "Plan Before You Plant."

At the final meeting in October, Mrs. Charles Sheldon will talk on Japanese Gardens, illustrating her talk with slides of her recent trip to Japan.

Area residents who are interested in joining the club should indicate to the membership chairman, Mrs. S. Brainerd West.

Official Visit By Mrs. Yakin to Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Anna Yakin, District Deputy President of Ulster District No. 1, made her official visit to the Agapae Rebekah Lodge No. 623 Wednesday at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Weichelt, Noble Grand, presided. Mrs. Yakin was accompanied by members of her official staff.

New committees were appointed by Mrs. Weichelt as follows: Refreshment committee for month of May—Mrs. Louise Tackella, Mrs. Margaret Dircks and Mrs. Theresa Elmer; Sunshine committee for months of May and June—Woodstock and Zena, Miss Florence Peper; Kingston, West Hurley and Hurley, Mrs. Claudia Haynes; Bearsville and Wittenberg, Mrs. Merrill Reynolds; Shady, Lake Hill and Willow, Mrs. Elizabeth MacDaniel.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were served by Mrs. Walenah Cashdollar, Mrs. Theresa Grazier and Mrs. Louise Tackella, who was subbing for Elsie Ertz.

Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Past Noble Grands Association of Ulster District will be held on Saturday, April 29, at Queen of the Catskill Mt. Rebekah Lodge, West Saugerties. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., with the meeting to follow.

Legion Auxiliary

Regular meeting of Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary 1026 will be held Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. at the American Legion hall.

Women's League Urges Support Of Latin Aid

The Woodstock League of Women Voters urged today that all interested members of the community write their senators in support of the 600 million Latin American aid program currently before Congress. This program, requested by President Kennedy for economic improvements in Latin America, has been voted through by the House Appropriations Committee. It is now before the House, which is expected to pass this quickly, after which the bill will go to the Senate.

According to Miss Florence Hubbard, who is the new chairman of the League's Economic Diplomacy study group, this money is to be used as part of a long-range ten-year plan for the economic and social development of the Americas. This is not intended as a stop-gap program to meet the current Cuban crisis, but rather it is part of the "Inter-American Fund for Social Progress." This plan originated in the Organization of American States and is a dramatic joint effort by North and South American nations to help our Latin American neighbors better the living conditions of millions of their peoples.

Since the plan's inception in September of 1960, these people have been waiting to see if our country would actually support this idea, or if we would once again turn our backs on their sufferings. This is a crucial time in our relations with these countries and all members of the League urge everyone to write to Senator Jacob K. Javits and Senator Kenneth B. Keating, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., asking their support of this bill for aid to Latin American countries.

Reformed Church News and Notes

The Adult Study Class of the Woodstock Reformed Church meets Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Annex. The topic will be "The Life of John Calvin."

Catechism for young people, 13 years of age and older, is scheduled in Room 7, of the Annex, on Saturday, April 29, at 11 a. m.

Sunday School meets Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. The class for adults, taught by the Rev. Wayne C. Olson, meets in the sanctuary Morning worship, Sunday, April 30, at 11 a. m. The sermon title for Pastor Olson is "A Christian Greeting" The Senior choir will sing. Visitors are welcome to the service. Nursery accommodations are available in the Annex.

Consistory meets in stated session, Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. in the Annex. Plans for a congregation work-party on May 20, will be made and reports will be heard from the Christian Education, Worship and Service, Church Home and Stewardship committees.

Republican Club To Hear Corwin

David Corwin of New Paltz, who was recently appointed District Attorney of Ulster County by Gov. Rockefeller, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Woodstock Republican Club, Thursday, April 27, at 8 p. m. at Deanie's.

Corwin was named by the governor to fill the unexpired term of Raymond J. Mino, who was recently elevated to the position of County Judge.

The new district attorney is well known in the Mid-Hudson region. He was graduated from Union College in 1933 and from Albany Law School in 1936. On graduation he was admitted to the bar and joined John N. Vanderlyn of New Paltz in the general practice of law.

He was President of the Board of Education of New Paltz for five years during the 1940's. His long experience in legal matters in this region causes him to speak with considerable authority on the legal administration of county and state matters.

Home Unit Articles Are in Bank Display

Articles made by the Woodstock Home Unit will be on display in the Bank of Orange County's show window during National Home Demonstration Week, May 1-6.

New Idea in Bridge Score

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Leonard Greene of White Plains has come up with a new idea for rubber bridge. All regular rules are followed except that after each hand the side with fewer high card points is awarded 50 points for each high card point less than 20.

Today's hand would prove quite a bonanza for East and West under Mr. Greene's system. Not only would they collect 100 points for setting South one trick, but 350 more because they only held 13 high card points between them.

Of course, the hand should not have been set and in fact many of you readers will wonder how South did manage to go down.

This is what happened. He won the heart opening in dummy; led the jack of diamonds and let it ride. West played low without batting an eyelash and South tried a second diamond finesse.

West took his queen this time and cleared his hearts. Later on all West had to do was to duck one club and South wound up with only eight tricks.

West's deceptive play worked. Had it not, it should ony have cost him an extra trick or two. After the jack of diamonds held South should have won the next diamond lead with his king. If East held the queen that diamond finesse would still keep and there was a sure entry to dummy.

In that case, West's deception would have led to a couple of overtricks for South.

LEGAL NOTICE

At a Special Term of the County Court, County of Ulster, held at the Court House, in the City of Kingston, New York on the 24th day of April, 1961.

PRESENT:
HON. RAYMOND J. MINO
County Judge

In the Matter of the Application for the Change of Name of
ROBERT JOSEPH BARANELLO
An Infant
By GERDA GRAY, His Mother

AMENDED ORDER

Upon reading and filing the Petition of Gerda Gray, verified the 8th day of February, 1961, praying for a change of name of the above named infant, it being requested that he be permitted to assume the name of Robert Joseph Gray, in the place and stead of his present name, and the affidavit of Hugh R. Elwyn, Esq., verified the 21st day of April, 1961, and due notice of this application having been given to Francis J. Baranello, the father of the above named Robert Joseph Baranello, an infant, by mailing a copy of the Notice of the application herein, dated February 8th, 1961 to him by registered mail addressed to him at his last known address without the State of New York as appears from the affidavit of Linda M. Smith, sworn to February 27th, 1961, and such notice having been returned by the Post Office for the reason that the said registered mail was unclaimed by the addressee, and it further appearing that Francis J. Baranello, the father of the above named infant has no other known address without the State, further Notice of this application be and hereby is dispensed with; and the Court being satisfied from the Petition and Certificate of Birth presented therewith that the Petition is true and that there is no reasonable objection to the change of name proposed, and that the interests of the infant will be substantially promoted by the change; and it further appearing that the infant Robert Joseph Baranello was born on March 22, 1943 at Mitchell Field, Town of Hempstead, Nassau County, New York and that the Certificate of Birth issued by the Department of Health of the State of New York bears Number 34650;

NOW, on motion of Hugh R. Elwyn, Esq., attorney for the said petitioner, it is

ORDERED, that the said Robert Joseph Baranello, born on March 22, 1943, at Mitchell Field, Nassau County, New York, with Birth Certificate Number 34650, issued by the Department of Health of the State of New York be and he hereby is authorized to assume the name of Robert Joseph Gray in place and stead of his present name upon complying with the provisions of Article 6 of the Civil Rights Law and of this order, namely,

That this order be entered and the said petition upon which it was granted, be filed within ten (10) days from the date hereof in the Office of the Clerk of this Court in the County of Ulster; that within twenty (20) days from the date of entry hereof, a copy of this order be published in the Kingston Daily Freeman, a newspaper published in the County of Ulster, New York; and that within forty (40) days of the making of this order, proof of such publication by affidavit shall be filed with the Clerk of this Court in the County of Ulster, and it is further,

ORDERED, that upon compliance with all of the requirements herein contained, the said infant, Robert Joseph Baranello, shall on and after the 5th day of June, 1961 be known by the name of Robert Joseph Gray, which he is hereby authorized to assume, and by no other name.

Open Meeting on Planning Slated at Town Hall, May 2

Planning and zoning for Woodstock will be the subject of an illustrated talk, sponsored by the Woodstock Town Planning Board to be held at the town hall on Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. The meeting is open to the public.

Harry A. Anthony, nationally known planning expert, will describe the advantages of establishing a Growth Plan for Woodstock and its implementation through the proper ordinances.

J. C. van Rijn, chairman of the Planning Board, says:

"This is probably the most important civic meeting of the year. In preparing and adopting a plan, Woodstock can guide its growth in the direction the citizens themselves desire and avert the threat of losing its fine identity."

Consultant to Speak

Harry A. Anthony, head of the Department of Urban Planning at Columbia University, talked to a group of businessmen on March 28. He has visited Woodstock many times and is thoroughly familiar with Woodstock and the problems facing it. He has prepared plans for the neighboring communities of Woodridge, Ellenville, Catskill and East Greenbush. Anthony is a principal in Brown and Anthony, professional planners, who are responsible for many community plans in the United States, Canada and several foreign countries.

"I urge all residents to attend this meeting," said Supervisor Abram F. Molyneaux. "Everyone who has a stake in Woodstock should be keenly interested in protecting his investment through planning."

The talk will be followed by a question and answer period when everyone will have an opportunity to find out how planning and zoning could affect his personal interests.

Woodstock LWV's Local Item Will Examine Youth Problems

Because of widespread interest among its members in the problems of young people today, the Woodstock League of Women Voters has voted unanimously to take up a study of the following local item for next year: "A study and Evaluation of the Laws, Agencies and Facilities for the Youth of Woodstock."

This decision was reached at the League's annual April dinner meeting at Deanie's.

On April 20, a meeting of the outgoing and incoming board members was held at the home of Mrs. Reginald Wilson. At this time, the League's president, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, announced that the new board had appointed Mrs. James Comfort as chairman of this local study group, with Mrs. E. Ballantine as co-chairman.

The other members of the new board and their duties for the coming year are as follows: Miss Florence Hubbard, first vice-president and chairman of the Economic Diplomacy Workshop; Mrs. Lynn Wells, second vice-president, Publications; Mrs. Richard Langham, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Horsey, treasurer; Mrs. Inger Walker, membership; Mrs. Reginald Wilson, bulletin; Mrs. Michael Earnest, program; Miss Florence Harrison, finance; Mrs. Herwig Sternberg, voters service; Mrs. Alvin Moscowitz, court reorganization; Mrs. Robert Ketcham, national continuing responsibilities; Mrs. Hans Cohn, state education laws; Mrs. Lawrence Walker, town budget study; and Mrs. Gordon Frye, public relations. The chairman of the education study group will be announced at a later date. Mrs. Schwarz then bade a very regretful farewell to members of the retiring board whose terms had expired and thanked them all for their co-operation and hard work during the past year.

The May meeting of the League will be held at Deanie's on Wednesday, May 3rd, at which time the education study group will present a program on financing education. Presenting this program will be Miss Florence Harrison, Mrs. Kate Musof, and Mrs. Lawrence Walker.

Schwarz Letter Sets the Record

The following letter has been submitted for publication by Kermit Schwarz, former chairman and now a member of the Recreation Committee of the Town of Woodstock:

"I have written a letter to The Townsman to point out an error they made in quoting you at the Town Board meeting. They quoted you as saying that the chairman of the recreation committee receives $650 per year. I know that you are well aware that it is the director of the field who is paid that salary, and that committee members, as well as their chairman, volunteer their services. I would appreciate your publishing this letter to correct this misquote.

"I realize that this is an election year, but surely the politicians can find other targets for their campaigns, and leave the recreation field alone. A headline in the Press: "Town Board Holds Up Recreation Committee" was read with distaste by many of us. Mrs. Geertsema, who objected to the appointments, should be reminded that the recreation committee is composed of volunteer workers, who give considerably of their time and efforts for the good of the children in the town.

"Mrs. Geertsema has succeeded in "holding up the recreation committee," and requested that "new faces" appear on the committee, as though it were some sort of political plum. It seems to me that it makes no difference to the children who enjoy the field if the faces on the committee are new or old. The Town Board should be concerned with getting the most interested and qualified people to agree to serve in the community. It seems to me that Mrs. Geertsema and the Town Board might even go so far as to thank those people who are willing to serve, instead of badgering and insulting them. . . KERMIT SCHWARZ."

Seasonal Plans Are Announced By Garden Club

Officers of the Woodstock Garden Club have announced plans for the 1961 season, including the first meeting on Wednesday, May 3, at 2 p. m. at the Overlook Methodist Church hall. At that time members will hear a talk on the New York Federation of Garden Clubs.

At the June meeting, John Swenson will talk on horticulture. In July there will be a Garden Tour to Sterling Forest Gardens at Tuxedo.

Miss Therese Kessel will review recent garden books at the August meeting and in September, Mrs. Joan Bennett, landscape designer, will present a lecture, "Plan Before You Plant."

At the final meeting in October, Mrs. Charles Sheldon will talk on Japanese Gardens, illustrating her talk with slides of her recent trip to Japan.

Area residents who are interested in joining the club should indicate to the membership chairman, Mrs. S. Brainerd West.

Official Visit By Mrs. Yakin to Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. Anna Yakin, District Deputy President of Ulster District No. 1, made her official visit to the Agapae Rebekah Lodge No. 623 Wednesday at the Bearsville Lodge Hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Weichelt, Noble Grand, presided. Mrs. Yakin was accompanied by members of her official staff.

New committees were appointed by Mrs. Weichelt as follows: Refreshment committee for month of May—Mrs. Louise Tackella, Mrs. Margaret Dircks and Mrs. Theresa Elmer; Sunshine committee for months of May and June—Woodstock and Zena, Miss Florence Peper; Kingston, West Hurley and Hurley, Mrs. Claudia Haynes; Bearsville and Wittenberg, Mrs. Merrill Reynolds; Shady, Lake Hill and Willow, Mrs. Elizabeth MacDaniel.

After the meeting closed, refreshments were served by Mrs. Walenah Cashdollar, Mrs. Theresa Grazier and Mrs. Louise Tackella, who was subbing for Elsie Ertz.

Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Past Noble Grands Association of Ulster District will be held on Saturday, April 29, at Queen of the Catskill Mt. Rebekah Lodge, West Saugerties. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m., with the meeting to follow.

Legion Auxiliary

Regular meeting of Woodstock American Legion Auxiliary 1026 will be held Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. at the American Legion hall.

Women's League Urges Support Of Latin Aid

The Woodstock League of Women Voters urged today that all interested members of the community write their senators in support of the 600 million Latin American aid program currently before Congress. This program, requested by President Kennedy for economic improvements in Latin America, has been voted through by the House Appropriations Committee. It is now before the House, which is expected to pass this quickly, after which the bill will go to the Senate.

According to Miss Florence Hubbard, who is the new chairman of the League's Economic Diplomacy study group, this money is to be used as part of a long-range ten-year plan for the economic and social development of the Americas. This is not intended as a stop-gap program to meet the current Cuban crisis, but rather it is part of the "Inter-American Fund for Social Progress." This plan originated in the Organization of American States and is a dramatic joint effort by North and South American nations to help our Latin American neighbors better the living conditions of millions of their peoples.

Since the plan's inception in September of 1960, these people have been waiting to see if our country would actually support this idea, or if we would once again turn our backs on their sufferings. This is a crucial time in our relations with these countries and all members of the League urge everyone to write to Senator Jacob K. Javits and Senator Kenneth B. Keating, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C., asking their support of this bill for aid to Latin American countries.

Reformed Church News and Notes

The Adult Study Class of the Woodstock Reformed Church meets Thursday at 7 p. m. in the Annex. The topic will be "The Life of John Calvin."

Catechism for young people, 13 years of age and older, is scheduled in Room 7, of the Annex, on Saturday, April 29, at 11 a. m.

Sunday School meets Sunday morning at 9:30 a. m. The class for adults, taught by the Rev. Wayne C. Olson, meets in the sanctuary. Morning worship, Sunday, April 30, at 11 a. m. The sermon title for Pastor Olson is "A Christian Greeting." The Senior choir will sing. Visitors are welcome to the service. Nursery accommodations are available in the Annex.

Consistory meets in stated session, Tuesday, May 2, at 8 p. m. in the Annex. Plans for a congregation work-party on May 20, will be made and reports will be heard from the Christian Education, Worship and Service, Church Home and Stewardship committees.

Republican Club To Hear Corwin

David Corwin of New Paltz, who was recently appointed District Attorney of Ulster County by Gov. Rockefeller, will speak at the monthly meeting of the Woodstock Republican Club, Thursday, April 27, at 8 p. m. at Deanie's.

Corwin was named by the governor to fill the unexpired term of Raymond J. Mino, who was recently elevated to the position of County Judge.

The new district attorney is well known in the Mid-Hudson region. He was graduated from Union College in 1933 and from Albany Law School in 1936. On graduation he was admitted to the bar and joined John N. Vanderlyn of New Paltz in the general practice of law.

He was President of the Board of Education of New Paltz for five years during the 1940's. His long experience in legal matters in this region causes him to speak with considerable authority on the legal administration of county and state matters.

• BRIDGE

New Idea in Bridge Score

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Leonard Greene of White Plains has come up with a new idea for rubber bridge. All regular rules are followed except that after each hand the side with fewer high card points is awarded 50 points for each high card point less than 20.

Today's hand would prove quite a bonanza for East and West under Mr. Greene's system. Not only would they collect 100 points for setting South one trick, but 350 more because they only held 13 high card points between them.

Of course, the hand should not have been set and in fact many of you readers will wonder how South did manage to go down.

This is what happened. He won the heart opening in dummy; led the jack of diamonds and let it ride. West played low without batting an eyelash and South tried a second diamond finesse.

West took his queen this time and cleared his hearts. Later on all West had to do was to duck one club and South wound up with only eight tricks.

West's deceptive play worked. Had it not, it should ony have cost him an extra trick or two. After the jack of diamonds held South should have won the next diamond lead with his king. If East held the queen that diamond finesse would still keep and there was a sure entry to dummy.

In that case, West's deception would have led to a couple of overtricks for South.

"Provide what is necessary —eliminate the frills"

Oh, Granny, what a deep voice you have!

Once in a while your finger may slip when you make a long distance call. You find yourself talking to a gravel-voiced stranger in Duluth instead of a sweet grandmother in Peoria. Please don't go away mad. Just call the operator. Tell her, if you can, the name of the town you did speak to as well as the number you want. She'll see that you don't pay for the wrong number and help you get the right one.

Mercury Fizzle May Not Delay Astronaut Ride

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The fiery explosion of an Atlas missile carrying an unmanned Project Mercury capsule has dealt a damaging blow to America's effort to orbit a man this year.

However, it is not expected to delay an attempt to rocket an astronaut into space on a brief up-and-down ride next week.

The Atlas erupted into a blazing trail of fire 40 seconds after it lifted off Tuesday to try to hurl the capsule into a single orbit around the earth.

A rocket escape system sensed trouble with the missile and jerked the spacecraft free three seconds before the explosion. The capsule parachuted safely into the Atlantic Ocean about 350 yards off the cape. A helicopter retrieved the undamaged vehicle.

If the escape system had failed, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would have called off a plan to send an astronaut aloft on a suborbital space trip next Tuesday.

A smaller Redstone rocket will be used on this flight, which is to boost the manned capsule 115 miles into space and drop him 300 miles down range 16 minutes later.

Mercury Fizzle May Not Delay Astronaut Ride

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The fiery explosion of an Atlas missile carrying an unmanned Project Mercury capsule has dealt a damaging blow to America's effort to orbit a man this year.

However, it is not expected to delay an attempt to rocket an astronaut into space on a brief up-and-down ride next week.

The Atlas erupted into a blazing trail of fire 40 seconds after it lifted off Tuesday to try to hurl the capsule into a single orbit around the earth.

A rocket escape system sensed trouble with the missile and jerked the spacecraft free three seconds before the explosion. The capsule parachuted safely into the Atlantic Ocean about 350 yards off the cape. A helicopter retrieved the undamaged vehicle.

If the escape system had failed, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration would have called off a plan to send an astronaut aloft on a suborbital space trip next Tuesday.

A smaller Redstone rocket will be used on this flight, which is to boost the manned capsule 115 miles into space and drop him 300 miles down range 16 minutes later.

Jitters Over Bid Rigging

GE Meets, in Mood To Mend Reputation

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The reputation of a business—or business in general—can be a fragile thing. And General Electric officials and stockholders assembled here today are tackling this problem: How can a damaged reputation be mended?

They all know there has been damage aplenty. And so do a multitude of other business executives. Their employes and their stockholders have had varying degrees of jitters ever since GE and 28 other makers of electrical equipment ran afoul of the anti-trust laws.

3 GE Men Jailed

In February, they were fined nearly $2 million after pleading guilty or no contest to charges of price fixing and bid rigging.

Seven officials, three of them GE men, went to jail for 30 days.

The public also is looking over the shoulder of GE executives and stockholders today.

In some quarters, the entire business community's code of ethics has been questioned. Some say that the United States vaunted system of capitalistic and competitive enterprise has been put in a bad light before the world.

The problem is being tackled here in typical American fashion.

The stockholders are meeting, openly asking an accounting, and then voting on the re-election of the 16 directors.

The GE chairman and president, Ralph J. Cordiner, says the way to mend the company's reputation is to admit the past faults and tighten up regulations and inspections to see that it doesn't happen again.

Wider Implications

His critics include James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, who is demanding a vote of censure, without any hope of getting it.

The free-for-all taking place here at the annual meeting of the GE shareowners has wider implications.

The public has been asking: How could such a widespread law violation go over a period of years?

Those admitting they were in the price-fixing conspiracy apparently accepted it as a way of corporate life. Some of the men who pleaded guilty said that was how one behaved if he wanted to get ahead, or even hold his own, in a big company.

Some GE stockholders are taking a down-to-earth stand. They are worried about what will happen to company sales, if the furor about past practices isn't silenced.

Others are worried about what will happen to GE's financial future as a result of damage suits growing out of the antitrust sentences.

And the business community in general is worried because some critics have used the case to attack all business standards, to discredit business politically, to talk of punitive laws and more government regulation.

GEORGE FRECHETTE

IBM Engineer Selected for Study Program

George A. Frechette, of Fairmont Avenue, has been selected as a participant in the IBM advanced study program.

Frechette is currently an associate engineer at the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center engineering laboratory at Kingston. He will enter Syracuse University to begin advanced study in electrical engineering.

The program, which was created in October, 1959, provides for advanced study by selected IBM employes.

Candidates for the program were chosen for the awards on the basis of their college records and screening examinations administered last fall. Other factors considered were work performance and technical contributions to the company. Personal interviews completed the process.

Frechette joined IBM in mid-1959 in component engineering at the Command Control Center, a post he has held until his present appointment.

He is a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers and received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Notre Dame.

He and his wife, Patricia, will reside in the Syracuse area.

Sulzberger Quits As Publisher of New York Times

NEW YORK (AP) —Arthur Hays Sulzberger, 69, has stepped down as publisher of The New York Times. Elected to succeed him was Orvil E. Dryfoos, 48, his son-in-law and president of the newspaper.

Sulzberger, who will continue as chairman of the board, announced the changes Tuesday. He had been publisher of the Times since 1935.

He also announced the retirement of Charles Merz, since 1938 editor in charge of the Times editorial page. John B. Oakes, a member of the editorial board, succeeds Merz.

Another Lawford Due

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Peter Lawford and his wife, Patricia, say they are expecting their fourth child in June.

Mrs. Lawford, a sister of President Kennedy, and her husband celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary Monday. They have two boys and a girl.

Ex-Maharaja Dies

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The former Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir, Sir Hari Singh, 66, died in Bombay today.

Bias Voted Out By Cornell Group

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — A student group at Cornell has voted to end discrimination by all student organizations, including fraternities, by Sept. 30, 1963.

The resolution adopted by the Student Government Executive Board Tuesday night is subject to approval of the university faculty and trustees before it can become university policy.

A Cornell spokesman said both bodies were expected to back the resolution.

He said the university could, under the resolution, force a local fraternity chapter to break its national ties if the national body refused to comply with the Cornell directive against discrimination on the ground of race, religion or national origin.

The student executive board, top student government group at Cornell, also recommended establishment of a commission of discrimination, with power to investigate complaints and impose sanctions against offenders.

The proposed commission would be made up of students and faculty members, with only students voting.

Troopers Probing Woodstock Break

Kingston state police are investigating a break last Sunday night at Woodstock Lanes in that village, it was reported today.

The local barracks received a complaint last night that the building, which houses bowling alleys, was entered some time Sunday night or Monday morning and 425 packages of cigarettes stolen for a cigarette machine.

Sgt. A. F. Matuljak said the soft drink machine was damaged but nothing stolen from it.

Proprietor of Woodstock Lanes is Fred Allen. Investigators Edward Shannon and Charles Teelon of the BCI are invesgiating.

Boy, 16, Drowns

PHOENIX, N. Y. (AP) — Paul Delaney, 16, was drowned Tuesday night after he fell into the Oswego River as his brothers watched.

The brothers, David, 13, and Reginald, 15, had been in a rowboat towing a raft on which Delaney was riding. The brothers summoned help after they were unable to reach Paul. Paul was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Delaney of Phoenix.

$750,000 Suit Now At Summation Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—A widow's $750,000 damage suit against the New Haven Railroad reached the defense and prosecution summation stage today.

Both sides rested their cases Tuesday before Judge Thomas F. Murphy and a jury in Federal Court.

Mrs. Mildred E. Shepard, mother of two, a resident of Montgomery, N. Y., is suing for the death of her husband, Byron C. Shepard Jr., 37, a railroad fireman.

Shepard was shot fatally by Harry R. Hender, 39, a New Haven Railroad freight conductor, in a railroad yard in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5, 1957.

The widow contends the railroad was negligent in rehiring Hender while knowing that he had a history of mental disturbance and was "an inherently dangerous person."

McHugh Praises Fiscal Soundness Of Rocky's Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—State Commerce Commissioner Keith S. McHugh said today that Gov. Rockefeller's administration has achieved "complete restoration of fiscal soundness of the state itself."

McHugh called this the "most dramatic and important action" taken since the Republican administration took over more than two years ago.

He discussed the state's financial situation in a speech prepared for the 68th annual meeting of the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York.

"Once large-scale national economic expansion is in full swing," he said, "our state should get more than its normal share of the national growth."

Jitters Over Bid Rigging

GE Meets, in Mood To Mend Reputation

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The reputation of a business—or business in general—can be a fragile thing. And General Electric officials and stockholders assembled here today are tackling this problem: How can a damaged reputation be mended?

They all know there has been damage aplenty. And so do a multitude of other business executives. Their employes and their stockholders have had varying degrees of jitters ever since GE and 28 other makers of electrical equipment ran afoul of the antitrust laws.

3 GE Men Jailed

In February, they were fined nearly $2 million after pleading guilty or no contest to charges of price fixing and bid rigging.

Seven officials, three of them GE men, went to jail for 30 days.

The public also is looking over the shoulder of GE executives and stockholders today.

In some quarters, the entire business community's code of ethics has been questioned. Some say that the United States vaunted system of capitalistic and competitive enterprise has been put in a bad light before the world.

The problem is being tackled here in typical American fashion.

The stockholders are meeting, openly asking an accounting, and then voting on the re-election of the 16 directors.

The GE chairman and president, Ralph J. Cordiner, says the way to mend the company's reputation is to admit the past faults and tighten up regulations and inspections to see that it doesn't happen again.

Wider Implications

His critics include James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, who is demanding a vote of censure, without any hope of getting it.

The free-for-all taking place here at the annual meeting of the GE shareowners has wider implications.

The public has been asking: How could such a widespread law violation go over a period of years?

Those admitting they were in the price-fixing conspiracy apparently accepted it as a way of corporate life. Some of the men who pleaded guilty said that was how one behaved if he wanted to get ahead, or even hold his own, in a big company.

Some GE stockholders are taking a down-to-earth stand. They are worried about what will happen to company sales, if the furor about past practices isn't silenced.

Others are worried about what will happen to GE's financial future as a result of damage suits growing out of the antitrust sentences.

And the business community in general is worried because some critics have used the case to attack all business standards, to discredit business politically, to talk of punitive laws and more government regulation.

GEORGE FRECHETTE

IBM Engineer Selected for Study Program

George A. Frechette, of Fairmont Avenue, has been selected as a participant in the IBM advanced study program.

Frechette is currently an associate engineer at the IBM Federal Systems Division Command Control Center engineering laboratory at Kingston. He will enter Syracuse University to begin advanced study in electrical engineering.

The program, which was created in October, 1959, provides for advanced study by selected IBM employes.

Candidates for the program were chosen for the awards on the basis of their college records and screening examinations administered last fall. Other factors considered were work performance and technical contributions to the company. Personal interviews completed the process.

Frechette joined IBM in mid-1959 in component engineering at the Command Control Center, a post he has held until his present appointment.

He is a member of the Institute of Radio Engineers and received a bachelor of science degree in electrical engineering from the University of Notre Dame.

He and his wife, Patricia, will reside in the Syracuse area.

Sulzberger Quits As Publisher of New York Times

NEW YORK (AP) —Arthur Hays Sulzberger, 69, has stepped down as publisher of The New York Times. Elected to succeed him was Orvil E. Dryfoos, 48, his son-in-law and president of the newspaper.

Sulzberger, who will continue as chairman of the board, announced the changes Tuesday. He had been publisher of the Times since 1935.

He also announced the retirement of Charles Merz, since 1938 editor in charge of the Times editorial page. John B. Oakes, a member of the editorial board, succeeds Merz.

Another Lawford Due

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Peter Lawford and his wife, Patricia, say they are expecting their fourth child in June.

Mrs. Lawford, a sister of President Kennedy, and her husband celebrated their seventh wedding anniversary Monday. They have two boys and a girl.

Ex-Maharaja Dies

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The former Maharaja of Jammu and Kashmir, Sir Hari Singh, 66, died in Bombay today.

Bias Voted Out By Cornell Group

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — A student group at Cornell has voted to end discrimination by all student organizations, including fraternities, by Sept. 30, 1963.

The resolution adopted by the Student Government Executive Board Tuesday night is subject to approval of the university faculty and trustees before it can become university policy.

A Cornell spokesman said both bodies were expected to back the resolution.

He said the university could, under the resolution, force a local fraternity chapter to break its national ties if the national body refused to comply with the Cornell directive against discrimination on the ground of race, religion or national origin.

The student executive board, top student government group at Cornell, also recommended establishment of a commission of discrimination, with power to investigate complaints and impose sanctions against offenders.

The proposed commission would be made up of students and faculty members, with only students voting.

Troopers Probing Woodstock Break

Kingston state police are investigating a break last Sunday night at Woodstock Lanes in that village, it was reported today.

The local barracks received a complaint last night that the building, which houses bowling alleys, was entered some time Sunday night or Monday morning and 425 packages of cigarettes stolen for a cigarette machine.

Sgt. A. F. Matuljak said the soft drink machine was damaged but nothing stolen from it.

Proprietor of Woodstock Lanes is Fred Allen. Investigators Edward Shannon and Charles Teelon of the BCI are investgiating.

Boy, 16, Drowns

PHOENIX, N. Y. (AP) — Paul Delaney, 16, was drowned Tuesday night after he fell into the Oswego River as his brothers watched.

The brothers, David, 13, and Reginald, 15, had been in a rowboat towing a raft on which Delaney was riding. The brothers summoned help after they were unable to reach Paul. Paul was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Delaney of Phoenix.

$750,000 Suit Now At Summation Stage

NEW YORK (AP)—A widow's $750,000 damage suit against the New Haven Railroad reached the defense and prosecution summation stage today.

Both sides rested their cases Tuesday before Judge Thomas F. Murphy and a jury in Federal Court.

Mrs. Mildred E. Shepard, mother of two, a resident of Montgomery, N. Y., is suing for the death of her husband, Byron C. Shepard Jr., 37, a railroad fireman.

Shepard was shot fatally by Harry R. Hender, 39, a New Haven Railroad freight conductor, in a railroad yard in New Haven, Conn., Nov. 5, 1957.

The widow contends the railroad was negligent in rehiring Hender while knowing that he had a history of mental disturbance and was "an inherently dangerous person."
